and orientation is unknown. Edwin Mitchell stated that the skeletons were about 8 feet apart and were flexed on the side. The nearly-formed wisdom teeth of one were not erupted. Dr. Dewar, of Bright, secured a fagment of a skull and Mr. Mitchell some other bones.

No. 3. On "Poverty Hill," on the lower half of lot 2, concession V, about 105 feet north of the concession line, I found the parietal of a skull protruding from a little wind blown hollow in the sand. About 10 feet of sand has been blown from above the skeleton, but most of this may have drifted over the original burial and, after the surface was disturbed by cultivation, again been blown away. William Mann, who lives about a fourth of a mile west of "Poverty Hill," says that when his father settled there he could not see the barn on Anthony Smith's farm to the east of the hill, although it was as high, or higher, than Mr. Mann's house; so the hill must have been at least 12 or more feet high in order to obscure the barn. The skeleton was found flexed and on its left side with head north and hands on the right cheek. Most of the ribs, some of the dorsal vertebræ, all the lumbar vertebræ, the pelvis, the upper ends of the femora, and the lower ends of the tibiæ were missing. The missing bones may have decayed, although the bones of the feet, which were on the same level, were intact. The tibiæ and th. of the feet were only about 6 inches below the suri-"issing bones or other burials were not found although tv. or us dug here for several hours.

No. 4. On the hills to the south of this, in the next concession, there are a number of hollows possibly indicating graves. This burial ground is said to extend on to the old Murray farm, lot 3, concession IV, and on the farm of William Smith just east of the Murray place, lot 2, concession IV, a skeleton was unearthed from near the surface about 1896. Mr. Smith's employe found it. Further data were up by bairable.

No. 5. Several burials were found before 1876 on the old Hersee farm, lot 3, concession III, near the "Indian Spring."
