

The Council
its Thirty-Ninth

Early in the year, our exertions so much were unfortunately interrupted by the President being called to the vacant position held during the year. The fifty read at the Seventeenth that was again largely attended. The character of the year, and the average attendance, is also satisfactory. The members who were conversazione, there was an excellent example of attendance of the society, and has been indebted for his services. The Archaeological Institute for the year, account of what we have done. Our exertions have been fully to acknowledge the devotion of the books and pamphlets continued to increase five years ago. The "Time Reckoner" subject, in the education of time-recognition. Washington continued to wait upon the recommendation of hundred copies of schools and colleges. Pamphlet to the effect that it was a pleasure to be forwarded. General of the and to various parts throughout the year were very generally discussed at various times on the invitation were represented