

TO BOMBARD THE CITY OF MESSINA

continue the prefect has proclaimed martial law. William H. Bishop, United States consul at Palermo, is thought to have come here before the earthquake. No trace of him has been found. The survivors, estimated to number 20,000, almost all have fled from the city. Nearly every house collapsed. The line of palaces which surround Messina on the seaside are now nothing but ruins. The few walls still standing enclose an immense cemetery. This line of palaces seems as if it had been crushed by gigantic teeth.

The crews of the Russian warships Bogatz and Slava have shown marvellous courage and devotion in the streets of Messina, which is a mass of ruins. One sea thief and roguish plunderer the dead, and who, from time to time, are shot by the British sailors. "As I was disembarking an unfortunate man threw himself into the sea, crying, 'as no one will help me I will kill myself.' He was rescued."

Appreciates Sailors' Work. London, Jan. 2.—The King of Italy has sent to King Edward a telegram expressing his warm thanks for "the noble work of charity" of the officers and sailors of the British warships toward the earthquake sufferers. The Cooke Tourist agency learns from Naples that it is certain that no English or American tourists were injured through the destruction of the Hotel Trinacria and the Hotel Bellevue at Messina.

The Relief Fund Grows. Rome, Jan. 2.—The amount already raised in Italy for the earthquake victims exceeds $200,000. The king gave $40,000, the queen $20,000, the Bank of Naples $40,000 and Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria today sent $18,000. The national relief committee is working night and day under the leadership of the Duke D'Aosta. The committee has received a cable from the French mayor of London the subject of deposits have been opened all the British kingdom.

Graphic Description of Quake. Syracuse, Italy, Jan. 2.—Adelle Carrara, agent of a steamship line at Messina, who arrived here today narrates a graphic story of the escape from the earthquake at Messina. Carrara, like his fellow victims, learned of the earthquake only by being hurled from bed.

"It was frantic with terror," he says. "I awoke my wife, children and servants. The house rocked, but remained erect. We dressed in the darkness amid the blinding dust, while everything heaved about us. We staggered down the stairs, and found the ground which was choked with ruins of the surrounding buildings. The injured were shrieking from the debris from beneath the wreckage. The ground was split everywhere. At daylight we found our way to the harbor, where the tidal wave had hurled water 15 feet above the quay and sending every vessel adrift. The harbor was full of wreckage. Four steamships which had been lying on the quay had floated again, as the great wave receded, and were being held by their anchors. We boarded the British ship Drake. An officer volunteered to help me search for my relatives living in the northern part of Messina. We located my brother's house and after digging for hours with our hands breaking a way through the debris, we rescued my brother, his wife and a child and carried them to a place of safety. Later I found my father, mother and grandmother, washed and dead in the ruins of their homes."

Boiling Water From Chasm. Palermo, Jan. 2.—The station master at Reggio, who has reached here, tells of a remarkable incident of the earthquake's terrific violence at Reggio. He says that immediately after the shock a chasm 80 feet wide was opened in the earth and from it rushed forth a flood of boiling water. Some of the steaming liquid rose as high as the roofs of ordinary houses. Many houses tumbled in this awful chasm and hundreds of people were scalded to death before they could arise from their beds. Others who tried to flee were caught under the downpour and horribly scalded. As the station master ran to a place of safety, he saw pairs of human bodies in the ruins. Frozen men and women strove to free their relatives from the fallen houses. The miserable fugitives, bleeding from many wounds, ran through the streets shrieking and cursing.

Dogs Attack Remains of Victims. The work of the rescuers is being hampered by hordes of starving dogs, who are attacking the remains of the victims. General Mazzitelli has arrived at Reggio and is doing all he can with a force of men to free those who are still alive in the ruins. The dead in Reggio are mutilated and distorted. Their faces are fixed in expressions of infinite terror. Many of the injured cannot live. Hundreds of them are insensible to pain while others cry. A one-eyed man made insane by the loss of his wife and children, started a dance before his ruined home saying that the whole thing was only a dream and that his loved ones were safe.

Survivors at Naples. Naples, Jan. 1.—Wounded survivors of the earthquake brought by Italian warships, under the command of Admiral Cuccia, arrived at Naples yesterday from the gate of the arsenal a procession of injured and dying were carried in cabs, motors, ambulances and beds, some with their wounded faces covered with mud, dust and blood gazing vacantly with uncomprehending eyes on the surrounding crowd. Three men who were mad waved their naked arms in the air. One was shouting and cursing heaven and earth, while another was wailing in a most pitiful manner. Most of the people who assembled to watch the passage of this mournful cortege were dressed in mourning. They came to search among the survivors for relatives and friends.

