BRITISH VICTORY IN NORTH FRANCE — GUNS AT CHANK GROW WEAKER.

LONDON, To-day. The arrival of the German auxiliary cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich at Newport News is removing for a time at least another menace to British shipping. The successes of the British troops in the region of Labassee are for the moment the most interesting topic of discussion in the British Isles. Whether Prinz Eitel Friedrich will be interned or will again set out for the High Seas, it is considered here that her career as an armed cruiser must come to an end, for should she be allowed to sail after repairs, it is believed the cruisers of the Allies on watch will account for her. The possible action of the American Government with regard to the sinking by Prinz Eitel Friedrich of the American ship William P. Frye is also being much discussed, and the general view is that if the States allow German warships to sink American ships with food supplies for England, the Government can hardly protest against the Allies' prohibition of food-stuffs to Germany. Of the British victory in Northern France there is no news beyond the official reports. It is believed, however, while no great amount of ground has been captured, the improvement in the British position brought about by it is of the greatest importance. If pressed further it might compel the Germans to evacuate Labassee and perhaps other points which make their lines so strong at present. Equally important was the success achieved by the British airmen, destroying the railway junctions at Minin and Courtrai. These are on one of the German main lines of communication and their destruction delay the arrival of new contingents of troops which are reported to be again concentrating in Belgium for another attempt to break through Calais and Boulogne. According to a Dutch report these troops have brought with them a large number of boats for the passage of canals and rivers, and for the first time for months they include cavalry units. There has been some fighting in Champagne but, on the whole, the French seem to be satisfied for the present with the progress they have made in that region. In the Vosges the battle for Reich Ackerkopf has been resumed. These heights are small affairs in comparison with the battles which are in progress in North Poland between the Niemans and the Vistula. Rivers. The Germans apparently are falling back North, but are fighting a rear-guard action which reached the importance of a pitched battle and are taking few prisoners with them. The Germans are again in Augustow forest on the East Prussian border which has been the burial place of so many German and Russian soldiers. The Germans have brought up more guns but of lighter calibre to bombard Ossowetz, while further to the south in the neighbourhood of Ostrolenko they claim to have defeated the Russians. The battle on the roads from Khorjole to Przasnysz, along which the Germans hope to reach and pierce the Russian fortress line still continues. The weather having turned colder the ground in North Poland has hardened which will greatly facilitate a movement of troops. This is said to be the first time in history that weather favored an army, attempting to invade Russia. Reports from Tenedos say the Turkish artillery in the Dardanelles grows weaker daily, that the last bombardment by the Allied warships badly damaged forts at Chanak Kalfisi. Two big cruisers spent the night in the Straits protecting the vessel engaged in mine-sweeping. Despatches from Rome indicate that the German Ambassador, Prince Von Bielow, has renewed negotiation with the Italian Government with the object of securing the continued neutrality of that country in return for territorial concessions in Austria. Austria, however, is said to be opposed to making any such concessions as would satisfy Italy.

MANY GERMAN SUBMARINES MISSING.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Express from the Hague says: A secret report has been sent from Cuxhaven to the Admiralty at Berlin that twelve submarines have failed to report at their base, eight of them being among Germany's newest boats. The Naval Council will meet to-day or to-morrow under the Presidency of Emperor William to discuss whether or not it would be better to abandon the submarine war.

DETAIN AMERICAN STEAMER.

LONDON, To-day. Laden with the products of American factories, the American steamer A. A. Raven has been detained in the Downs. The cargo is consigned to dealers at Rotterdam, and the British Government insists that it must be consigned to Netherlands Overseas Trust, before it is allowed to proceed. The steamer sailed from New York on February 12th.

Bovel's Menthol Inhaler gives the best and most direct means of applying the cooling, soothing, anti-inflammatory, and antiseptic vapor of menthol to the throat and nasal passages. It is famous as quick way of stopping a cold in the head or throat; and even in chronic catarrh its healing and quieting influence on the diseased mucous membrane is great. If you have a cold or are liable to colds in the head, try this simple but very practical device for the purpose of getting rid of it in short space.
Cream of Lilies needs only to be mentioned in March to remind those whose sick has run out to replenish it; or to tell those who have not yet had the benefit of using it that it is a real cure for sprained, sore and chapped hands. Price 25c. a pot.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH IN QUEBEC BLAZE.

Quebec, Mar. 3.—Four persons perished early to-day when fire broke out in a dwelling house in Saint-Sauveur ward, partly destroying a two-story building and burning to death Mrs. Arthur Talbot, 35 years, and three of her children. All the victims were trapped by the flames and burned beyond recognition.

In the blaze the lives of fourteen persons were endangered, for two families occupied the place, the lower flat was occupied by the Talbot grocery, while the upper flats had the tenants of the Talbotts and of Raoul Decolin, the latter escaping through windows with his wife and five children. Of the Talbot family, only four escaped.

ATTEMPTED TO RANSACK CELLAR.—Three mischievous lads, who were evidently bent on nefarious work, made a bold attempt to get look about 11 o'clock to-day. They had been engaged to remove the snow from the sidewalk of a Duckworth St. residence. Having finished and got paid for their job, they hung round, watching their chance to get into the cellar of the house as they must have known what was kept there. Eventually two of them lifted off the hatch and the other was endeavoring to get down through when a young man, who passed by and noticing that something was wrong, alarmed the occupant of the house. Meanwhile the young scamps fled.

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns.

Hr. Grace Notes.

The wind to-day is blowing strong from the westward, a welcome change from the continuous east winds for the past four weeks. The ice is moving out and if the breeze holds good for a few days our harbor and bay will be free of ice.

Among the volunteers in town for the past few days were several St. John's boys who visited this town for the first time. They are very pleased with Harbour Grace, and promises to pay us another visit "after the war is over."

A pleasant time was spent at the C. C. C. Armoury last night when the members and ex-members met and had a happy time. The occasion was on account of the departure of Mr. Luke Fallon, a member of the Corps, and one of the Volunteers soon to leave our shores to fight the Empire's battles. After an enjoyable programme of music, speeches, etc., a very handsome cigarette case nicely engraved was presented to Mr. Fallon by his comrades. He made a very suitable reply in thanking his fellows for this souvenir of home.

The K. E. Brigade met at their armoury at 7.30 this morning and paraded to the station to bid goodbye to their fellows of the volunteers and the other brave fellows who are about leaving for England. As the train moved out Major Pike called for three cheers for the Volunteers which was very heartily given. The kakhis cheered to as the train slowly left the station.

Mr. W. J. James arrived from St. John's by last night's train after a short business trip.
