

TEMPERANCE COLUMN.

Drunkness is a fearful thing. It robs human life in a thousand ways. It inflicts the agony of hell upon those who are as innocent as heaven. It fills the jails and the penitentiaries, and furnishes victims for the gallows. It blasts friendships, kills love, paralyzes hope. It fosters and transmits disease. It is the guardian devil of prostitution, of gambling, of all the lusts of flesh and spirit. Since the world began it has never made one man better, one woman purer, one home happier. It has never made a church member. It has never made a benefactor. It has never made a poet, or a statesman, or a scholar, or an inventor, or a musician. It has never assisted one devotee to wealth or luxury, or to the smallest comfort of surroundings. It has never given birth to one good impulse. It has been, is and will be an unmitigated, awful curse. For every good thing it has failed to accomplish it has furnished a bad thing. It has been an active force—one most incessantly active forces of civilization—and it has always led to crime, to misery, to tears, iron and chains and dungeons, to desperation, remorse, degradation, injustice and death.—Omaha World.
