

Isaac

Give me the quiet prince of priestly mien,
Responsive soul who gives vibrating touch;
And clasps in chains of prayer the heavens and earth,
Adding completeness to departing day.

Unfolding thoughts go out to farthest reach,
And lifted hands reveal a bosom bare,
When lo! a drove of camels heaves in sight,
And Sarah's tent bids welcome to the bride.