Students Collect Funds. The Neapolitans in their desire to succor the injured survivors are working splendidly. Bands of students in colored caps are making house to house collections for relief funds and owners of motors are lending their vehicles for the transportation of the wounded. Another ship has just come in and I witnessed a procession of motors with beds on them held by the young aristocrats of Naples, who were lavish in their attention on the injured, giving them brandy and comforting them in every possible way. Many of the women and small children bear the traces of the suffering. Their injuries seem to be mainly from the face and head. It is curious to see how the fixed expression of intense horror on their faces renounces any sense of self. None of this pitiable collection of maimed humanity has a hat, except for two little boys in sailor suits, who are lying on a mattress locked in each other's arms. Many of the children who reached here have no parents or relatives alive. They are now sheltered and fed by the British warships, but surely they will soon find protectors. The hotels have lent their courtyards for the transportation of the less seriously injured and have given them beds. The heroic Russian sailors, however, many were wildly cheered by the crowd.

U.S. is in Quandary. Washington, Jan. 1.—The question of whether to send the battleship fleet to Messina and to the waters of the earthquake region is proving an embarrassing one to the President. The Secretary of State and the Secretary of the Navy. Unless it is pretty clearly shown that much good can be done, it will probably not be done. Recollection of the Sweetenham incident at Kingston, makes the officials unwilling to send the vessels until positively assured they are welcome. A further important factor is that there might be grave danger to the fleet to send it into waters uncharted since the recent upheaval. The prospect that another seismic disturbance may come at any time. It is not unlikely that any ships sent to Messina will be confined to supply ships largely, and perhaps entirely.

BATHES IN REAL FLAMES. A Boston Man Myself and Startles Some Learned Scientists.

Boston, Dec. 31.—Fred E. Fokett, a young machinist, has attracted the attention of Prof. James of Harvard, and other leading members of the American Society of Psychological Research. The first tests were held at the home of Prescott P. Hall. Prof. William James and several well-known psychologists were present. Fokett was seated in the center of a room before a small table.

On the table was an ordinary kerosene lamp with a chimney and a flat wick. The first test was made with ordinary sulphur matches. Fokett lighted half a dozen and then held them close to the fingers of the other hand that the flames curled around them. He then held his hand above the wick, while the flames curled over them and the seat completely blackened them. He poured a quart of alcohol into a basin, lighted it and then washed his hands, bathing them for nearly 10 minutes. He then held his hand above the wick, while the flames curled over them and the seat completely blackened them. TO REFORM JOSIE CARR. She Has Been Bought to Nunery at Dayland.

Kingston, Dec. 31.—Josephine Carr, the young Toronto girl who was quietly released from the penitentiary here last week, was taken by nuns to reside with them in Dayland, Alberta. This is the girl whose murder of the baby she stole from a Yonge street shop entrance stirred Canada several years ago. She has developed in an attractive girl of sixteen and is said to be quite reformed. The trial judge sentenced her to the penitentiary for an indefinite period, on the condition that she be kept in charge until it was safe for her to be at large again. The Minister of Justice agreed to her removal, provided the nuns asked for her would keep her in charge. It is understood she will take the veil when she becomes older. Her removal was kept a secret and took place at night, but the information leaked out.

PREMIUMS ON NEW COINS. English Sovereigns Minted at Ottawa Worth Twenty-Five Dollars Each.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—The English sovereigns which have lately been made at the Canadian branch of the Royal Mint from the Reddie mine in the Larder Lake gold fields, are being sold by the directors of the company for $25 each. The face value is $4.86. The run was much smaller than was originally expected, and there are less than 100 of the new coins in existence. Of this number no more than 50 or 60 are on the market, as several were purchased by the directors of the property at the last general meeting.

Fired Shots at Premier's Office. Paris, Dec. 2.—A disaffected Corsican, named Baccari, fired several shots from a revolver this evening in the direction of the windows of the ministry of the interior. No one was hurt. The Corsican was arrested.

Fires in Prince Albert. Prince Albert, Jan. 1.—Fire in the gas tank at the old C.P.R. station and in the McTaggart house, Central avenue, called out the fire brigade yesterday.

ATTEMPTED TO BURN A BRITISH STEAMER

Chinese Mob Attack Vessel Against Which a Boycott Was Proposed Owing to Release of Portuguese Accused of Murdering Chinese Passenger.

Canlon, Jan. 2.—A mob of Chinese today threatened to burn the British steamship Fatchan, against which a boycott had been proposed, owing to the release by the British consul of a Portuguese, who was accused of causing the death of a Chinese passenger. An attempt to rush the vessel was frustrated by the officers who cast off from the moorings. The trouble was settled when British sailors went on board the Fatchan.

