Ottawa, December 31, 1919

My dear Graham:

I have just received your two letters of December 27 and 30 respectively.

I am glad you are safely back in Canada again. I share with the utmost sympathy the feelings which you have experienced as a consequence of your visit to France. You know, I am sure, how deeply I feel for both Mrs. Graham and yourself in all of loss and sacrifice you have sustained. May the New Year bring a new brightness into your skies.

I am sorry you cannot be at the North York Banquet, as I am sure all our friends will share with me a sense of loss in your absence. It is very kind of you to write the President, and you may be sure he will require no suggestion to cause him to read your letter.
