Expect Intervention

London, Oct. 31.—Whatever the result of the great battle now being fought between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies in the eastern part of the Balkan peninsula, the conclusion will probably give occasion for the intervention of the European powers.

It is also understood in diplomatic quarters in London that the Balkan nations have already made known in an unofficial manner that they are prepared to accept intervention by the powers at any moment now.

Special despatches from Constantinople say that the Turkish army, which is now bearing the brunt of the battle with the Bulgarians, has been reinforced by four army corps.

The centre of the Turkish army is composed of picked troops, chiefly regulars, as the reserves have been responsible in the opinion of the Turkish war office, for most of the defeats suffered so far by the Turkish troops, owing to their inability to panic.

It is reported in Constantinople that another Turkish force has crossed the river Maritza in the direction of Demotica to cover the approach of further troops from the west down the Arda valley.

It is said that the Turkish government has decided to send out the Ottoman fleet to open a passage for Turkish transports through the Aegean Sea to Saloniki and Delvina.

Steps are being taken by the Turkish office to improve the supply service of the army at the front.

The first air victim of the war, a Russian aviator named Popoff, who was an instructor of aviation in the Russian army.
