

trouble and excitement, I longed to join my husband, and after having procured the money I required, I left New York for Brest, on December 28, on board the 'Ville de Paris.'