What is Morris
Going to Do?

Three weeks have now passed since the announcement of the defeat of the Minister of Agriculture and Mines at the polls. What is Morris going to do about it? Both hold their office to-day. How long does Morris intend to keep them there after their constituents have shown they have no confidence in these holders of portfolios? Does he intend to keep them there and try to find seats for them? As they are still there, it is only reasonable to suppose that he will open two constituencies for them. Why does he not do it? Is it because he fears he may lose two more seats and still have two defeated ministers on his hands, and so imperil the life of the Government? If he followed the proper course he would do this. If he does not follow this course, it's because he fears to risk the life of his Government on the success in other constituencies of the present holders of these portfolios. These cases are not usual. They differ materially from an ordinary case of the defeat of a Minister. In the case of the Minister of Justice, as we have previously shown, two Memorials were presented to ex-Governor Williams praying him to dismiss the Hon. D. Morrison from the office he holds on account of certain acts and practice in connection with timber lands. Ex-Governor Williams did not dismiss him, but he expressed objection to the practices petitioned against. Mr. Morrison's constituents, however, withdrew their confidence from him and by converting an extraordinary majority into an extraordinary minority put him at the bottom of the poll.

Is the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, taking cognizance of this expression of lack of confidence of constituents, who hitherto for a quarter of century had returned Mr. Morrison every time he presented himself? Is the Premier, taking into consideration that the matters about which the first Memorials were sent affected the Department of Agriculture and Mines, and that the head of this department is the other defeated Minister? If he has taken these matters into consideration, what is he going to do? Is he going to flout the district of Bonavista by sending these office holders elsewhere, or is he going to flout them and betray cowardice at the same time by putting either or both in the Legislative Council, if he can find seats for them there? Or what is he going to do? He has had plenty of time to make up his mind, and the people have got their eyes on him and are looking out for what he is going to do.

Beautiful Baby Beds!

To-day we show for the first time in our Western Window the last word in Baby Beds. This Bed makes the falling out of the baby impossible. It is the only real, modern, sensible sleeping arrangement that saves both mother and baby. It is in use in every civilized country on earth, and is bought by the nobility and peasants of all Europe, etc., as well as by the wealthy and poor alike in the United States.

It will mean more to you and to your baby than anything else on earth that money can buy.

It places the baby in bed with you snugly and yet not in at all.

Huerta Still Holds On.

Special to the Evening Telegram.

MEXICO, City, To-day.

Resigned apparently to those conditions which make it necessary to carry on a dilatory campaign against his enemies, Huerta and his official dependents appeared serene yesterday convinced the States will not take more drastic measures toward the Mexican Government than those already taken. It has been rumored that Congress would not continue to meet, that it would be automatically dissolved, and that Huerta was about to quit office. All these rumors have been disproved by Congress launching itself into what promises to be a prolonged session. It is expected tomorrow the Congress will take up ratification or nullification of the Presidential elections. It is understood these will be annulled if the elections are called. Huerta will remain at the head of affairs, according to his intimates. No one realizes more fully than Huerta the desperate straits of his Government, but he has reiterated his intention of pounding away at his enemies until he or they have won the National Palace. The idea of intervention is scoffed at, and the suggestion of a blockade received with scepticism. Huerta himself is credited with having said that while the ports might be easily taken it would be impossible for the invaders to get as far as the Capital. The financial situation is the most serious that Huerta is facing. The fact that the National treasury is practically empty is not hidden even from the most ignorant person in the City. Measures recently adopted to obtain funds have been such as to practically double the revenue from the source. A new stamp tax which will go into effect in December will practically double the revenue from that source. Special taxes have been imposed. The taxing of articles imported by parcel post is being discussed. Every possible opportunity for raising money is being carefully scrutinized by the Department of Finance and silver is scarce. It is feared the launching of one peso bills through the Republic will not serve to restore general confidence on the Banks at Belem, each of these bills pressure there is a metal reserve, but there is a fair proportion of the public which is skeptical about this.

Had Itching Piles For 27 Years

Often Laid Up for Days at a Time—A Wonderful Tribute to Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Few people were ever more enthusiastic in praising Dr. Chase's Ointment than the writer of this letter. When you read the description of his case you will not wonder why Mr. John Johnson, Coleman Alta, writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of 27 years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I would ever get from the terrible misery of piles. After I was laid up for three days at a time, and at other times worked when I should have been in bed."

"Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time, and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure of my piles made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Anyone doubting this can write direct to me."

The work on the building was very near completion, and was to have been ready towards the end of next week.

SIR HENRY HAVELLOCK died 1857, aged 62. Great English commander, who saw forty-two years' service before the grand opportunity of his life career came. At the outbreak of the mutiny in 1857, Havellock was sent to India, and began to organize the column for the Relief of Lucknow, which after many difficulties, was accomplished in September, 1857.

Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner.

At a time when there is a dearth of amusements in St. John's this play ought to attract large houses at the Casino. On Dec. 2nd and 4th, we will see what promises to be one of the best amateur productions in St. John's for a number of years. Under the management of a lady whose histrionic capabilities are undoubted, and done by the best local talent, this excellent romantic comedy, which drew crowded houses in London for so long, ought to fetch the applause of us all. That Froham of Newfoundland, Mr. Tom O'Neill, who possesses the dramatic instinct if ever anybody did, is producing the play, and this is sufficient guarantee of its success.

On its own merits, apart from the fact that the proceeds will be devoted to charity, "Miss Elizabeth's Prisoner" is a play that appeals to the human senses. Pathos, humor and tense situations follow each other and do not allow of a moment's lull. It is a story of the American War of Independence, a period of history which always appeals to Newfoundland audiences, and of course the characters are costumed and powdered.

Miss Mary Keegan and Mr. O'Neill are the leads and the all-star cast includes Miss Mary Doyle, Miss Frances Pinsett, Mr. Jack O'Neill, Frank Knight, Mr. S. G. Hazell, Mr. Paddy Keegan, Mr. Dermot Keegan and Mr. Frank Lilly.

Seats are to be had at the Atlantic Bookstore, where you should go at once and book one.

Sunday Service at the Institute.

The Lantern Service held at the King George the Fifth Seamen's Institute last night was attended by a large and appreciative gathering. Manager Jones delivered a lecture on the "Life of Joseph" which was beautifully illustrated. The discourse proved very interesting and was well received. During the evening vocal selections were rendered which added no small amount of enjoyment to the service.

Minard's Liniment Co. Ltd. Gentlemen.—In July 1905 I was thrown from a road machine, injured my hip and back badly and was obliged to use a crutch for 14 months. In September 1906 Mr. Wm.
