up to this date. It is certainly our prerogative to point out the false assumptions and to challenge them. Now, chief among these false assumptions is the one which seems to underlie the whole letter, that there has been submitted to the arbitration of the President of the United States the question whether or not we had a right to establish a government in this country. Gentlemen!

I CHALLENGE THAT ASSUMPTION. The assumption is false in every respect. (Cheers and applause.) Let me briefly point out why. Two parties can make a contract, but requires the consent of three to make a valid arbitration, that of the two parties in interest and the arbitrator. The parties must clearly define the subject matter of the arbitration. It is absurd to contend that there could be any arbitration by inference or implication. First: has there been any issue framed? Has the Provisional Government submitted to the decision of anybody its right to exist? (Cries of "No, no.") Not one word or one act can be produced in support of that contention. Second: from what business things, a Government which started in revolution, though now the Government de jure as well as de facto, could not submit to the question of its own existence and its right to any arbitration because its right lay in its might. Having satisfied our consciences as to the justice of our cause we do not depend upon the arbitration of any other power. (Applause.) I brand as false the claim that we have put in issue the question whether or not we were proceeding legally in exercising our rights and robbing monarchy. (Great applause, cheers and cries of hear, hear.) Second. Has the President of the United States up to this point pretended to be an arbitrator or a judicial capacity? I say his acts do not justify that assumption. An arbitrator or a judge would not interfere with the existing status of the parties, but would immediately lower the American flag and thereby change the status of the parties (Cries of hear, hear.) That was not the act of a judge, gentlemen. Again, has he notified anybody that he was proceeding with a judicial investigation? Has he given any notice that he would be held on such a date? Has he notified anybody that witnesses were being examined? Has he given anybody an opportunity to cross-examine those witnesses or to confront them? Has he given anybody on our side the opportunity to be heard? (Cries of no, no, he never has.) Now, we do not need the legal knowledge of that distinguished Judge, who is now Secretary of State, to know that no arbitration would stand for a moment in law, however insignificant the matter, which was conducted ex-parte, without an opportunity to be heard, without an opportunity to be heard, without an opportunity to be heard, without an opportunity to be heard, without an opportunity to be heard.

THE HAWAIIAN SITUATION. Queen Liliuokalani Not Yet Restored to the Throne on the "Arawa" Sailing.

The Provisional Government and Their Press Indulge in Talk of War.

HONOLULU, H. I., Dec. 4.—Since the arrival of the steamer Warrimoo on the 24th ultimo, political events have followed each other with startling rapidity. The dispatches forwarded to the Associated Press by sailing vessels on November 19 and 22, have not fully anticipated the serious crisis Hawaii is now passing through in the most determined and heroic way. When the Warrimoo arrived with Cleveland's ultimatum the Royalists were jubilant and the annexationists at once began carrying out previous plans for forcible resistance in case the steamer China, which arrived three days later, brought instructions to Minister Willis for the restoration of the monarchy with the aid of United States troops from the warships Adams and Philadelphia.

Within twenty-four hours after the news brought by the Warrimoo was received, 1,600 determined annexationists had assembled on shore, showing that the drill of the barracks behind the Executive building. The meeting was short but wildly enthusiastic. The "SPIRIT OF SEVENTY-SIX" prevailed and those who heard the ringing cheers which welcomed the speech of President F. M. Hatch, of the Annexation club, and the presentations of the following resolutions knew that monarchy, even though restored by the superior forces of the United States, would be short-lived. Since the meeting the spirit of the following resolutions, which at first prevailed among the royalists, has been in a state of hourly fluctuation, and some of their clearest-headed leaders admit the success of restoration, present and future, depends upon the armed protection of the monarchy by the United States.

The following are the resolutions adopted by the mass-meeting on Saturday evening, November 25: "Resolved, that we have read with regret the recommendation of the Secretary of State of the United States to the President, to restore the monarchy lately existing in Hawaii." "Resolved, that we condemn the assumption of the Secretary that the right of the Provisional Government to exist was terminated by his refusal to re-submit to the Senate the treaty of union pending between the two countries; and also his assumption that the Provisional Government had at any time submitted the question of its continued existence to the arbitration of the President or of any other power." "Resolved, that we support to the best of our ability the Provisional Government in resisting any attack upon it that may be contrary to the usage of nations."

