ENGLISH HOSPITAL ASKS TEA PARTIES

Invites Whole Empire To Entertain On Its 60th Anniversary.

Londoners are given a chance with the rest of the empire to help in a tea-party fund for the women's hospital in Old London, known to thousands of poor as the Elizabeth Garrett Anderson hospital.

The appeal for 10,000 tea parties comes from the old land to the children of the empire. The hospital is not in debt but extensions are badly needed. Over 250 poor souls are on the waiting list, longing to get into this cheery "human" hospital, staffed solely by women. A recent legacy of £10,000 has enabled the committee to purchase the freehold of the present hospital and vacant sites adjoining have been given by others.

The hospital was the first in the empire to be run by women for women, and demands on its accommodation have steadily grown during the last 59 years. To mark its 60th year, it asks for a new lease on life. And to secure this it asks that every woman in the empire whose heart is touched by the appeal of the "Old Lady of Euston Road" (pet name of the hospital), invite a few friends to tea and collect a shilling from each.

The appeal comes directly to the press of Canada, to be passed on.

SEVENTH REGIMENT CHAPTER.

The fruit shower held this week by the Seventh Regiment chapter, I. O. O. E., to help fill the pantry of the War Memorial Children's hospital, proved a great success, and was received by the hospital authorities with delight.

Their frocks were all white, the lavender crepe de chine. Silver bands were worn in their hair, while their shoes and socks were white. MISS HELEN LITTLE MARRIED TODAY AT LOVELY HAZELDEN

Becomes Bride of Major Kenneth Ingram of This City.

GARDEN WEDDING

Hazelnden, stately country home of Mrs. J. W. Little, London township, was the setting for a pretty autumn wedding this afternoon, when her grand-daughter, Helen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Little, this city, became the bride of Major Kenneth Ingram, youngest son of Mrs. Ingram and the late Mr. L. H. Ingram, also of London.

Simplicity marked the whole event, which took place in the garden. Never did flowers at Hazelnden bloom so riotously as for these important nuptials. The ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. J. Bruce Hunter, took place before a bank of chrysanthemums and lilies, so arranged as to form an effective background for the bridal party. Autumn flowers everywhere lent their beauty to the event.

BOY SCOUTS AND GUIDES GIVE SPLENDID CONCERT

Christ Anglican Church Scene of Event—Farewell to Miss Connor.

A most successful concert was given last evening by the boy scouts and girl guides of Christ Anglican church. The event also took the form of a farewell for Miss Mary Connor, an active leader in guide work in the church, who leaves shortly to make her home in Hamilton.

Real scout-guide efficiency was shown in every phase of the program. The actor, Rev. Canon Gunne, acted as chairman and local guide officers were among the audience.

The attractive program opened with the "Flag" chorus and a demonstration of first aid, cleverly given by the guides. The Thatcher brothers did some good work in their colored dialogue and the Brownie song and yell was given very heartily by the little people, who also gave their enrollment ceremony, directed by Miss Margaret Harley Brown, provincial secretary for girl guides, and Miss Connor.

There followed the investiture of the boy scouts with their duty pins by Scoutmaster A. E. Berryhill, and a fine scout chorus. Camp fire songs, in which both scouts and guides took part, interested the onlookers, and the Brownies offered a delightful rainbow drill. Speeches were made by Rev. Canon Gunne, Scoutmaster Berryhill and Scoutmaster West of the St. John's troop.

MILITARY EFFECT PUT INTO FROCKS

Beaded Fringes and Crossover Skirts Are Very Smart.

By AILEEN LAMONT. Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Sept. 10.—Dimples have always been in demand but never more than in the new fall velour hats. For it is on the way the crown is dimpled and the brim is turned up or down that the chicness of such head gear depends. Many women can wear the same kind of velour hats but only twins should wear them alike in order to get the most effect from a form of head gear which is both smart and comparatively inexpensive.

A top sergeant of the A. E. F. used to amount to something in France. So did a chief petty officer of the navy with a lot of service stripes. Their influence is seen once again in one of the latest Parisian frocks imported here, which is of blue crepe de chine. The sleeves are loose with four hash knife stripes in white surmounted by three white chevrons.

The entire front of the skirt is formed of godets trimmed with broad white chevrons.

The rounded neckline is making the rounds in evening costumes. The latest décolletés are as deep as any V neck dars to be but the silver or gold metal slips down the front of the bodice and is worn as a two to four inches higher than the dress itself. A favorite skirt trimming of the evening frocks consists of long, fringed made of small beads, which make more disturbance for late latch key wielders than a creaky stair step.

The cross-over line is becoming as popular as 32nd street and Broadway for the wearers of skirts. Many of the newest instead of being draped at one side, this gives distinctly youthful effect and adds materially to the flare effects so generally desired.
