Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in turn. No letter can be answered privately.]

Wants Vacation Hint.

Dear Miss Grey—I wonder if you could have some letters from the young women readers of your Mail Box about nice ways in which to spend a two-week vacation? Both myself and my sister are office workers, and generally arrange to have our holidays at the same period, so that we may go away together. We each feel that we could afford to spend about fifty dollars on a nice trip, though would consider ourselves very fortunate if it cost less. The reason I am writing asking readers for personal experiences and suggestions, is that I feel they will be much more helpful to us than information gleaned from a "summer prospectus." Hoping to hear from some of the readers of the Mail Box, I remain, Yours truly, CYNTHIA GREY.

Ans.—It would be very nice indeed, I think, to exchange ideas on summer vacations. You do not say whether you desire a boat trip or not. To many folks that is the ideal hot-weather way of travelling. Shall be very glad to receive any letters on "How I spent my nicest vacation." Who'll write and tell us first?

Wallpaper Cleaner.

Dear Miss Grey,—A friend told me of a preparation for cleaning wallpaper, but could not give me full particulars. As she got it from the Woman's Page of your paper I am taking the liberty of writing you. Will you tell me how to make it up? Yours truly,

MRS. D.

Ans.—Am very pleased to repeat the formula, which was originally received from a reader: Six tablespoons of salt, 6 tablespoons of flour, 3 tablespoons of cold, enough water to make it the consistency of layer cake; put on stove and cook until like paste; roll it in balls and rub on paper.

Wearing of Mourning.

Dear Miss Grey: This is our second visit to your most interesting column. We sure do enjoy reading your page very much, and would thank you for an early reply to the following queries:

1. Could you give us the name and address of a firm in Toronto who makes and sells what are known as "read-cut" houses?

2. How long should children wear mourning clothes after the death of both father and mother? The deaths occurring within one week's time.

3. What day of the week did March 21, 1892, and April 9, 1900, fall on?

4. Give name and full address of the publishers of the book "From Poverty to Power."

Hoping we have not been too much bother, and that we may see this in print soon, if not sooner.

W.F. US AND COMPANY.

Ans.—1. The Sovereign Construction Company, C. P. R. Building, Toronto.

2. Many people nowadays are governed rather by personal choice than custom in this matter. What is known as "first" mourning is generally worn by children, in the instance of a parent's death for six months. Then black and white for another six months, after which the quieter colors may be adopted. On the other hand, some sons and daughters prefer to wear the all-black for the first year after the loss of father or mother.

3. Monday.

4. The book was published in 1902 by Savoy Publishing Company, Savoy Steps, Strand, London, Eng. Might say that there is a copy sent to a reader of the "Mail Box"; it is now promised to another reader, but when she is through I shall inform you, so that you may send for it if you wish.

Poor Tired Feet.

Dear Miss Grey: Could any of your readers tell what would help sore feet, that seem to sweat in warm weather and blister under toes till she can hardly walk around? It is my friend's letter to another writing, I do hope someone can tell her something. She is in the best of health otherwise. Thanking you, I am,

ONE DISCOURAGED AND TIRED.

Ans.—1. Here are some remedies for sore feet, that may be helpful to your friend: (a) Bathe every night with lemon juice, dry in well then rinse, and dry with the towel again; finish by dusting with talcum. (b) Give the feet a quick dip in warm, soapy water every night or morning, dry thoroughly, and dust well with this powder: Two drams calomel, one dram carbonate of lime, four drams starch; change the stockings each morning. (c) A good foot bath is said to be this: Ten grains calomel, one dram carbonate of lime, five drops oil of eucalyptus, one ounce ointment of rose water. Massage the feet well with this every night, and powder freely with talcum in the morning.

2. The copy of the book has been forwarded to Mrs. E. H. Thanks for returning it.

Clothing for Trip.

Dear Miss Grey: We are three girls, 18, 19, 20, respectively. We are going to take a water trip on the lakes. Could you give us a few ideas of what we ought to have in wearing apparel, and other necessary things?

Thanking you in advance, we remain, yours truly, WATER LILIES.

P.S.—We expect to take our trip sometime in July or August.