AGED PRINCE AS A PRIEST. Great German Title Surrendered on Altar of Church.

London, Dec. 31.—There arrived in England this week a Catholic priest under whose name Father Raymond, a concealed great German title, little over a year or two ago Prince of Rohlfors, who was one of the founders and leaders of the Catholic Centre party in the Reichstag, relinquished his estate, robes and dignities, and at the age of 73 became a novice in the Dominican order. Last week he was ordained a priest by Cardinal Fischer, Archbishop of Cologne. Now he is at the Dominican priory at Havestock Hill, London, on his way to the Isle of Wight to visit his sister and daughter, both of whom are nuns in the Benedictine convent at Ryde.

This daughter is one of three who have entered the religious order, and his sister is the widow of Don Miguel, king of Portugal. The prince, whose name has been minutely bound up for half a century with the struggle for the rights of the Roman Catholic church in Germany, is now known merely as Father Raymond. The ceremony of his reception into the Dominican order in the abbey church in Benlo was a striking spectacle. Amid the crowd, which included many of the distinguished relations, present to assist at the pontifical high mass the prince was supported by his eldest son.

The former wore his white cassock and black mantle of the Dominicans. The event created considerable of a sensation in Germany at the time and the career of the venerable prince is still watched with sympathetic interest.

MAY KEEP OPEN SUNDAY. Jews in New York Who Close Saturday May Do Business on Sunday.

New York, Jan. 1.—As a result of a conference between Commissioner Bingham and several representative Jews of New York, the Jews who observe their own Sabbath, will hereafter be allowed to do business and perform work on Sunday without interference from the police. The commissioner, on his invitation, received and accepted the claim of the Jewish community of New York.

Many complaints have been made on account of Jewish persons being arrested for doing business on Sunday. Commissioner Bingham decided to confer with this committee. It was pointed out to him that the strict enforcement by the police of the law against the Jews, who observe their own Sabbath on Saturday, wrought a great hardship for thousands of poor people who could not afford to suspend work or business for two days in the week. It was shown that in former years the law was so interpreted as to permit Jews to do business on Sunday. The commissioner agreed that the claim of observing Jews is a strong one and he consented to issue an order permitting Jews, who keep their places of business closed on Saturday, to keep open on Sunday.

MONTREAL'S TYPHOID EPIDEMIC. Over Two Thousand Cases Being Treated in Hospitals.

Montreal, Dec. 31.—An unusual epidemic of typhoid is raging in the city at present, epidemic being crowded to its limit with cases of the disease, while several have had to open new wings to accommodate typhoid patients. It is estimated that there are over two hundred cases in the various hospitals now, while doctors calculate that there are at least three times as many being treated at their homes, which would mean that between 800 and a thousand people are now down with typhoid.

A peculiar feature of the epidemic is that it broke out immediately after Christmas, the rush on the hospitals during the week of December 26th, while since then practically every hospital in the city has become crowded with cases and has been compelled to turn many away. Nothing is known as to the cause, but there is a general call upon the civic and provincial health authorities to start an immediate investigation, as such an outbreak at this time of the year is most unusual.

Commercial Traveller Burned. Coldwater, Jan. 1.—In the destruction of the British Arms Hotel at two o'clock yesterday morning, a commercial traveller named Atkinson, representing the Singer Sewing Machine Company, Toronto, was killed, and several other guests and employees of the hotel narrowly escaped with their lives.

Families lived over the stores adjoining and had time to escape, but with only a few belongings in the store, and about $2000 the insurance carried was $25,000.

EDMONTON BONDS HIGH.

The latest financial report from Coates Sons & Co., London, England, received by the city commissioners this morning show that Edmonton 5 per cent. bonds reached a new high notch during the week ending Dec. 18th, when they sold for 107 3/4, the highest figure yet reached. The range for the year was from 103 3/8 to 107 3/4, while Winnipeg 5 per cent. bonds ranged from 104 1/2 to 108 for the same period. Edmonton bonds were the only ones sold on the London market in December.

A FAMINE IN NEWS PRINT. Present Dry Spell Has Made Trouble in Paper Making.

Glens Falls, N.Y., Dec. 30.—That famine in news print paper is likely to result from a much longer continuance of the present dry spell in paper making territory is declared by officials of the International Paper company. Many mills which have been closed to run on short time during the low water, will have to be shut down entirely within four weeks unless rain falls. "Such a shut down," officials say, "owing to the lack of any reserve supply of finished paper would cut off ship ments to a number of big dealers. A shut-down would also lay off thousands of men who only recently resumed work after a strike of three months."

MAINE VILLAGE FIRE SWEEP. Principal Buildings in Skowhegan Destroyed—Firemen Injured.

Skowhegan, Maine, Jan. 1.—Water street, the principal business thoroughfare of this village, was swept by fire early today. The Gould block, a three-story brick structure, and the Oriental story brick, a wooden building of two stories, were destroyed and the Hillburn block, a four-story structure, the Forest-Goodwin block and the Phillips buildings were badly damaged. All these buildings contained stores, and in the Gould block a second and third stories were occupied by the Hotel Oxford. Two firemen were seriously injured. They were Harry Jackson and Fred Mitchell, who were carried down by the fall of the roof of the structure. They were taken out in a critical condition.

LABOR REPRESENTATIVE BUSY. M. Trotter Severely Condemns the Policy of Canadian Labor.

London, Dec. 30.—Mr. R. W. Trotter, representative of Canadian labor in Great Britain, in an interview today said that he had laid statement before the parliamentary committee of Allied Union Congress and Members of Labor party and received assurance that the committee would support his views on the subject of Canadian labor. A corporation will not application to carry on the business of insurance in all its branches under the name of the British Columbia Life Insurance Company.

ICE PALACE SCHEME DROPPED. Montreal Will Not Aid to Misrepresentation of Canada's Climate.

Montreal, Jan. 1.—It was stated today by people in charge of the winter carnival scheme that there would be no ice palace this winter, the project being dropped in preference to the opposition of the railroad and other interested in immigration. Those in charge of the scheme had been appointed coadjutors of the immigration department. It was admitted that the dropping of the ice palace was being considered, but it could not be decided whether it was to be adopted in its stead, it is probable that the railways and other big interests will drop their opposition to the carnival scheme.

WANTED IN BELFAST. Calgary Man Will Return on Charge of Embezzlement.

Calgary, Dec. 31.—Wm. Milliken, charged with the theft of the Arlington Hotel, called at the police court yesterday to report the theft of several overcoats from the hotel. His name and appearance tallied with the man wanted in Belfast, Ireland, on a charge of embezzlement. Word was forwarded, and in the meantime a watch on Milliken's movements was kept. This morning he was arrested and an officer of the constabulary from Ireland to convey Milliken back is on route to Calgary.

41 DEATH SENTENCES. Pronounced by Military Court in Russia—Grew Out of 1903 Riots.

St. Petersburg, Russia, Jan. 2.—The military court today pronounced forty-one death sentences. Thirty-two of them were imposed on strikers in the railroad troubles of October, 1905. BLOCKADE ON RAILROAD. Saskatchewan G. T. P. and C. N. R. Lines in Grip of Winter.

Saskatoon, Dec. 31.—For three days the G.T.P. has been tied up by storms. On the C.N.R. the local trains have been running for several days on the main line. Branch line trains are all on time, however. The C.P.R. train from the east did not get here till 10 o'clock, though this was due to some delay east of Lipton, where this division ends.

Toronto's Vital Statistics. Toronto, Jan. 1.—The city births in 1928 were 1,946, an increase of 1,320. The deaths were 4,630, an increase of 88.

TORONTO WILL HAVE FORTY LESS LICENSES

Temperance Forces Conduct a Vigorous Campaign With Successful Results—Mayor Oliver Re-Elected by a Large Majority—Municipalities Vote on Local Option Monday.

Toronto, Jan. 1.—Returns indicate the carrying of the bylaw to cut off 40 hotel licenses, by 590 votes. The total vote was about 32,000, the largest ever cast in Toronto civic elections. Several thousand women voted solidly in favor of the temperance cause, the W. C. T. U. having been in active organization for months. As practically every aldermanic candidate had bound himself to abide by the people's vote, the bylaw will be passed through the council, instructing the license commissioners to cut off the licenses on May 1, the beginning of the license year.

Mayor Oliver was re-elected with 2,000 majority. Controller Spencer, the leading temperance advocate, was defeated, as was Ald. Hales, who introduced the bylaw and ran for the board of control. G. R. A corporation will not application to carry on the business of insurance in all its branches under the name of the British Columbia Life Insurance Company.

New Companies Formed. Ottawa, Jan. 1.—The Great West Permanent Loan and Savings Company will apply to the parliament of Canada, at its next session, for an act incorporating the shareholders of the company under legislative authority of the parliament of Canada, with power to acquire the assets and assume the liabilities of the present company, and to carry on the business of a loan and savings company in Canada.
