LIVE STOCK

The good prices for cattle that have prevailed during the last few weeks was responsible for the more liberal receipts of this last week, and prices consequently have declined somewhat. The decline was been considered to the stock offered. The stock of first days the stock of the stock of first days the stock of first days the stock of t the stock offered. Mild weather was an other factor in bringing down the price through reducing consumption. Prices still, however, are above an export level.