Ans.—A delightful trip surely awaits you, and my wish for you is "smooth sailing," and sunny skies. Am glad to give a few suggestions, hoping they may be found helpful:

Eternal Feminine Rules Fashions So Betty Brown Tells Us

"Women were never more serious in their work—never more airy and fairy-like and frivolous in their clothes," so a well known fashion designer told me the other day. "Just reaction," she declared, "against masculine influence, women will be women, no matter how the world wags."

And here's a frock that proves the lady knew whereof she spoke. It's white embroidered linen trimmed with

THE BACKYARD GARDEN

PROTECTING PLANTS

[By Prof. Spade.]

Dogs, cats, chickens, mice and rabbits by their depredations endanger the backyard garden. Birds will injure fruit. These are obstacles that add themselves to the natural plant diseases and insects, which are innumerable.

The animals and fowls must be kept within their proper places. The garden plant enclosed in a stout wire fence. Dogs and cats by walking across and laying in newly planted soil disturb the seeds and injure the plants. Chickens will scratch out the seeds and make a crop impossible. Mice may be active on sandy soil, but can be located by their burrows. When permitted on these will kill the pests. Several traps are on the market that are more or less successful.

The diseases of parasitic fungi, that is growth of the lowest order of plant life, which lives on the useful plants and deprives them of their acquired food, are dangerous. When permitted to spread these parasites eat up all the new growth and leaves become dead and drop off, until the plants proper made yesterday morning in order to be absolutely fresh for the exhibit.

The marmalade possessed just that golden, melt-in-the-mouth quality that everybody loves. It was the work of the girls of St. George's and Talbot street schools, and has been donated by them to the annual convention of the Women's and Farmers' Institutes of Allis Craig, on June 3. Mrs. Edwards will speak of the work of the Red Cross Society and Canadian War Convalescent Association, with a view of interesting the residents in the efforts being carried on here.

SACRED BAND CONCERT
CHANCE FOR PATRIOTISM
Particular interest is being evidenced in the sacred band concert to be given in Victoria Park on Sunday evening, because of the fact that it is the first time the Italian band has played publicly in London. Since Italy has united with the Allies, the members of the Imperial Order, Daughter of the Empire, under whose auspices the concert is being held, feel that it is an opportunity for every citizen to show patriotism and sympathy by attending. The proceeds will be spent to purchase supplies for the overseas hospitals. The concert begins at 8:45.

MRS. EDWARDS TO ADDRESS
ALLIS CRAIG GATHERING.
Mrs. A. T. Edwards, corresponding secretary of the Red Cross Society here, has been invited to address a joint meeting of the Women's and Farmers' Institutes of Allis Craig, on June 3. Mrs. Edwards will speak of the work of the Red Cross Society and Canadian War Convalescent Association, with a view of interesting the residents in the efforts being carried on here.

PRIZES APPRECIATED.

HOME SCIENCE CLASS
DONATES FRUIT TO BELGIAN SOLDIERS

Many Visit Creditable Display of Sewing and Cooking.

"Who belongs to it?" was what the Advertiser reporter asked when he found the "Class in Household Science" would hold a display of sewing and cooking, on Thursday afternoon and evening. Then she went, saw, and was completely won. The class in household science was found to consist of youthful members of practically all grades of all the public schools in the city. And the display! Well, unless you saw it for yourself, you would hardly conceive of the dainty little garments, requiring hundreds of tiny stitches in their fashioning, the most tempting looking edibles which occupied the central table, or the golden hue of the marmalade, all made by little lassies.

Daintiest of Work.
Many little garments—dresses, coats, kimono, and "underneath" were exceedingly dainty, most of them be-ribboned, or be-laced, or embroidered, all worked by hand the small stitches pillow-cases, hem-stitched, some with insertion set in, others initialed and still others lace-edged occupied a place by themselves. A number of dressed dolls—completely outfitted bespoke the best of tastes and the last word in daintiness, on the part of the youthful modistes.

Credit to Teachers.
The young ladies in charge of this very important branch of education here, are Miss Craig, Miss Cooke, and Miss Seaborn, and the excellence of the display is a most creditable reflection upon their instruction. All the toothsome-looking "eats" had been
