THE FASHION PARADE

AT F. A. DYKEMAN'S UNDER AUSPICES OF Y.W.P.A.

Novel Patriotic Enterprise Undertaken by Young Women's Patriotic Society—
Large Crowds Were Attracted
Last Evening.

The success of the Fashion Parade held at F. A. Dykeman & Company's store on Charlotte street last evening was assured through the presence of such large crowds that not only the show rooms upstairs but the whole lower floor had to be cleared to accommodate those who wished to attend. It was a decidedly novel method of earning money which was undertaken by members of the Y. W. P. A. and the successful showing of the many handsome costumes of their disposal makes it plain that this society are as versatile as they are energetic. The stores of F. A. Dykeman & Co. were suitably decorated for the occasion, the windows being especially artistic. A lattice work trellis was festooned with wisteria in Autumnal shades, and jars of shaggy asters were placed beneath the trellis. Harrison's orchestra rendered selections during the evening in the fine show rooms on the upper floor. A most interested crowd stood down stairs, as it was not possible for all to be accommodated upstairs. F. A. Dykeman welcomed his guests in a short speech, telling of his long business career in this city (twenty-six years last April), and speaking in a complimentary strain of the patriotic endeavors of the Y. W. P. A. He spoke of the gown to be shown this year for their simplicity and suitability. No feature was made of evening dresses, for it was realized that they are not in demand. Mr. Dykeman referred to the fact that his goods were as far as possible made in Canada, and that this was something of which he was very proud. At the close of the address the parade began, and from that time till a clock attractive models displayed charming gowns, coats and suits. Several of the young ladies taking part entered into the idea so thoroughly that critics remarked a fashion show had not been seen better carried out in New York or Boston. The pretty hats worn which looked as if they had been made expressly for the costumes were loaned by Mary's Millinery store. J. F. Nichols, the sales manager, had charge of the arrangements for the parade and overlooked every detail. Many accessories which were used such as hand bags, work bags, labrets and furs were the goods belonging to the store. The young ladies taking part in this Fashion Show were: Miss Lois Grimmer, convener; Miss North Dood; Miss Eileen Courtney; Miss Louise Sheldon; Miss Katherine Murdoch; Miss Elsie Nevins; Miss Genevieve Killam; Miss Muriel Corkery; Miss Bernice Cilmo; Miss Alice Hatch; Miss Jennie Burns; Miss Gladys Travis. Assisting were Misses Jessie and Helen Church, Miss Charlotte Dodge. Although some of the costumes show color combinations, yet the general tone was towards subdued simplicity. The dresses show a waist line sometimes at the waist, other times far above or below the waist. They are developed along the straight pleated lines, often in panel effect at back and front, and flare at the side of the skirt in caught-up effect. The coats are many of them belted, almost full length, have few but large buttons, and are gathered in skirt effect under the belt in a number of instances. A neat suit of dark green cloth had a contrasting collar band with a black fur. The coat was decorated with a few narrow pleats. The lining of this suit was remarkably vivid, but lovely just the same. A white feather hat of a very high shape was worn with this. Rains seems to be a favorite color, and a handsome coat in this shade was displayed. The lines were long, with pleats at the sides and long rows of buttons covered with the material. A high pointed black hat was worn. A very favorite coat shown was of a Russian red shoulder cape, wide nine inch bands of fur around the bottom of the coat and big cuffs of the fur. Straps running from the belt up towards the collar were fastened with very big black buttons; coat was high waisted, the pockets had raglan sleeves, a large crest of the collar with a band of plucked beaver. A charming brown hat matched the beaver fur trimming. Worn by one of the most attractive models, an evening gown of bisque Georgette crepe and Joffe blue elicit favorable comments. The dress was fashioned of the belt bodice was fashioned of the Joffe blue satin, loose hanging, an Oriental design, being embroidered on the front. The skirt showed three wide bands of the blue satin. The sailor collar was of blue Georgette crepe with a hemstitched one of the bisque over it. A picture hat of black velvet made this whole costume a very beautiful one. Accompanying this blue and bisque creation, was a petite Miss attired in a delicate shade of pink. This corset-pleated undershirt of pink bands, the overskirt having narrow bands of pink satin. The wide band ed satin grille and satin shoulder purple were novel as well as the puffed sleeves looking quite early Victorian, yet in the very latest mode. Among the very newest styles is the "chiffon dress" the one worn of black taffeta. This is a very loose high-waisted, double-breasted effect, with two rows of six big buttons on the waist. The skirt has two pockets put on irregularly banded with the taffeta and fastened with two of the large buttons. A large collar of ponceau made with pointed ends, edged with the blue and little tulle cuffs were faced with ponceau. Two buttons had a touch of ponceau shading in them. A black hat with very little trimming was worn with this. A dark blue serge dress was both pretty and useful. It showed an accordion-pleated front panel on the skirt, two pockets, and a broad silk collar of soft gray. On the waist were cordings of red and black silk. The pockets were embroidered in a simple design and black buttons finished off the costume. Georgette crepe and blue taffeta combined to make a very lovely dress worn by one model. Half way to the bottom of the skirt was a pleated pointed skirt. A tie belt of the taffeta gave the new style to the corsage, which also had transparent sleeves of white Georgette over blue, and two wide shoulder collars, one of blue Georgette with a hemstitched one of white over it. Small buttons with a brilliant touch of cherry lightened the blue of this charming afternoon gown. On a tall, stylish young lady, a purple serge dress was attractive. The skirt of this was caught up at each side with a long purple chenille tassel, the rather wide belt was beaded in various contrasting colors. A soft rolling collar of white satin over a vest of white Georgette gave the becoming touch of white which most people feel is necessary. A very drooping mushroom of the same color completed the costume. Of the new shade called beet root, in a lovely satin dress, one of the prettiest gowns worn. This shows silver tone trimming on the waist with self-embroidery outlined in silver. The skirt had three wide rows of silver, this departing from the usually plain skirts displayed. A dress of raisin rose, was pleated in back and front as to the skirt, the bodice was rather plain with a large white satin shoulder cape collar. Side pockets (put in on the skirt) were embroidered in bright colors, edged with gray fur which also finished off the sleeves. A very French color, combination of amethyst and American Beauty struck one in a satin afternoon gown of soft satin. The lines of this dress were long, the waist high, the belt cross over and tie, the collar broad turned over to show this shade on the inside. The pockets were lined with the same daring tint, the cuffs also. Silver designs were embroidered on the pockets and at the back of the waist above the belt. The parade will be repeated this evening.

RETURNS TO NEW YORK

Miss Tina Matthew, who has been visiting her father, Mr. Robert Matthew, at Gondola Point, returned to New York yesterday. Miss Matthew is research assistant to Professor Henry Fairfield Osborn, of the New York Natural History Museum. Professor Osborn is one of the greatest scientists of today and an authority on "Men of the Old Stone Age," and is getting out another work which will be published by Scribners in October entitled "The Origin and Evolution of Life."

THE W. I. CONVENTION

A very neat little booklet has been received containing the programme of the Women's Institute to be held shortly at Moncton. The booklet is bound in green and tied with white ribbon—green and white being the Institute colors. At the back of this programme may be found the first verse of the National Anthem with the supplementary verse praying for our splendid men. Two verses of "Oh Canada," and the eight lines of the Institute Ode are also included.

ATTEND MONCTON CONVENTION

Miss Bertha Boyer left last evening for Moncton where she will attend the convention of the Women's Institutes to be held there beginning October 2nd. With Mrs. Cochrane, of Fredericton, Miss Boyer will have charge of the arrangements of the canning exhibit. It is expected that a very large number of jars of fruit and vegetables will be entered for this exhibit. A number of prizes have been offered and a large portion of the jars will probably be sent to military hospitals or convalescent homes.

THE 4TH SIEGE BATTERY

A fine array of parcels, in number one hundred and ninety, have been packed for the boys of the 4th Siege Battery. These parcels contain articles and a card with Christmas wishes, stating that they were solicited by Mrs. L. W. Barker. Each package is done up in a khaki handkerchief and tied with tan bootlaces so that everything sent will come in useful. A Canadian flag surmounts each one and Christmas stickers bear on the seasonable idea. A pair of hand-knitted socks in each with chocolate cigarettes and other comforts, such as our men appreciate. Mrs. Barker had a splendid response for the men of the Siege Battery, and their appeal for Christmas cheer to her men of the Siege Battery, and their appeal for Christmas cheer to her men of the Siege Battery, and their appeal for Christmas cheer to her men of the Siege Battery.

CHRISTMAS STOCKINGS

Not to be "hung by the chimney with care," but somewhere that they will be even more acceptable, are the very red cotton stockings which the Red Cross is preparing to send to the bedside of our sick and wounded men.

In the lower window of Manchester Robertson Allison's King street store there is a splendid array of these stockings already filled and ornamented with Christmas stickers. A card bears a greeting from "The Royal Standard Chapter, I. O. D. E., St. John, N. B." which shows them were from that society.

In the background stands a Red Cross Nurse in costume with an empty stocking suggesting in a subtle but striking way that the work was done because of the interest in missions.

An interesting address was then given by Mrs. Malcolm Orchard, a returned missionary from India. Mrs. Orchard contrasted the principles of Karma (the law of cause and effect) and the principles of Christianity, saying that Karma was common to all castes in India. She said that everything in their lives must be explained and "bear ye one another's burdens," is not known in India. She also explained the work of the mission schools and their great work amongst the people.

Miss Lois Knowles, also a returned missionary from India, spoke of the customs of the country. She stated that in the study of our Lord's compassion was the keynote and then she told of how His heart would be moved by compassion by the pitiful conditions of the widows of India and the utter hopelessness of their lot. They are married at an early age and widowed when only children and left to be outcasts.

Mrs. Olmstead sang "The Night Comes On."

The provincial secretary, Miss Augusta Slipp, gave a very full report of what had been accomplished and attempted during the year. The report showed that there was a great increase financially and in membership. A business session of the society will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the church.

SALE AT LITTLE LEPREUX

A sale was held at Little Lepreux by members of the Soldiers' Comfort Association. Through the generosity of many friends of the association the affair, held on the evening of the 21st, for the benefit of the S.C.A., was a great social and financial success. Miss Tot Taylor of Lepreux was the winner of the reversible quilt made by the ladies of the Circle.

A Corcoran of Mace's Bay was the prize winner in the bean guessing contest. O. Hanson won the gramophone which was donated for a lottery and turned the instrument over for auction for the benefit of the S.C.A.

The fancy work table was in charge of Mrs. T. B. Hanson. The fish pond, sale of tickets for the quilt and a brass lamp were looked after by Miss Ella Fairweather. The important feature of the refreshments was ably handled by the united efforts of Mrs. Harvey Hope, Mrs. A. Hope, Mrs. L. Boyne and Mrs. Harvey Brown.

The enthusiastic work of Mrs. L. Boyne and her family contributed largely to the success and hearty cooperation of all the participants. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered R. T. MacWhinney, who made a splendid auctioneer. Mrs. Oscar Hanson is secretary of this Circle. The proceeds of the sale totalled $227.00 for the S.C.A.

U. B. W. M. AID SOCIETY HOLD A PUBLIC MEETING

A public meeting of the U. B. W. M. Aid Society was held yesterday afternoon in the Charlotte St. United Baptist Church, with a large delegation in attendance. The president, Mrs. W. G. Clark, of Fredericton, presided, and the address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Lydia Fullerton. She spoke of the wonderful progress made in the last 30 years by the society in missionary aid work. She referred to the wide outlook on life that the work gave because of the interest in missions.

ACHAQUI

Apohaqui, Sept. 25.—The first school in the Achaqui School District took place in the Public Hall on Monday, when it joined the Lower Millstream school, and together gave an exhibit worthy of praise, and one which would stand comparison with the similar exhibits from those of more mature years.

At the commencement of the school much had been said and many articles written regarding what might be accomplished by the boys and girls in our schools, in increasing the production, and the Fair of yesterday gave evidence that the children had excelled in the new and interesting task they had undertaken, and the promoters and admirers of the increased food production could not fail to be encouraged by the splendid display of vegetables and fruits.

The exhibit was, however, not confined to school garden work, for in addition to these were creditable exhibits in domestic science, drawing of maps, trees and skeletons of wild plants, weed and mounted plants, free hand cuttings of flowers, and other things.

The Home Efficiency Club of Achaqui, of which the exhibit was made up, showed a grand display of cut and preserved fruits and vegetables, and a very attractive display of the judging on this class, as well as of the fancy work, sewing and ing, was capably done. Mrs. Jones (president of the Efficiency Club); Miss Ida H. Chipman; and Mrs. Geo. J. Lower Millstream.
