THREW DOWN POLE AND THEN SIGNED UP
Point Shifter at Bay Street Promptly Responded to Appeal of "Buffs."

During a one-hour recruiting meeting held on the city hall steps last night, the 18th Buffs Battalion, composed of 100 men, was organized under the direction of Major E. M. Watts. Stirling patriotic airs were played by the Buffs Brass Band and forceful recruiting appeals were made by several returned soldiers, including Lance Corporal O'Neill of the 10th, who fought at Ypres with the 8th Battalion; Sergeant Corbier of the 134th Highlanders, and Sergeant J. B. Andrews, who won fame in the Buffs with the 3rd Battalion.

That the meeting was a magnetic one is shown by the fact that the recruiting appeal, which was made by the Buffs' recruiting officer, W. H. M. Mountain, on duty at the corner of Bay and Queen streets, with his long iron switch pole, he walked right up to the door of the city hall and asked to be signed up. An officer offered to take the pole and the switching while the man, who was enrolling the recruit, assured him that the cars knew how to take the curve.

Funeral in the evening the Buffs held another recruiting rally at the corner of Broadview and Queen street, Leuts, W. Dean and H. Booth being the speakers.
