order "This Opening" "Person on Trial" for His "Looks" Not Guilty—Look Worried.

April 12.—Edward Jarvington for his fire charged with the murder of Lizzie Anderson, was found in the basement house on St. James street after her disappearance after her father's home.

What the conclusions were could be easily judged by the business done by the Sedgewick merchants on the following day. Stoves, kitchen utensils, house furnishings and farm implements were eagerly sought after. The greatest difficulty was seen in the securing of horses. Prices seemed exorbitantly high but orders were a necessity after the purchase of a wagon and the filling of it with household necessities. One man brought a team rather underdressed and had the mortals back to the pair stand hitched to the wagon in the middle of the street and refuse to budge.

ENGLISH SETTLERS REACH SEDGWICK

First New-Comers Who Will settle on the C.P.R. Ready-Made Farms Arrived Last Week.

Anyone who happened to be in Sedgewick last week and saw the groups of warmly clad children watching snow flake and romping about in the clear Alberta air could understand why such a large party of British emigrants had left the Old Land and all its traditions to occupy the C. P. R. ready-made farms in this newly discovered province of Alberta.

If you had mingled with the elder members of the party, of whom there were about sixty all told, you would probably have heard that Lloyd George's budget was the cause of their coming to Canada, that they were tired of paying high rents and taxes and they wanted to "have a try at it" in a new country. They might not say so but it was evident that the real reason was that the emigration was "to give the kiddies a chance."

Youth Was Predominant. For the feature of the party as it detrained at Sedgewick was that over half were under twenty years of age. One man who hailed from Liverpool was the father of twelve children. Others had a family of four or five and few were there who had no progeny to look after. A newly-married couple was a singularity and they seemed to feel it as they wandered about by themselves and only assembled with the others at meal time. This was their honeymoon.

Everything was astir on Thursday morning. The C. P. R. land officials were busy summoning rigs to take the prospective settlers to see their farms from five to ten miles south of the town. Each settler had paid so much down but entered on no contract until they had seen their locations and found everything as represented. The ardor of the party was dampened by a blinding snow storm which blew up about ten o'clock. Some volunteered to brave the inclement weather but there were some who refused to venture out. However, the storm blew over, the sun came out and by about half past the head of each family and in many cases the wife also, had seen their future home and had returned to town to draw up their conclusions.

SHELDON FACES THREE CHARGES

Montreal Embezzler is Sent Up for Trial by Judge Leet.

Montreal, April 12.—C. D. Sheldon appeared before Judge Leet this morning on three charges of embezzlement, aggregating $35,000. Crown Prosecutor Walsh elected from witnesses Sheldon's acceptance of his money, and this was not questioned.

Sheldon appeared very nervous. There was a considerable crowd in the court, but beyond the formal proceedings little of interest occurred. The names upon which the information were laid were Millette, Murray and Burnside.

And then all was quiet. The foreman hurried to Fuller's office, but found him lying on some steps some fifty feet away. He breathed once or twice, then died without a word. One rumour and property about the office it was ascertained that there was a beaker of water on the table and a beaker of potassium cyanide. Fuller had a sword which he hid when his body was found.

THE McCormick Reel is the Strongest and Most Effective Ever Placed on Binder. The McCormick reel offers a wide range of adjustment and successfully meets the conditions encountered in any field, whether the grain is tall or short-standing, down, or tangled. Grain that is filled with green undergrowth is forced upon the platform with ease.

On 7 and 8-foot McCormick binders the reel has outside support. This effectively prevents the reel from striking the ends of the cutter's while the machine is being operated on rough ground. The cutter-bar makes short grain fall from the knife to the platform without accumulating between the guards and platform.

The McCormick knoter is a revelation of simplicity in construction, accuracy in timing, and ease of adjustment. Only two moving parts constitute the working mechanism of the McCormick timing device. There is no straining or pulling of the twine, and perfect knotting is assured.

There are many other features and advantages of McCormick binders. The McCormick agent will tell you about them. He will tell you about the wonderful strength of each individual part and of the strength of the binder as a whole—of the skilled workmanship, backed by many years of experience, that enters into the construction of every McCormick binder. Why not see the McCormick dealer today? Also ask him about the McCormick line of haying machines and tools which are as efficient as the binder.