The adoption of the resolutions was preceded by speeches of many leading citizens, chief of which was that of F. M. Hatch, a leading lawyer and president of the Annexation club. Mr. Hatch said: "You have been invited to meet to-night to consider our present political situation. We are confronted by the declaration of Secretary Gresham that monarchy must be restored and our government destroyed. A kind providence has given us this opportunity to be heard before final action will be taken upon this issue. As present we are proceeding merely upon the newspaper reports, which have been received here and which certainly we have a right to discuss. We do not know what action will be taken, nor whether it will be taken by the President or by Congress. Certainly any action taken by the Congress of the United States of America cannot be resisted by anybody in this community. Let us not be misunderstood or misrepresented by hostile press reports that we do not meet here to-night to defy the power of the United States; that would be absurd, gentlemen; nor to vilify those at present in charge of the government of the United States. (Cries of "Hear, hear," and applause.) But we meet with the hope that our words will be heard by Congress before action is taken by the body. There are certain features in the letter of Mr. Gresham to the President which show that he is proceeding upon a false assumption. Let us hope that the distinguished Secretary has been misinformed written consent of the Provisional Government. This notice was served upon the foreign diplomatic corps in writing on the 29th of November, and is intended to be final from its date, pending after the arrival of the steamer Australia. The notice applies to the Japanese cruiser Naniwa, which arrived yesterday, and the Japanese Consul-General, Mr. Fuji, has privately announced that Japan would not interfere should war break out between the Provisional Government and other nations. The Naniwa will be neutral for the protection of the lives and property of Japanese residents. Active preparations both for DEFENSE AND AGGRESSION. If necessary, were begun the day after the arrival of the steamer China, which was hundred and fifty men were put to work fortifying the Executive building. The verandas on the four sides of the building were braced and wired with barbed wire and bags. The roof will be similarly treated. Companies of sharpshooters, all trained men, will occupy the four corners of the building and the verandas. The verandas thus far made will allow the Government to handle with great relative force from seven hundred to eight hundred troops for the purpose of holding and annihilating and stores have been provided to withstand a continuous attack for one month or more should hostilities break out. The water supply depends upon the water in the building is supplied by an artesian well on the grounds. The Government claims that with the support of the Annexation club and the military and naval forces of the United States, a formidable battery of gatlings, Maxims and Austrian field pieces now on hand, an aggressive movement

COULD BE MADE IF NECESSARY. That would be the case if the aggregate force of all the men who are at present in port, should a landing be made. In case a collision comes further aid will be sought from the other islands. In case of his intention to carry out Cleveland's instructions for the restoration of the monarchy, Minister Willis has notified the Provisional Government from the other islands. THE FINANCIAL CONDITION of the government continues to improve. The surplus has risen to $103,749.04, and the total cash resources on last Thursday were $272,959.68. But while the government's finances have not as yet suffered, and probably will not, as the taxes for the year are now flowing in, a great financial depression has resulted since the news arrived of Cleveland's ultimatum. Both the merchant and commercial circles have dropped in value and business generally has stagnated. Investments have ceased and there is no money to lend on any security. Capital is being withdrawn from the banks, and both local and foreign commerce will remain crippled so long as the present crisis and political dissipation continue.

THE UNITED STATES HOOVERISTS. The Queen was deluged through the presence of United States troops; they therefore restore the condition of affairs existing before the impolitic move on the part of the American representative, and let the inhabitants themselves decide their own fate. Quite possibly the Provisional Government will be resumed if the restoration of the monarchy is not then by justly accused of having lent aid to the accomplishment of a revolution.

powers to restore the monarchy; and they who have declared that if troops either of the United States or of Great Britain offer protection to the Queen, the representative of the country thus offending will be given his passports. "For all this and despite the tempest stirred up by the Provisional Government papers," says one passenger by the Arawa, "I don't think Honolulu will see any bloodshed. Yet the other portions of the population have let

THE AMERICANS DO ALL THE TALKING, and they are now becoming hysterical. Their declarations in the press and on the platform contain very much bluff and a liberal percentage of bombast. For instance, because a baritone of a few hundred sugar bags filled with sand has been placed about the Executive building verandas and there are there half dozen small field pieces, the Star contentedly observes that "with a sufficient supply of food and water, a garrison of five hundred men could hold the building against any force, and 'defy the onslaughting of the combined fleets.' The Provisional Government has notified the diplomatic corps that no troops will be allowed from the foreign warships without application to and written permission from the Provisional Government. Despite this fact, I am told that when two British residents called upon Minister Wodehouse on December 1 and asked him what

PROTECTION BRITAIN'S FLAG WOULD GIVE in the event of any fighting, they were told that troops from H.M.S. Champion would come ashore and form a hollow square about the legation or some other spot chosen as British headquarters, and all British subjects would be invited within the line and there protected. Guards would also be furnished to protect British property interests so long as there was force sufficient to do this."

THE IDEA IS GROWING here that Minister Willis will refuse to act, and will probably resign before he will carry out Cleveland's restoration policy. He refuses to be interviewed and at present writing it is not known from any hint or word he has dropped, either to the Provisional Government or elsewhere, what course he will pursue after the arrival of the Alameda, due here December 21 with Washington dispatches in answer to the application by that vessel for final instructions. Blount's report raised a furor of indignation in both annexation and royalist camps. The royalists denounce both Wundenberg and Colburn, and the annexationists claim the report is one sided and garbled. Minister Damon declares that only the direct questions, which Blount put to him and to which he answered, have been published and the entire balance of the long and seemingly friendly conversation which could throw a flood of light on the question has been evidently suppressed.
