

Obituary

THOMAS H. WALLIS.

Thomas H. Wallis, a native of this city, passed away some days ago at Niagara Falls, N.Y. He was the son of the late Charles Wallis and left this city about 30 years ago to engage in the drug business at Niagara Falls, where he soon became one of that city's best known business men and citizens. The following account of his demise was copy from The Niagara Falls Gazette.

Thomas H. Wallis, died shortly after 8 o'clock this morning in Memorial hospital following an illness of two months. He had been in business in Third street as a druggist for 30 years and was well known throughout the city. The announcement of his death, coming as it does just eleven months after the death of his son, Arthur Wallis, will be deeply deplored.

Mr. Wallis was 59 years old. He was born in Belleville, Ont., and after coming to the United States settled in Buffalo. He remained in Buffalo for two years and then came to this city and opened a drug store in Third street. He conducted the store until he became ill. By fair dealing and because of his likable personality Mr. Wallis built up a large trade. In his early manhood, Mr. Wallis was an athlete and won trophies on the cinder path.

Mr. Wallis' relatives say his death was due to diabetes and gangrene which developed from a small sore on his left foot. A part of his left leg was amputated at the hospital several days ago. Following the amputation Mr. Wallis rallied and it was thought that he would recover but his condition rapidly became more serious resulting in his death this morning.

Mr. Wallis was prominent in Masonic circles in the city. He was a member of Niagara Frontier lodge, No. 132, Niagara chapter, R. A. M., Niagara Commandery, No. 64, Knights Templar and the Blue lodge of this city, and Ishmalia temple of Buffalo. He leaves a widow, a daughter-in-law of this city and three sisters and one brother of Belleville, Ont.

The Final Tribute

Out of respect to the memory of Thomas H. Wallis, veteran Third street businessman, many of his associates whose places of business are in close proximity to his drug store in Third street closed their stores and offices for a brief period while the funeral service for Mr. Wallis were being conducted at his home, No. 361 Third street, this afternoon. The action was an unusual and impressive tribute to the druggist's memory.

The Rev. P. W. Mosher of St. Peter's church conducted the services at the house. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives of Mr. Wallis. The service at the grave was in charge of the Masons. Delegations were present from the Knights Templar and other Masonic bodies.

The bearers were Dr. Walter A. Scott, H. W. Kellogg, Maxwell M. Thompson, A. M. Thomas, W. J. Hart and Frank Butler. Burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

Editorial Appreciation.

The following editorial appreciation of Mr. Wallis appeared in the same issue of The Gazette.

Thomas H. Wallis, for years in business in Third street as a druggist, passed out early this morning. Heroic efforts by those skilled in the medical and surgical profession, and the most tender and loving care of dear ones were unavailing. Though he had been ailing for some little time, the malady which claimed him as a victim assumed an acute form only about a week ago.

Thomas H. Wallis was an unostentatious man, yet beloved by many for he possessed those kindly, sympathetic qualities and fine traits of character that compel admiration and create enduring friendships. One of the noble virtues he possessed, in unusual degree, was his love of home and family. When his only son passed away about a year ago a great void was created in his life which could never be filled, and the great sorrow that gripped his heart in the loss he sustained may have had much to do with the circumstances of his final dissolution.

The death of Thomas H. Wallis is the latest affliction in a series of tragedies that have darkened that home in recent months. The deplorable accident to Mrs. Wallis, the widow, which shattered her health, was the first in the train of untoward events. Then came the death of the only son, worshipped because of his true worth and filial affections. Other family distresses and afflictions added their burden of woe, and now comes this last and chief sorrow to further bow the heads and crush the spirits of those that are left to grieve and lament.

The city at large will feel a deep sympathy for those so afflicted and friends will endeavor to comfort, but only time can mellow the deep sorrow that is felt by them today—blessed time, that softens the poignant of first great griefs and changes them to hallowed memories which as guide and benedictions, serve to bear us up through the long and lonesome years ere the final happy reunion in the world beyond.

A couple of transformers on Forsyth street burned out on Tuesday evening leaving the business place of Donnelly's and Marrett & Co's south in darkness. The improvement in the other lights in town was surprising and they could hardly have been brighter. It is another evidence of the fact that the present generator is overloaded, as a result to quite an extent of consumers using 60 and 100 Watt lamps, while only paying for 25 Watt lamps. With meters each one will pay for just what they use. The saving would likely make the lights as good all the time as they were on Tuesday night. — Marmora Herald

LEAVENS — LIDSTER.

The Methodist parsonage was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday afternoon when Miss Fannie Lidster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lidster of Gilead, was united in marriage to Mr. Guy Leavens, also of Gilead. One ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Howard. The bride was gowned in a pretty navy suit with hat to match. On going to and coming from the parsonage she wore a handsome set of black fox furs, the gift of the groom. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Leavens left for the residence of the latter's parents, where the wedding supper was served. Their departure from Stirling was marked by the revival of an ancient English custom, wheat being thrown upon the head of the bride as a happy omen of abundance in all good things.

