DRANK LAUDANUM.

Charles Little, an Oxford Farmer, Suicides at Nilestown.Bought the Drug in London—Kelancholia the Cause.On Friday, Charles Little, a well-to-do farmer of Verschoyle, Oxford county, drove to this city and bought a quantity of laudanum at a drug store.On returning he stopped off at Nile-stown about 4 p.m. and slept over night at George Byer's hotel. His non-appearance Saturday morning caused an inquiry, and on going to his room about 9 o'clock an attendant found him sitting in a chair, groaning and apparently in the greatest agony. An empty bottle at his side told the story. Dr. Graham, of Dor-chester, was at once sent for, but help was too late. The unfortunate man lingered until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, though every effort was made to save his life.The wife, father and other relatives were summoned and reached Nilestown in time to see him breathe his last. Deceased was about 55 years of age, and highly respected in his neighborhood. It is said the loss of a child of whom he was very fond had greatly affected him, and that he twice before attempted suicide. This time he swallowed three ounces of the drug, as if determined to accomplish his purpose.Dr. Graham, who is a coroner, decided that no inquest was necessary, and the body was taken home for burial.
