IMPORTANT MATTER FOR GRAND JURY

Need of Place Where Juvenile Offenders May Be Sent

SUGGESTION OF FARM

Judge Forbes Asks That Matter be Presented to Government—Two Cases on Criminal Side of County Court—Eighteen New Citizens

The quarterly session of the county court opened this morning at 11 o'clock in the court house, His Honor Judge Forbes presiding. Indictments against William McArthur, charged with escaping from the jail gang on January 27 and George Stanton and Harry Stone charged with breaking and entering Emerson & Fisher's store were presented to the grand jury. C. J. Coster, K. C., appeared for the crown and E. E. Logan and J. B. M. Baxter, K.C., for Harry Stone. E. S. Ritchie appeared for Stanton.

The Docket

Criminal. The King vs. William McArthur, escape. The King vs. Harry Stone and George Stanton, breaking and entering.

Non-Jury

L. Louis F. Dufrene vs. Amadeo Guimond et al—W. B. Wallace, K. C. attorney.

Jury

O. D. Hanson vs. John Rolichaud—H. J. Smith, attorney.

The Grand Jurors are—Fred C. MacNeill, Frank J. Laloy, Robert G. Haley, Gordon Hevenor, John T. McGowan, Charles H. Gibson, Joshua Ward, Robert Magee, Wm. A. Munro, Geo. H. McLaughlin, Robert J. Armstrong, Robert T. Warden, Thomas Gorman, John Spillan, John Magee, John Hornbrook, Burtace Barnes, Thomas H. Linton, Kendall Hall, G. Wilford Campbell, J. Edmund Seaward, Alfred L. Dodge, Edward L. Rising and John R. Vaughan. Robert M. Magee was selected as foreman.

The petit jurors are—N. Louis Brennan, Charles E. Belyea, Justin G. Lako, F. McDonald, Richard H. W. Rowley, Harry S. McLaughlin, Marshall Armstrong, Charles M. Hoyt, E. B. Johnston, Joseph P. Quinn, F. William Kaye, Thomas L. Murphy, Andrew W. Emery, Harry M. Floyd, Henry C. Green, George H. Plummer, Sidney Gibbs, Wm. V. Hatfield and Wm. C. Magee.

His Honor stated that he had received several applications to be excused from service on the petit jury. Men would be excused only by proper certificate.

Judge Forbes remarked on the new electroliers painted walls, table tops, etc., which had improved the appearance of the court room.

W. H. Harwood read the naturalization papers of Philip Goldstein, Benjamin Levine, Alex. Shiano, Jacob Warsaw, Abraham Drebin, Samuel Levine, David Cherry, Henry Goff, Louis Harwitz, Myer Perchok, Louis Baxt, Leonard Shane, Lazar Bellif, Jacob Herrett, Maurice Pine, Aaron Tenzman, Samuel Goldfeiner, Harry Gikstein.

Judge Forbes' Address

His Honor, on charging the grand jury, took up the case of the King vs. McCarty, accused of escaping from the chain gang. He said that he did not think they would have much difficulty in finding a true bill. His Honor then commented on the case of the King vs. Harry Stone and George Stanton. He drew attention to the serious nature of the charge. The defendants were accused of breaking and entering the store of Emerson & Fisher, and evidence was that they took revolvers and loaded them with ball cartridges, which showed disposition on their part to defend themselves if discovered. The jury would have no difficulty in finding a true bill.

His Honor then referred to the need of legislation to provide a proper place to which to send juvenile offenders. Children from eight to twelve years are brought before him charged with truancy and similar offences. There was no place to send these children, but the reformatory, where they would be assisted with criminals and come out worse than when they went in. His Honor regarded it as a crime, but there was no way for him to escape his duty. The government should provide some farm away from the city and its influence, where they could be trained in useful habits, where they could see the green fields and chickens which would bring out their finer instincts. He would like the jury to take this matter up in committee and make some recommendations to the government, whereby these children might be saved, and become useful members of society.

His Honor congratulated the jury that so many of them had such a sense of their responsibility as to attend to discharge their duty to their king and country. The jury had not returned at 1 o'clock, and the court adjourned until 2.30.

WENT ACROSS CANADA

In the school room of St. James' church last evening before the members of the Young Men's Athletic Club, the pastor, Rev. H. A. Cody, delivered a highly interesting and eloquent lecture on a trip from St. John to Vancouver, B. C. The address was illustrated with 100 magnificent views, showing pictures of the large centres along the route, the prairies, Rocky mountains, irrigation canals, and numerous other scenes all of which were much enjoyed.

Mr. Cody, in a concise and pleasing manner, described the points of interest en route, taking his large audience across the prairie, pointing out the particular features which would impress themselves upon the mind of the traveler, and dealing at some length with the municipal management of some of the western cities.

He also told of their growth, and compared the methods of living and the advantages in the east and in the west. In 1871, he said, the village of Winnipeg had a population of about 100, while the city now glories in numbering its population at 120,000. Montreal, Quebec, Fort William, Calgary, Victoria, and Vancouver also came in for their share of attention, and on the whole the lecture proved decidedly interesting to an audience which crowded the school room.