In the evening the bridegroom and bride motored to Belleville where they took the train for Kingston and Montreal. — Stirling News Argus.

HETHERINGTON — ROBERTS

On December 10th a very pretty wedding was solemnized in the Presbyterian church at Foxboro at half noon, when Miss Bessie Henretta, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hetherington, was united in marriage to Mr. Frederick Nelson Roberts, Foots Bay, Ont. The bride looked very pretty as she entered the church leaning on her father's arm, to the Wedding March played by Miss Eva Shorey of Belleville, assisted by Mr. Murney Hick, Belleville. Rev. Mr. Kerr, D.D., L.L.D., of St. Andrew's Church, Belleville, officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Ada Roberts, sister of the groom, while Mr. Edgar Gunter, of Coe Hill, cousin of the bride, assisted the groom. Miss Blanche King of Harriston, and Miss Muriel Hetherington, nieces of the bride, were flower-girls, each carrying a basket of smilax and pansies, of which one basket contained the ring. Miss Jean and Miss Mildred Shorey, Miss Luella Gould and Miss Tena Watt took the place of ushers.

The bride was dressed in a tailored suit of navy blue with hat to match and white fox furs. She carried a bouquet of ferns and orchard roses. The bridesmaid wore a brown suit and hat to match, carrying a bouquet of roses. The church was well filled with guests and spectators. After the ceremony was over while the register was being signed, Miss Shorey played "Till We Meet Again." The guests repaired to the home of the bride's parents, Station street, where a sumptuous buffet luncheon was served, the dining room being reserved for the bridal party and prettily decorated with white streamers and white chrysanthemums and roses with a large white bell.

Those at lunch were Mr. and Mrs. J. Robinson and two daughters Helen and Kathleen, Napanee; Mr. Bert Rutherford, Napanee; Mr. and Mrs. Murney Hamilton, Thomasburg; Mr. and Mrs. George McCoy, Miss Mary and Master Willie, Wellington; Mr. and Mrs. T. Walt, Foxboro; Miss Tena and Mr. Herb. Watt, Miss M. Miller and Mrs. McFarlane, Foxboro; Mr. D. Wicket, Mrs. W. Bird, Mr. Clayton Hamilton and Mr. George McCullough, Foxboro; Mr. Lee Shorey and Mrs. C. Shorey and four daughters, Irene, Mildred, Jean and Betty, Belleville; Mrs. Kilpatrick and daughter, Grace Daley, Foxboro; Mrs. A. Demorest, Toronto; Mrs. P. H. King, Miss Blanche and Master Douglas Haig, Harriston; Mrs. J. J. Elder and four sons, Jack, Wilfred, Clyde and Gordon, Kirkfield; Miss Luella Gould, Sulphide.

The many and costly gifts showed the esteem the bride was held in among the gifts was a very pretty casserole and gold plated fork, given by the Presbyterian church, of which the bride was once a choir girl. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts motored to Belleville, stopping at the Quinte Hotel, and left on the 11th for Galt, London and other places and arriving at Foots Bay on Dec. 23rd, where a large reception awaits them. Mr. and Mrs. Roberts will be at home after Jan. 1st, Foots Bay, Ont.

Among the many other valuable presents the bride received were three handsome pieces of cut glass from the staff of the Elliot store, where for six years she was an efficient and valued clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Matthews are widely known and highly esteemed by a large circle of friends whose warmest wishes follow them into their new life. They took the morning train to Belleville and on their return will take up residence in Stirling for winter.—Stirling News-Argus.

There is a little village across the Canadian line north of Malone, which is said to be one of the principal sources of supply for the smugglers. To the casual visitor the town is nothing out of the ordinary. Yet from this town it is said one to half a dozen automobile loads of whiskey depart almost nightly.

The efforts of the revenue officers and sheriffs have been made more difficult by the operations of men who have posed as officials, who confiscated the liquor and then permitted the occupants to drive on. Drivers of cars at night are unable to tell whether the men who confront them in the highway are officers or hold-up men, and the result is that they usually step on the accelerator and make their escape.

The Whiskey Runners Busy

MUCH CONTRABAND LIQUID SMUGGLED ACROSS THE BORDER.

Mysterious Craft Speeding Among Thousand Islands.

Watertown, N. Y., December 13.—Tales of border-running that rival the most thrilling yarns of olden days develop almost daily in northern New York since prohibition made importation of liquor from Canada a profitable business for those willing to take a chance. Barely a night, or day either, that does not produce its episode of strange and powerful motor cars, or mysterious craft speeding through the channels of the Thousand Islands.

The St. Lawrence River, with its famed islands and their maze of lost and winding channels separating the United States from the Dominion of Canada has ever been the source of smuggling stories.

But the stories of the past are weak and tame compared with those that are told these days.

Along the northern border there are guards, sheriffs, deputies and revenue officers. Night and day they are patrolling the border line. Yet hardly a day or night passes that does not bring Canadian whiskey across the line. The officials know it and admit it. Despite their efforts they say they can nab only a small proportion of the number engaged in the traffic. The rewards offered by the thirsty are too high to be ignored by the daring.
