The joint grievance committee of the conductors and trainmen on the G. T. R. system concluded their conference with Manager McGuigan, at Toronto, yesterday afternoon. Several meetings were held, and all matters under discussion were arranged in a very satisfactory manner. The management has very considerably advanced the wages of the employes represented, in some exceptional cases as much as 40 or 50 per cent being added. This was done without any demands being made by the men of a formal nature. The new schedules will not be announced until the committee return and report to the conductors

KEEPS HIS SEAT

Judge Edward Elliott Dcclares Him Elected.

OF TWENTY-ONE

The following students from London Judge Counts in Ballots Numbered on Back by Two Westminster Deputies.

> Judge Edward Elliott, after concluding the recount of ballots cast in last week's election in East Middlesex, this morning declared Dr. Routledge elected over Capt. Robson by a majority of 21 votes. The result was somewhat of a surprise, for it was feared that the action of the deputies in two polling subdivisions in Westminster township who numbered each ballot on the back, would result in the invalidating of all the votes in the two subdivisions. This would have given Capt. Robson about 90 majority. Had this been done, an appeal would have been immediately made at Toronto. The result, however, is one that will prove satisfactory to those who so heartily supported Dr. The result of the recount was that Dr. Routledge's majority was reduced at by the allowing of a number of ballots rejected by deputies on account of irregularities in marking. Two or three errors in counting were also discovered. In several subdivisions ballots were found wrongly counted, the error being in Capt. Robson's favor in some cases and in Dr. Routledge's in

Capt. Robson's net gain in London township was one. In subdivision 2, where the deputy returning officer had allowed Robson 68 ballots, only 67 were found. The judge allowed two rejected ballots, making a gain of one. One ballot had the cross to the left of the name, and the other had an almost erased cross for Routledge, with a good mark for Robson. In subdivision 4, the deputy rejected a ballot with three crosses opposite the name of Robson. The ballot was held by the judge to be good. In subdivision 5 a ballot mark-ed for Robson had the name of "A. Hayball," written on the back. The deputy counted the ballot, but Judge Elliott rejected it.

West Nissouri Capt. Robson In gained five votes. In sub-division 1, one of Dr. Routledge's ballots had been counted for Capt. Robson. In Subdivision 2, one rejected for Robson was allowed, the cross being on the name. In sub-division 3, a ballot marked with three crosses for Robson was allowed. In sub-division 7, the actual count was: Robson, 41, Routledge, 53; instead of Robson, 38; Routledge, 55, as returned by the deputy. Two Robson ballots were found in the Routledge package. A third ballot with the cross on Rob-son's name was allowed. Capt. Robson made his greatest gain have demanded a recount in Welland in North Dorchester, where seven were county, which will take place on Sat-added. In subdivision 1, a Routledge in North Dorchester, where seven were ballot with the figures 43 on the back was thrown out by the judge. In subdivision 2 three ballots with crosses on the left side of the name were allowed for Robson. In subdivision 3 attitude of DR. COURTICE izontal line opposite Dr. Routledge's name was disallowed. In subdivision 4 the actual count was: Robson, 76; Routledge, 50; instead of Robson, 75;

Routledge, 51. There was no change made in the figures in Westminster. The deputy returning officers in subdivisions 5 and of Westminster, in addition to placing their initials on the back of the ballots had also written the number corresponding with the number of the voter on the pollbook. Counsel Capt. Robson contended that this afforded a means of identification of the voter, and that they were therefore invalidated. Division No. 5 gave 9 votes for Robson and 66 for Routledge; No. 10, 52 for Robson and 97 for Routledge. In No. 9 of Westminster, where the vote stood 82 for Routledge and 60 for Robson, the deputy had inadvertently inclosed his ballots in the envelopes indorsed "unused ballots." These Elliott counted, Judge to the objection of Capt. Robson's counsel. The objection was not made until after Judge Elliott had opened the envelope and taken the ballots there-Judgment was reserved on one Routledge ballot bearing a cross on back, in West London, and one Robson ballot in subdivision 2. Westminster, which bore an equivocal cross. The ballots were both allowed this morning The proceedings were journed till 10 a.m. today for consul to put in argument on the numbered ballots, and those on which judgment had been reserved.

At this morning's session, after hearing argument from counse!, the judge decided that the disputed ballots should all be allowed, this decision taking in the Westminster numbered ballots, the Westminster ballots in-Judge Elliott then declared Dr. Routledge elected by 21 majority.

Rev. J. S. Cook Criticises the Christian Guardian.

On the Temperance Question Was Not Firm Enough, He Thinks-Pulpit Changes in July.

Sarnia, June 7 .- At yesterday's session of the London Conference Rev. A. C. Courtice presented the report of the Methodist Book Room and Christian Guardian. The merchandise department showed an increase in sales of $2,138; the increase in the printing department was $707, and in the bindery there was a decrease of $1,501. There was a decrease of 272 in the circulation of The Guardian, which, however, reaches upwards of 20,000 famizine and Epworth Era respectively. profits. The proportionate reduction in the net profits was due to the large a text book," and, after further disincrease in wages in every branch of the manufacturing department. The appropriation from profits of the Book Room to the superannuation fund last year was $12,000, and for the quadrennium $43,500, as against $31,000 for the Rev. A. H. Going offered a resolution expressing appreciation of the report

Dr. Courtice and the policy he has pursued in the Guardian on religious and moral questions, especially in relation to the temperance question. Rev. J. S. Cook criticised the manclosed in the wrong envelope, and the ner in which the Guardian had been 2 ballots in which judgment had been conducted. Too much attention had. he said, been given to certain questions relating to the Bible, which had a disturbing tendency upon the Methodist people. The Guardian had been too much of a preachers' paper and not enough of a people's paper, and had been altogether too one-sided in the discussion of some of these questions Too much prominence had been given | stairs. to the higher criticisms, and too little attention paid to the traditional and conservative side of the question. The

The trouble, he thought, was not so much the question of Dr. Courtice as editor, as it was his allowing so many long-winded letters

Rev. Wm. McDonagh regarded the higher criticism as folly and nonsense, but in reference to the temperance questions he commended Dr. Courtice's been answer to the people who passed "the practically confined to the vicinity of abominable thing called the referendum." The report of the memorial committee, presented by Rev. G. J. Kerr, was provocative of discussion. The first clause disapproved of the memorial from the London district in reference to the use of the Bible as a text book in the schools, while approving of the reading of the Bible in public and high schools. Rev. S. J. Allin pressed for the adoption of the memorial from the London district, calling upon the minister of education to require that the Bible be made a text book in the publie, high and provincial normal schools. He insisted that the time has come for the Methodist Church to take action, such as the memorial indicated. The proposal of the Teachers' Association that the Bible be placed in the schools as a book of literary and poetic merit was not sufficient to meet the needs. The Bible should be taught in the schools for the moral and religious instruction. The action of the committee in setting aside the memorial was hardly worthy the importance of the subject. Rev. A. K. Birks strongly opposed the adoption of the memorial if the expression "text book" meant that the Bible was to be explained and expounded by the teacher as though it were an ordinary reader. But if it meant that the Bible was to every week, and an increase of 122 be read so as to give the Scriptures and 434 in that of the Methodist Maga- a place in the religious exercises and recognition in the religious and moral The Sunday school papers, under the life of the community, he was in hearty charge of Dr. Withrow, showed an increased circulation of 9,643.
