Somewhere in town there's someone who wants the "un-used" things you don't want, and, as this paper goes nearly everywhere, the chances are you would quickly find a buyer through the "For Sale" ads.
It's extravagance to neglect the use of the "Boarders Wanted" ads, when you have vacant places at your table.

The General

By REM A. JOHNSTON.

Yet, as he read a wave of indignation and scorn tingled hotly through him. This, then, explained it all. This was why teacher had the white, sick look. Her "stiddy," who was the superintendent, was "a turnin' of her down"—in words of many scotchmen whose entire meaning was hazy to the General because they had dropped out of the dictionary just as Constantinople had lost itself of the map.

The last sentences, however, were quite easy to understand. "And so, dearest," Jimmy spelled, with discontent, "the past is all that will remain to either of us. Feeling as we both do about the matter it would be folly to continue the engagement."

The old mule, disapproved Jimmy.
Then he turned the racer over and put his private mark (which was an outline head with an ugly leer on the lips) on it to show that he had read and did not voice the sentiment.

It was the superintendent who first heard the howling of the mob and the rattle of galloping horses, racing under the lash; it was the superintendent, too, running as if death were at his heels who saw the black vomit of smoke from the basement below Rooms One and two at the front of the building; and it was the superintendent, dizzy with fear for the hundreds of children swinging out of the doomed building, who stopped the "all out" cry of the frenzied, because he discovered that Somebody's room was not out, and Somebody nowhere to be found.

The hour of the superintendent's passion had come. In that brief moment which lies between hope and dire possibility a new aspect of his soul was born. All that he had thought or guessed about himself was reversed in one mighty sweep of destiny. After he knew how dear to his heart was the little face of the girl in Room Eight.

Circling the campus once more he learned that beyond doubt Miss Wilson and her children were still in the building. To the big entrance, now spitting smoke and gas, he darted, thrusting aside detaining hands as he ran.

Meanwhile the General had been teaching. The sweet authority so long denied was apparently his to make the most of—and he scrupled not to take advantage of his opportunity.

So observant were the children that had it not been for the little Roberts girl who sat near the window and could see the street, the horror of the moment might have been increased.
"Gin'ral," a thin voice cried, "they're a big crowd outside—they's smoke, Gin'ral—th' schoolhouse is on fire."

A magic thrill of terror stopped the laughter on the little faces. As if to conform her fears the street began to sound with strong cries and the hammering of many gongs. Panic was in the air outside and would soon be in the room. Instinctively Jimmy turned to the door, for it must be admitted that his first impulse was to run.

ORCHESTRA AT "STAR" AGAIN
TONIGHT

Over in North End the people are being treated to a regular New York show in the cosy and clean Star Theatre. Last evening the crowds were taken for a jaunt in the Land of the Hindu, those brown subjects of King Edward whom the British Columbia people are trying to keep out of Canada. There were four other good pictures as well as some excellent songs by Miss Colyer, the refined soprano, who has created a lot of most complimentary comment already. The Star's matinees are headquarters for ladies and children and in the evening it is capacity business. Professional orchestra tonight.

NICKELS NEW I & L A WINNER

Although it was rainy and cold the Nickel enjoyed most liberal patronage yesterday afternoon and evening. The big Festival programme being the attraction. It was the second of the special anniversary bills and it was nothing it was more enjoyable than the first. In the evening the Festival Orchestra of twelve professional musicians played magnificently and were accorded rounds of applause for their musical and popular numbers. The Talking Picture Co. in the slum-drama, "A Salvation Army Lass," proved their abilities in the stronger line of playing and the realistic effects introduced made a distinct hit. Miss Edwards and Mr. Courtials were generously applauded for their splendid solos and duet, and today the former will render that popular number, "Spring Is Here," while Mr. Courtials' selection is "Love's Token." The special pictorial feature of the list for today is Ed-son's reproduction of the Midwinter Carnival in Montreal last February, with additional scenes on the frozen St. Lawrence and in the vicinity of Montreal. There are three other pictures.

PRINCESS HAS FINE VAUDEVILLE

The weather was kind of stormy last night for many people to be out, but nevertheless large crowds were in attendance at every performance. The vaudeville acts came in for a very good share of the applause. The Buskins in particular are good. The part where the messenger boy blows Flanagan up is a cream, as is also when he is looking for the place where he was shot. Gilbert Savoy as the Giddy Old Maid kept the large audience in roars of laughter. This is the most unique act ever seen at this house.
The pictures for today are good. The feature being "The Tell Tale Botter," a highly dramatic subject from the Essay studio. Mr. T. A. B. Wat-ter is singing "Ibide" in his usual excellent manner. There is bound to be bumper houses at every performance tonight, so if possible be early.

WIDOW NUMBER ONE
GETS NOTHING

Suit to Break Will in Favor of Number Two Unsuccessful—Big Clean Up at Gough's.

TORONTO, April 14.—Agnes Wilson Warnock, widow No. 1 of James Gregory Warnock, of Brockville and Ottawa, has been defeated today in her appeal to the divisional court from Chief Justice Falconbridge, who at the Brookville trial dismissed her action for the will made by Warnock a few hours before he died. Chief Justice Meredith said it was impossible to find that the trial judge had erred. Though the will might be unjust and inadequate in accordance with the man's last years. The will bequeathed $5,000 each to the four daughters born to Agnes Warnock and residing to Eva Warnock, wife No. 2, whom he married some months before his death.

On the playground Jimmy is still called "The General," and the title has extended even further; but in Superintendent Denton's home there is one who names him the fire-though the boy does not even dream of it.

SCARPS.

If we sit down at set of sun, And count the things that we have done,
And counting find
One self-denying act, one word That eased the heart of him that heard One glance most kind,
That felt the sunshine when it went,
Then we can count the day well spent.

THE BLUE SKY

The blue sky which reveals itself as the hemisphere vault of the firmament in the absence of clouds in the far depths of the air sending back to the observer some part of the solar illumination which they receive. The light thus returned to the eye is "blue" simply because the particles of the air are of such exceedingly diminutive size that they can effectively deal with only the smallest of the luminous vibrations—that is with the "blue" in-fragments. There are a few faint interferences of the other colored rays in the blue of the sky, but they are in such trifling quantity that the blue swallows them up.
