

BLATCHFORD'S CALF MEAL

Our BOOKLET plainly tells the story of Blatchford's Calf Meal, with convincing testimonials from some of the 20,000 progressive farmers who have had excellent success with this perfect milk substitute. It costs about half as much as milk. It prevents scouring. It is the oldest and best. It is free from mill feed. It is cooked. The Booklet is FREE. Write for it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Veterinary.

OPACITY OF THE CORNEA.

Dog has a whitish growth over the pupils of both eyes, and he is almost blind. The eyes have been weak and sore since last summer. A young horse is the same way. Did he catch it from the dog?

W. W.

Ans.—It is doubtful if treatment will be successful in either case. It is not contagious, hence the horse did not contract it from the dog. In the horse, it is a constitutional disease, and it is probable he will eventually go totally blind from cataract. The condition is practically the same in both, and requires the same treatment. Take 10 grains of nitrate of silver and dissolve in 2 ounces distilled water, and put a few drops in each eye twice daily.

V.

TUMORS—ECZEMA.

1. Colt has hard, flat lumps on top of his neck, caused by the collar, about three months ago.

2. Colt has itchy skin, and is rubbing the hair off. He is not lousy.

J. A. K.

Ans.—1. These are little, fibrous tumors, and the better treatment is to dissect them out and dress the wounds daily with a five-per-cent. solution of carbolic acid until healed. They can be removed by caustic, as the daily application of butter of antimony, or acetic acid, until they disappear. But an operation, as advised, is much quicker and less trouble.

2. Purge with 6 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger. Follow up with 1 ounce Fowler's solution of arsenic twice daily for a week. Make a solution of corrosive sublimate, 20 grains to a pint of water, and dress the parts twice daily with it.

V.

FARDELBOUND, ETC.

1. Cow has been sick for a month. My veterinarian says it is impaction of the third stomach. Give cause and cure.

2. Give proper food for laying geese, and the care of them and their goslings.

3. Are black teeth harmful in pigs?

4. Have the O. A. College advertised seeds for experimenting on this spring?

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—1. Impaction of the third stomach, or "fardelbound," is caused by eating dry, indigestible food. Treatment is often unsuccessful. It consists in giving a purgative of 2 lbs. Epsom salts, 1 ounce aloes and 1 ounce ginger, and giving 2 drams nux vomica three times daily. In twenty-four hours after giving the purgative, if necessary, give 1 pint raw linseed oil, and 1 pint black molasses, and repeat every twelve hours as long as necessary. If she will not eat a little soft food after the second day, drench with boiled flaxseed.

2. A poultry man can answer this question.

3. This is purely an imaginary trouble in pigs.

4. Write Prof. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. C., Guelph, for information on this subject.

One day there was received at a bureau of the Department of Agriculture at Washington a communication, addressed to it by an Indiana farmer, and which read as follows:

"I want an agricultural report on being in the farm business. I order git it."

The chief in charge of the bureau, a man of great courtesy in his correspondence, dictated a letter to the Indiana man stating that the Department would be most happy to comply with his request, but that it was necessary that he be informed somewhat more specifically which of its numerous reports was wanted. Would Mr. Blank be kind enough to mention the date, or, at least, the subject of the document in question?

The farmer answered promptly and succinctly in this wise:

"I don't care what the book is about, or when it was wrote. I want it for a scrapbook."

"What is the most important thing about handling a sail boat?" The old salt looked the novice over thoughtfully, and then replied: "Knowing how to swim."
