

ONTARIO WOMAN'S FORTUNE

Freed From That Weak, Languid, Always Tired Feeling, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Thessalon, Ont. — "I cannot speak too highly of your medicine. When my appetite is poor and I have that weak, languid, always tired feeling, I get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it builds me up, gives me strength, and restores me to perfect health again. It is truly a blessing to women, and I cannot speak highly enough of it. I take pleasure in recommending it to others."

— Mrs. ANNIE CAMERON, Thessalon, Ont.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it?

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

$3.50 Recipe FREE For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—
You Can Have it Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow men to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest acting restorative, up-building, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4215 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain, ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this but I send it entirely free.

deep incline of the river bank, and merry skaters, whom we will soon go down and join, are skimming here and there over the glistening ice. After one hour's skate we will repair to the dance room, a few miles away, and enjoy a few of those long dreamy waltzes. We are sincerely sorry that we cannot send any recipes this time, as we are not the proud possessors of any that do not begin with six eggs, seven lemons or words to that effect. In closing, we would state that although we have not red hair, a few freckles are slightly visible on the fair brow of one of the authors, namely, Sal, while Lizzie's hands and feet are slightly over normal size. So as not to frighten the bachelors, we remark, that we have beautiful golden hair and are still on the sunny side of the "old maid line." Wishing the W.H.M. every success visible on the calendar of time, we will now close, hoping to hear from some of the members, we are,

Does Not Agree with "Plato"

Eastbrook, Sask., Feb. 11th, 1913.

Dear Editor: In reading the correspondence pages of the January issue, "Plato's" knock on matrimony in general, found only in this country in the early years of homestead life before the day when settlement progresses far enough that family men bring out their wives and daughters to their new country home. Where can a man better learn to appreciate women than out in a lonely homestead shack, where with only the image of his mother and sisters to fill his mind, he learns through hard experience that the household tasks (that most of us men think are but play, as compared to men's heavier work) that women with a tenth of our strength, cheerfully do, are more tiring and tedious than their monotonous routine. How many of us have not after a long morning of putting our shack to rights stopped to survey its still soiled condition and remembered mother's spotless kitchen, how she kept her house, many times larger than our little shack, clean and bright, and still had time to help us at our play as well as comfort us in our troubles. All these things we homesteading bachelors have a chance to learn and profit by. Who has a better chance to become the model husband, than the lonely bachelor, who has been through life's hard fire and come out well tempered with a knowledge of work not and matrimonially inclined bachelors in particular, aroused my ire, and although I am no pen artist I will in my feeble way try to write a few lines in defence of we bachelors, who he has so ably pictured as unloving woman hunters, whose sole ambition in life seems to be to enslave through faithless promises and marriage some unsuspecting and unsophisticated but loving girl, into being his unpaid housekeeper for the rest of his or her allotted span. Were I to hazard a guess as to the promptings of his letters, I would say that he has experienced some disappointments in his matrimonial ventures, or in "the slang of the street" he has either been handed a lemon or been cut out. His reason for picking us homesteading bachelors out as an inferior article on the matrimonial market, I do not quite see; but as I am one of these unfeeling future stumbling blocks of western progress myself, I may be a little prejudiced in their favor. Have roamed over a great part of this western country of ours, where I have seen and learned to know quite a few bachelors and their habits, have found a large part of them to be young men with clean habits, a good education, refined manners and with a reverence for women kind, that is to be equally divided. Wishing the W.H.M. continued success, and leaving my address with the Editor, I will sign myself,

Always Useful and Interesting

Saskatoon, Sask., Feb. 19th, 1913

Dear Editor: Please forgive me for getting so far behind with my subscription, but I really did not know you were still sending it, till I happened to ask if there were any papers for me at the P.O. the other day, when I was greatly surprised to receive four back numbers. However, I have made good use of them, by sending them to a brother in the Old Country, who is always glad to get them. You have now three subscribers in our family, so you can plainly see it's a favorite. Am enclosing postal orders for $2.00 for three years' subscriptions, one of which is nearly out and do not intend to get behind again. I think I am what you would call one of the lucky ones, having just sold my homestead, which was close to Saskatoon, for ten thousand dollars, and am now looking for a good location in which to start mixed farming, and as I think the winters a little long here would like to hear from any one in that

STRONGLY ADVISES "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because They Cured Him, And
They Will Cure You

MR. ALEX. McCARTER

WALKERTON, ONT., MAY 9th, 1911.
"I have been in Walkerton in business for a good many years and many of my townsmen know that my health, for long periods was precarious. My trouble was extreme Nervousness, brought on by Indigestion and Dyspepsia, from which I suffered in the most severe form. It was so bad that I could not sleep before about four in the morning. I noticed one of your published testimonials of how someone had used "Fruit-a-tives" for similar trouble and asked Mr. