WILL PROF. ROBERTSON'S SCHEME PROVE FEASIBLE?

Many Steamship Men at Montreal are Dead Against It—Mr. Reford Says the Professor is a Theorist—The Plan has Already Been Tried and No Adequate Return Came.

Montreal, Feb. 14.—(Special)—Professor Robertson's scheme for the development of the dead meat trade in England, as outlined in The World a few days ago, does not meet with that favor here that one might expect, and, in fact, the steamship men are dead against it.

Mr. Robert Reford expressed himself as follows: Professor Robertson is a theorist in this matter, and his ideas are in the right direction, but, as I have written him, the country is not ready for the scheme. In fact, I do not have any hope for the cold storage either for fruits or meats.

Mr. Dr. Torrance of the Dominion Line: "I have no faith in it. When the Labrador was built, it was not ready for the scheme. In fact, I do not have any hope for the cold storage either for fruits or meats."

Mr. John Crow, a cattle shipper, said he did not think that the dead meat trade as a paying business was feasible here. He said that a great many people ran away with the idea that the big American firms make a great deal of money by exporting to Great Britain, but this was erroneous. About all they exported was the surplus; and their real profits arise out of their extensive trade throughout the United States. For instance, Swift & Co. kill about 3500 cattle per day, and they have about 120 shops selling their meats all over New England and, as a matter of fact, they do not export more than 100 cattle a week. Mr. Crow adheres to the belief that it is the live cattle trade that will pay best in this country. A dead meat scheme, he states, would cost the Government half a million dollars for six months' business, and then it would be a failure.

"We have not cattle enough," concluded the doctor, "in Canada to conclude the dead meat plan running six months. We have no fat cattle in winter, and I am in favor of the live stock trade for the reasons I have just given you."

Mr. Green: "I have considered Professor Robertson's scheme and am under the impression it would be a failure in Canada. I will tell you why. Our cattle killed in England are worth more per pound than dressed meat, and in winter time we have none to send in dressed meats. I do not think we could compete with the dressed meat establishments of Chicago."

ALL KINDS OF MISCREANTS.

The Colonel Baffles With a Number of Questions From a Highwayman—men Down to a Field Brand.

Hon. A. R. Dickey, Minister of Justice, occupied a seat on the bench before Judge Dickey yesterday's session of the Police Court.

The familiar names of James Lynch and Joseph Maroney were called again. The charge against them is one of highway robbery, preferred by John Mueller, an errand boy, who has shown an utter inability to approach a state of sobriety, when the case has been called on several previous occasions. Lynch only appeared, and told the court that Mueller had gone to South Africa. Mueller also failed to turn up, so there being no hope of conviction, the Colonel asked Lynch if he would go to South Africa. He was discharged. Lynch would not promise. After much amusement had been caused in court, the case was dismissed.

Harris Marks was sent down for 60 days for stealing 40 pounds of copper sheeting from South & Son, Queen-street east. It appears that Marks sought the police for help, and an employee of the firm, who pocketed the money himself. The price paid by Marks to Mueller was 3-1-2 cents per pound, and the copper was sold by Marks for 7 cents per pound. In his evidence, Mueller said that Marks knew the transaction was crooked, as he had helped him to secretly remove the metal after hours.

Dan Bradley, the man who raised a rumpus in the Public Library Thursday afternoon, was fined $5 and costs 50 days.

The boarding house thief, Fred Peterson, who pleaded guilty to charges of larceny preferred by D'Arcy Hinder, A. R. McGregor and Miss Francis, was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison.

William McManis was convicted of stealing a purse and $10, which was dropped by Mrs. W. H. Johnston at the market, and sentence was deferred till Monday.

The case of illegal liquor selling against the proprietor of the Duke's Hotel, Adelaide-street east, was adjourned for further evidence.

While George Wythe was on a spree he ran away with a horse and belonging to Joseph Kerwin. Wythe was fined $5 and costs 30 days for being drunk. Mr. Kerwin refused to lay a charge of theft against the young man.

Roland Smith was remanded till Tuesday on the charges of embezzlement preferred by the Athletic Life Publishing Company.

For cruelty to a horse, William Sully was fined $2 or 10 days.

The Public School Contract. The Supply Committee of the Public School Board spent six hours in deliberating over the terms for supplying the school with books. The committee, consisting of Messrs. W. J. Gage & Co. got the lion's share of the contracts, having secured those for new text books amounting to $42,731; for commercial forms, etc., at $887; for drawing books, at $864; and for 254 day books, at $449, and for blank paper, at $872.

Selby & Co. secured the contract for wrapping paper, twine and book covers, at $205; Copp, Clark & Co. for blank books, at $223.25; and for envelopes, at $11.15. The Berlin School Supply Co. that for pointers, at $7. In all cases the contract was given to the lowest bidder.

The Coming Show House. All indications tell of the wonderful success scored by the Clapp Shoe Co. since their removal to 212 Yonge-street. This success is much in evidence inside or outside the store. Crowds are found studying the windows and immense outside displays at almost any hour in the day.

Just now piles of cases grow up on the street like a twining vine, the outcome of a recent purchase of a thousand cases of American boots at about one-half factory prices. Inside the spacious store is always busy, and it would not be easy to find such an enormous assortment of footwear anywhere else within the walls of a Canadian retail store. The management is noted alike for their energy in business and courtesy to buyers.

The Case of Thomas McGreevey, M.P., and Urban Soudier of St. John's. Both in the same boat, and like Messrs. Free Boat.

The member in the House of Commons for Quebec—Mr. Thomas McGreevey—has in his life time found himself in more than one tight place, but with native shrewdness has been able to free himself. Among other things that have troubled him is catarrh, but in the use of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, he has been able to rid himself of this trouble. Mr. Soudier of St. Louis, Que., pronounces this remedy a "precious preparation."

The Best Heart and Brain of the Country the Victims. Thoughtful people everywhere are asking themselves the question, What is coming over the race, with the alarmingly growing prevalence of heart disease? This is not the place to search for the cause. The immediate matter is to know the remedy. This is, without any doubt, found more surely in that great discovery of the present century—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart—than anywhere else. One dose of it will give relief in minutes, and in one or two bottles will remove the disease. Let any one who has the slightest fluttering of the heart, or who is troubled by the disease, guard themselves, against possible fatality by using this medicine.

FOOLISHNESS OF TAMPERING WITH EFFECTIVE REMEDIES. Necessity of a Good Solvent to Cure Kidney Disease—Secure Relief in Six Hours. A burnt child dreads the fire, and prejudice against many a good article is born of disappointment in using an inferior article. Bright's Disease, Diabetes, and all disorders of the kidney are known to every physician to arise chiefly from the presence of lime and solids in the blood. These solids must be dissolved. Pills now sold will not do this, but a liquid medicine, a perfectly and thoroughly tested solvent like South American Kidney Cure, immediately goes to the seat of the trouble, dissolves the solid substances and will give relief in the worst cases of kidney disease in the shortest time. Employing his own used for a reasonable length of time will cure the worst forms of this dreaded disease.

RHEUMATIC PAINS VANISHED LIKE MAGIC. A Dozen Boxes of Pills Failed to Help a Well-Known Citizen of Antwerp to Walk. A Few Doses of South American Kidney Cure Brought Relief. The almost instantaneous relief that comes from the use of South American Kidney Cure finds its best illustration in the case of Mr. Theophrastus, an Antwerpian, who has suffered intensely from rheumatism. Employing his own language: "I had taken several boxes of medicines, but found no benefit from them. I took a dozen boxes of a pill advertised to cure rheumatism, but no help. Before I had taken half a bottle of South American Kidney Cure I found very great benefit, and a little further perseverance banished all together this terribly painful trouble."

Chas. M. Henderson & Co. Sales. Attention is called to the latest and most complete auction sales under the management of Mr. Charles M. Henderson & Co. Parties requiring the services of this firm should give early notice.

What the Schools Cost. The accountants of the Public School Board are busily engaged in preparing the annual statement of the board's affairs.

The yearly balance last year shows a total expenditure for 1895 of $414,124. Of this sum $23,539.35 went for salaries, and the balance for supplies, repairs, etc. The building expenditure was $57,075.35 additional.

Edison's Only Mistake. The great electrician has made one great mistake. He thinks the new process of photography is the only means to cure all diseases. He evidently is not acquainted with the quality of the photographic process, which is guaranteed to cure Rheumatism, Indigestion, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Kidney Disease, and all other troubles arising from the inaction of the bowels, kidneys or liver. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. D. Says: "For years I have been nervous and weakly. I took one bottle of South American Kidney Cure and Iron Pills, and am now quite well and strong."

BARGAINS.

Although this is usually a dull season of the year, our prices are drawing business and we are consequently as busy as nailers.

We are bound to reduce our stock in Toronto to the lowest possible dimensions before April 15th. Remember this is a genuine moving sale. The unsold portion of our Toronto stock will be shipped to Montreal and our business as far as carrying a stock is concerned will then be consolidated in that City.
