There are 4 grades of roofing felt selling in Newfoundland, "BARRETT'S" is guaranteed the highest grade.

"Barrett's" 1, 2 and 3-ply felts have been in use in Newfoundland for more than 50 years.

The best roof known in America is a "Barrett" roof, "Barrett's" felt ONLY is used in putting on a "Barrett" Roof. Ask any Architect.

"Barrett" 1, 2 and 3-ply felts are really made of felt saturated with genuine coal tar -- the 2 and 3-ply felts have a layer of coal tar pitch between each ply.

"Barrett's" felts are made to give good wear, therefore they cost more than roofings made of paper saturated with diluted asphalt.

If you use "Barrett's" felt instead of common felt, a new roof covering for your house may cost you $2.00 more for the whole roof.

Roofs covered with "Barrett's" felt are secure, the extra cost of one or two dollars (for the entire roof) is money well spent.

Which felt do you intend to use?

Architects, Builders and Contractors prefer "Barrett's" Felt.

The name of Dick Whittington is enshrined in the hearts of old and young as that of the boy who endured many vicissitudes to become three times Lord Mayor of London.

The fifth centenary of the death of the real man, around whose name picturesque legenda have grown, was celebrated recently.

The third son of Sir Richard Whittington, head of an old Gloucestershire family, Dick was born about 1358. He was left an orphan at an early age. As soon as he was old enough and strong enough for so strenuous an undertaking, he walked
