FIRE AT TRURO.

$30.000 Blaze in the Opera House Block.

Names of Firms Affected and the Amount

TRURO, N. S., Oct. 1.—October was ishered in this morning by a thirty thousand dollar fire in the thickest ousiness block of the town. At eight o'clock an alarm called the fire br.gade out, to find Gunn's opera block in flames. The building is a total loss and the stock in the stores on the first flat will be damaged about 50 per cent. Last night the liberals held a political meeting in the Opera hall, address by Dr. Kendall, M. P., A. B. Copp, M. P. P., Dr. Ben. Russell, M. P., Hon. D. failure, and the joke goes around town this morning that the speeches were so warm they inspired the flames. The fire started on the second flat behind the stage, and is supposed to have caught from a discarded cigar stub or a match thrown away after lighting a pipe. It was evidently burning all night, for the inside of the building was a mass of flames when discovered this mornig. Six streams of water soon got the blaze under control, though the roof had already fallen in. The building adjoining on each side of the Opera block, occupied by Phillips the clothler, Angus & Pollock, grocers and goods, are uninjured, though stocks will be very slightly damaged by water and smoke. There were five stores on the lower flat of the block occupied by Fraser, Fraser & Co., gent's furnishings; A. B. Cox

MAN'S VOICE IN THE HAREM.

(H. E. Armstrong in Ainslee's.) "Perhaps the strangest place where the American graphaphone has found a welcome is the harem of the unspeakable Turk. No man may enter there except the lord and master, but he has graciously permitted the voice of man to be heard in the marvelous American talking machine. 'No entertainer,' says an American resident of Constantinople, 'was ever so popular as the graphophone, although the harem has always been well supplied with musical instruments. For a long time, as I am informed by a dealer, it was not clearly understood why so many more graphophones per capita were used in Turkey than in countries where the monogamous marriage is in vogue, and where the prevailing ethics sanction intercourse among ladies and gentlemen.'
