PICTURES For Your Home

In planning the purchase of a picture do not do with the idea of simply filling a space on a wall.
Select a subject that is harmonious with the surroundings, and from an artist of high standing, and then you will find your investment not only one of money, but also one of pleasure.

CAPT. M. W. PLUNKETT AND HIS FAMOUS "DUMBELLS" WILL BE SEEN TWICE TODAY AT THE GRAND.

The famous "Dumbells" who met with such successful receptions in every city in which they appeared last season, are again scoring big with London patrons in their second edition of the musical extravaganza "Bliss! Bliss! Bliss!" Monday evening saw the Grand taxed to capacity when the famous Princess Pats held a military night to greet their former comrades in the soldier cast of this tuncful and rollicking musical show. Tuesday evening saw a repeat, while the matinee today bids promise of the S. R. O. sign being hung up again and the "Dumbells" should play to a record audience during their week's engagement in London. The production is all new, and those who were so fortunate as to see the "Dumbells" last season will do well to take in the present vehicle and afford another evening's entertainment at the hands of the talented and versatile "Dumbells" as Marjorie, worth one's admission price alone. Her personality and wealth of display of gowns is one of the bright features of the production not mentioning the talent and ability possessed. There will be a special bargain matinee today at 2:15 and every seat in the popular playhouse should be filled. To those who are anxious of seeing "Bliss! Bliss! Bliss!" early reservations are in order as the seat sale for the remaining performances is in the hopes of hanging up a record for the week in attendance. Every evening for the balance of the week with a special popular Saturday matinee.

"SAN TOY" COMES TO THE GRAND MONDAY NEXT.

A theatrical offering of more than usual brightness is the "San Toy" importation of the famous London Gaiety success. "San Toy," for three days, with special popular Wednesday matinee. This is undoubtedly the biggest musical attraction ever brought to this country from England and its presentation here has been made possible only through the linkages of the Trans-Canada Theatricals, Limited, whose policy it is to give Canadians a generous supply of the principal successes of the English stage. Mr. Whyte's return of "San Toy" has been made upon an elaborate scale and no expense has been spared to make it the outstanding feature of an unusually promising theatrical season. Seats go on sale tomorrow at 5 a.m.

AT THE ALLEN.

That famous American beauty, Katharine Macdonald, is even more beautiful than ever in her newest picture, "The Notorious Miss Lisle," which is showing at the Allen for the last time today. Miss Macdonald's beauty is a type that looks just as alluring and appealing with any background, and the unique settings provided for her in this story, set her charms off like a well-chosen frame enhances a beautiful picture. The scenes of quaint old Brittany, with its ancient hostels, and rockbound coasts and its picturesque of Paris, the lovely old homes of England's country aristocracy, all these provide the perfect tapestry of backgrounds that make the jewel of Miss Macdonald's loveliness shine forth in "The Notorious Miss Lisle."

THE BIG EVENT, "TREASURE ISLAND."

The big event of the season, one which you will count the days by, that is the way you will think of the special film presentation of "Treasure Island," which is to be shown at the Allen tomorrow, Friday and Saturday. The story, the throbs of the sea, the hair-raising excitement of adventures on the Spanish main, the intrigues on the good ship Hispaniola, and desperate encounters in the treasure stockade. There is hardly a person literary or otherwise who has not read this greatest of all adventure books, and there is hardly a person who when they see "Treasure Island" will not thrill again and twice over as they follow the adventures of Jim Hawkins, Long Tom Silver and Black Dog, in their quest for Spanish gold. "Treasure Island" although it appeals especially to children, is as much for adults as the child, a story for all those from 9 to 90, who still have the spark of adventure and romance burning brightly in them.

PEARL WHITE PICTURE ENDS ITS RUN TONIGHT.

Pearl White, who has thrilled countless houses the past two days at Loew's Theatre in her big special, "The White Moll," presented by William Fox, will bring her engagement to a close tonight. Written by Frank L. Packard, author of "The Miracle Man," the story of "The White Moll" carries an even stronger appeal than that noted production.
