NOVEMBER 9 1912 Woman's Realm----the Household, Fashions and Society

Mrs. George Lambert Robinson of Beaumont road gave a large tea, followed by an evening reception, yesterday, to introduce her pretty young daughter, Miss Phyllis Sanford, who wore a Parisian frock, accordion pleated chiffon over satin with silver embroidery and pearls, and carried an armful of yellow roses tied with ribbon of the same shade. In the afternoon Mrs. Robinson wore a rose satin gown with pink roses and diamonds, and in the evening a costume of white satin and black tulle with diamond ornaments and gold embroidery. An orchestra was in attendance and masses of chrysanthemums decorated the cooms, while the polished tea table was centred with real lace and decorated with yellow orchids, violets and lily of the valley, the assistants being Mrs. W. P. Gundy, Mrs. Sandford Alley, Mrs. C. N. Candee, Mrs. Richard Greene, Miss Marjorie Mills, Miss Dorothy Sinclair, Miss Phyllis Henderson of Hamilton, and Miss Evelyn Parsons.

addition, the relative naval strengths of Britain, France and Germany will be exemplified by the "entente cordiale" and the German "menace." A feature which will specially appeal to the younger people is the experience of a boy from the time he leaves home to join the training ship until he is actually engaged in naval warfare. The exhibition is explained by a jecturer and will include musical features. Monday night will be the grand opening. Tuesday will be under the patronage of the Daughters of the Empire, Mrs. A. E. Gooderham, president; Wednesday the Empire Club; Thursday the British Empire League, and Friday the Overseas Club. Daily matinees will be given and popular prices will prevail.

was for the first season its only conductor. On the conclusion of the Montreal Opera Company's season last year he went to New York and on the occasion of the iliness of Signor Toscanini of the Metropolitan Opera House replaced him. In the spring he also conducted special engagements of Italian opera in San Francisco where he is a great favorite, as is also his wife, Mme. Ferrabini. It is interesting to note that both these artists made their first visits to America with d.stinguished Italian composers. Ferrabini's first appearances on this continent were as soloist in the tour of Leoncavallo, and Jacchia's as assistant conductor to Mascagni on his only visit to America.
