Sm.: Your paper is read in this far-out part of the province. We are anxious about an element of the city police to act and he had to get parties from outside the city. The disposal of the cases will be watched with much interest.

It is understood that Mr. Fenton will have several witnesses brought from London. A despatch from that city last night have several witnesses brought from Londoners.

The Grand.

Mr. Joseph Murphy last night closed to a packed house the most successful engagement he has ever played in Toronto. Shaun Rhue, the piece selected for last night, elicited much applause, and is the best play in his repertoire. As Shaun, Mr. Murphy has built himself a reputation and his appearance here will always be a signal for full houses.

The Foressor will occupy tife boards of the Grand to-night and to-morrow with a matinee on Saturday. This play is full of the most comical situations, and is made up of continual by-play, which creates roars of laughter from the beginning to end of the performance.
