THE COW, THE MOTHER OF PROSPERITY

Valuable Illustrated Treatise on Dairy Farming Being Distributed by the Bank of Montreal

"Where the cow is kept and cared for, civilization advances, lands grow richer, homes grow better, debts grow fewer."

The above is an extract from the preface of a book entitled "The Cow, the Mother of Prosperity," copies of which are being distributed by the Bank of Montreal. This book is probably the best popular treatise on dairy farming which has ever been published. It has been written with a view not only to guiding the farmer in the selection and breeding of the best and most profitable types of dairy cows, but also to guiding him in the care and feeding of dairy cows in every condition of climate and soil throughout the continent of North America. The author, Mr. Ralph A. Hayes, of the Agricultural Extension Department, International Harvester Company, in his foreword, describes the cow as one of the greatest blessings to the human race. "No nation or people," he says, "has become highly civilized without her. She produces the best human food on earth. She makes this health-building, strengthening food from grass and coarse plants. Without her agriculture is not permanent or prosperous, people are not healthy or happy. Wherever the cow has taken her rightful place, and man has done his part we find farms furnishing an income every week of the year. We find homes with conveniences. We find intelligent, thrifty, debt-free people with minds and hearts alert from steady employment. We find a good citizenship, a good agriculture. Truly the cow is the mother of prosperity."

He proceeds to describe typical localities to which the cow would bring prosperity. Then he tells how to select the right kind of cows, describing in detail the good and bad points of cows from head to tail. The breeding, care, and feeding of cows, the best kind of feeds in various localities, the construction of barns, the making of silage, the testing of cows and their milk, methods of milking and the type and care of dairy utensils, the best methods of marketing milk, the care of calves, either for rearing or for the production of veal, the use of manure, the best breeds for varying conditions and the treatment of diseases are all dealt with fully and in plain language that anyone can understand.

A valuable feature of the book is the fact that every point dealt with is illustrated by photographs specially taken for the purpose or by diagrams. Over 250 photographs are reproduced.

The Bank of Montreal is doing a splendid work for farmers by having a special edition of many thousands of this valuable book printed for free distribution throughout farming districts in Canada. We understand that the demand for the book has exceeded all expectations, but that a reserve supply has been secured, so that a limited number is still available free of cost. Application for the book should be made to the local branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Nerves So Bad That She Would Sit and Cry

Mrs. Mary Hocking, Madoc, Ont., writes:—

"Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has done me a wonderful lot of good. I suffered from general weakness and was so run down and my heart and nerves were in such bad shape that I would sit down and cry and not know what I was crying about. I also used to have weak spells. Thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, however, I am real well now. I shall always keep a box of the Nerve Food in the house, and recommend them to my friends; they are a wonderful medicine." (Mr. J. W. Vince, Druggist, of Madoc, Ont., says: "I have sold Mrs. Hocking your Nerve Food, and the medicine has done her much good.")

PRINTING

While it is true that the stamp on your letter is a guarantee of delivery, it falls to the letter itself to determine its final destination—the filing cabinet or the waste basket.

In many cases your written correspondence is your only point of personal contact with your client or your customer, and if through poor appearance or address it fails to convey the importance of your message, it naturally is received with but scant attention. If, on the other hand, your letter has a "crackle" of quality—a clean, dignified appearance—it will command the same respect which would be accorded to you on a personal visit.

To ensure quality which you know will be faultless and therefore above comparison, specify Colonial Bond. Printers everywhere in Canada have it—better still, let us send a sample sheet.

Colonial Bond, all-rag, tub-sized and light-weight. Made by The Roland Paper Company Limited, who have been making high grade papers for over 40 years.

Following in Magellan's Footsteps

Higher civilization has not killed the Spirit of Adventure, it may even be that people now-a-days are affected more by Wanderlust than they ever were, and enhanced facilities for travel with a greater degree of safety have stimulated, and not a little, the desire to see other than their immediate environs. In the old days when Columbus, Vesputi, Balboa, De Soto and Drake, Cartier and Champlain, and other bold mariners sailed into the unknown and its perils on the seven Seas, much courage was needed but today the World is every-man's oyster, nor does it have to be opened with a sword. With a little time and comparatively little money, one can see the places where history was made, far off countries and strange people, and live the white, in comfort.

Four hundred years ago, the first vessel to sail round the world lifted anchor at Seville, and after three years of adventurous hardship, returned to her Spanish port. Only thirty-one of the two hundred and seventy who set out came back, and only the Victoria out of the original Armada of five sailing ships. The spirit of these seafarers is illustrated by the voyage of Fernando Magellan their commander, as he set out from Tierra del Fuego across the Great South Sea, that he would push on if he had to eat the leather of the rigging. Magellan himself was killed in the Philippines, but as he had already reached that longitude on a previous voyage eastward from Spain, he is rightly credited with being the first to circumnavigate the globe.

Sixty years after the Victoria set out from Seville, Francis Drake with a fleet of five sailing ships and 164 men sailed from Plymouth in the Golden Hind, and after a voyage round the world of almost three years, returned with a rich loot of silver and gold, silk, pearls and precious stones, to replenish the coffers of Queen Elizabeth. The Golden Hind was the only vessel of the five to complete the voyage and it became the favourite resort of tourists on the Thames in the days of Shakespeare.

The Golden Hind, originally named the Patience, was a ship of 120 tons, whereas the Empress of Canada, which sets out on a Round the World Cruise from New York on January 30th, 1924, registers no less than 21,500 tons. Instead of three years of privation and hardship, the voyage will occupy four months of luxurious comfort. The route will be shorter, as instead of rounding the Cape of Good Hope the route taken is through the Suez Canal, and instead of traversing the stormy Straits of Magellan, the American continent is finally crossed on the excellent road-bed of the Canadian Pacific Railway. But many of the points touched by Sir Francis Drake and Magellan, will be visited by the Empress of Canada, for instance, Batavia, Sourabaya and the traverse of the Celebes Sea to the Philippines.

The circumnavigators on the Empress of Canada will return laden with the rich experiences and mental treasures gathered from visions of eighteen different countries, and contact with the costumes, crafts and civilisations of fifty different races.

Encouraged by successes of former years, the Canadian Pacific has arranged for four cruises in addition to the Round the World voyage of the Empress of Canada. The Empress of Scotland will visit the cradle of civilization in a trip Round the Mediterranean, sailing from New York on January 14th. The superb Empress of Britain will make two cruises Round the West Indies, leaving New York on January 22nd and February 23rd, and before setting off round the world, the Empress of Canada will travel Round America, sailing from Vancouver on January 4th, visiting the Pacific coast, California, and going via the Panama Canal and Cuba to New York. This vessel will be commanded by Captain S. Robinson R. N. R. who figured so conspicuously in the relief work which followed the recent Japanese disaster.
