NOT PLEASED WITH MODIFICATIONS

Some London Papers on Balfour's Speech.

Misgivings and Disappointment, Says Westminster Gazette—Hon. Mr. Asquith Speaks of U. S. Proposals.

London, Nov. 16.—(Canadian Press)—The modifications to the United States disarmament proposals, suggested before the conference at Washington by Arthur J. Balfour, head of the British delegation, have met with a varied reception at the hands of the press.

The Westminster Gazette says that his statement gives cause for the "very gravest misgivings and disappointment," and proceeds to note in particular his suggestion that the programme of battleship replacement be carried on from year to year to save armament works from total destruction.

"The suggested reservation," it says, "amounts to a proposal that we keep alive not only the vested interests of war, but the whole spirit and tradition of naval competition as a sacred flame, ready to burst into full blaze the moment the holiday is over.

"The best hope for the world is that this specification plan will go to rot and that the end of a decade it may seem worth nobody's while to have it put into order again."

The Daily News says regarding the suggestion that replacement be permitted continuously on a fixed scale.

"This seems a dangerous breach of the whole conception of a naval holiday, which might well prove fatal to the United States plan."

It believes that the British public would support an absolute embargo on submarines.

The most antagonistic of the morning papers is the Morning Post, which dilates on Great Britain's exceptional position in the need to protect all lines of communication. Britain and her dominions, it says, must be able to help one another across the oceans unhindered. Ships can always be built upon occasion, it adds, and what is required is to remove the occasion for war and in the solution of that difficulty resides the main purpose of the Washington conference.

The Telegraph strongly favors the idea mentioned by Mr. Balfour of banning submarines, but thinks it is a point for consideration whether the matter should be pressed at the present stage. On the whole, it considers Mr. Balfour's suggestion that the programme of battleship replacement be carried on from year to year to save armament works from total destruction.

Did this ever happen to you?

Men in public life continue to express favorable opinions on the general principles of the United States proposal.

Prominent among these is former Prime Minister Asquith, leader of the Liberal party, who in a speech here yesterday declared that it was with unspoken relief that the people of Britain read the accounts of what had transpired in Washington.

He said that in the course of a single week a longer step had been taken in advance than in the whole last three years. The proposals advanced by the United States, he added, would be received with unanimity by all the nations of the world as a means of escaping from the burdens of armament.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

A prominent physician says that by far the largest number of women's ailments are not surgical ones, that is they are not caused by serious displacements, or growths. Symptoms similar in character are often brought about by much simpler conditions. We therefore urge every woman who suffers from back-ache, headaches, bearing down pains, side ache, irregularities, nervous despondency, or weakness to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It acts as a natural restorative and often prevents more serious troubles.

INDIANS OF NEW YORK STATE DISCUSS CITIZENSHIP ISSUE

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 16.—Representatives of six Indian nations discussed at the Autumn council of the New York State Indian Welfare Society here the question whether New York Indians would improve their condition by becoming citizens of the state. The nations represented were Tuscarora, Mohawk, Onondaga, Oneida, Cayuga and Seneca.

A. C. Parker, state archaeologist, a Seneca, responding to an address of welcome, referred to the formation in the sixteenth century of the league of peace among the Indians in the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence regions.

"The Indians made a better job of it than the European diplomats did," he said. The Rev. Louis Brassé criticized the government educational system on the Indian reservations.

YALE USES MOTION PICTURES OF CREWS AS COACHING AID

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 16.—The idea of "teaching ourselves as others can see us" is the latest method of finding the flaws and learning correct stroking of the Yale crews. Yesterday afternoon crew practice was featured by Head Coach Cordey having ultra-low motion pictures taken of the first and second shells in action. The first time Yale has taken advantage of the "movies" in any athletic training. The films will be shown before a gathering of the crews and criticism made on the form displayed.

SIR A. MACPHAIL SHOT AND WOUNDED

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Sir Andrew Macphail, eminent surgeon and professor at McGill University, was shot through the shoulder at his office in Peel street here this afternoon by Louis Ogulnik. Ogulnik then put a bullet into his own head, dying instantly.

Sir Andrew was taken to a hospital, where it is reported that he is not seriously injured.

The only other occupant of the Macphail office at the time of the shooting was Annie Johnson, a clerk. She told the police that Ogulnik came to the office and asked to see Sir Andrew. She admitted him and the moment Sir Andrew saw him he ordered him out of the place. Sir Andrew after this went into luncheon. While he was at his meal Ogulnik came back and demanded to see him. The girl told him he could not at the moment and Ogulnik said he would wait.

The girl then went out. Some time later she heard a shot fired. Almost immediately Sir Andrew rushed into a rear room and closed the door. The girl heard several shots fired. Sir Andrew asked her to get assistance. She ran out into the street and had to go half a mile before she got a policeman.

Girl Returns.

She returned to the office and when the officer cautiously opened the front door with his revolver in his hand ready to shoot, Ogulnik's body was found in the hall.

Ogulnik was a next door neighbor of

HASTLY AUTO RECORD.

Toronto, Nov. 16.—There have been more automobile fatalities on the streets of this city in the past four months than in the first six months of the year. There were eight motor-car deaths in October of this year, as against nine in October, 1920, and five in October, 1919.

The automobile death record just issued by the Safety League shows a total of forty-one fatalities in the ten months of 1921 on Toronto streets, an average of four a month. In the first ten months of 1920 there were fifty-seven automobile deaths and forty-three in 1919.
