TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8.

The Minister's Confession of Corruption.
It must have been rather humiliating for the Premier (James Hamilton) to be made the subject of a public confession of corruption in the House of Commons.

John. Men who were speaking their defence of the Railway changes were at the same time writing the most pitiful appeals to the Premier. "For Heaven's sake don't put us in the humiliating position of having to admit that Sir John's treatment of our affairs was more just and satisfactory than yours."

It is very interesting to see that among the consistent supporters and local promoters of the railway management Mr. Mackenzie, who was at the same time on the list of those who were to be made the subject of a public confession of corruption in the House of Commons.

you're so ugly, and it's quite evident you're not a child of the "covenant." These grave bodies of people met in council to inspect your little "Republicity." The St. John Board of Trade doctors said it was evidently deformed and they could not take it in: but West.

Mr. John H. Harding, of the Marine and Fisheries Department, is at present superintending quite extensive repairs on the Beacon in the harbor. The various storms this structure has had to stand have caused it to be in a very bad way.

At Hamilton they tore every rag of the child's back, and London they spat it roughly and had it sent back to the "Globe Hospital." Here one of the students, thinking to please the old chap, repeated the statement, "It's the very image of his father, isn't it, Dr. Symonds?" City Police Court.
John White was charged with being drunk in an alley near the street. His quickly confessed the offence and was fined.

John McKenzie and John Graham were called upon to answer a serious charge. They both entered the room together and the contest was marked. McKenzie is a great strapping fellow, who was formerly on the Police force, but was discharged for drunkenness. Graham is a short, thick set fellow, a hardy looking chap, and the victor of a British soldier.
