

SUNDERLAND MEETS BURNLEY TODAY

Other Important Matches Carded For The English and Scottish Leagues

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The League leaders meet the tail-enders in Saturday's scheduled contests in the first division of the English football association and Burnley, whose condition is extremely perilous, travels to Sunderland. From every angle the game, so far as the leaders are concerned, is already over and the question remaining is by what number of goals will Sunderland win. This, at least, is the attitude of the fans in county Durham and the performances of their team certainly justify their confidence. It has to be taken into consideration, of course, the fact that Sunderland has lately given indications of slowing up. Their game has not the sparkle that featured it earlier in the season, and they are finding it more and more difficult to make the grade towards decisive contests. They have drawn their last two games, with Liverpool and Burnley, but logically this would serve only to spur them towards registering a heavy win against Burnley since no better opportunity will again be offered.

from the "Thread town" has been a strong and an interesting feature of Scottish League play, both Paisley and Motherwell having come forward this season by virtue of hard and consistent effort. Paisley have not dropped a game since their first defeat of the season, that administered by Rangers at Ibrox Park on Sept. 19. Since then they have run into a series of successes, checked upon by the draw they had taken from Cowden Heath two weeks ago. Motherwell are expected to ring up another two points after the game with Raith Rovers, but just how far the absence of Ferguson, who was transferred this week to Cardiff City, will affect their play is a question that is being canvassed.

Celtic journey to Aberdeen to fulfil their engagement. A great burst of speed was displayed by the Celtic at the beginning of the season, and strangely enough their first defeat did not come until the humble Dundee United took them into camp at Tannadice Park. Since then—Sept. 19—Celtic have dropped two more, one to Airdrie and the other to Rangers.

When Harold appeared at his own party in his brand new Tuxedo, hot off the tailor's pressing board, all was not so good as it seemed to be! Due to the peculiar dizzy spells with which the college tailor was afflicted, Harold was forced to attend the Fall Frolic in a $98.50 tuxedo that was only basted together. And any home dressmaker can tell you that basting is a form of sewing not to be boasted about! The strain Harold put upon his basted suit, the efforts of the tailor to keep him sewed into his clothes, and Harold's efforts to avoid detection and keep away from the co-ed happens long enough to get a few stitches in time to prevent a social error supply some of the fun for "The Freshman." Harold Lloyd's newest comedy feature at the Imperial, starting Monday.
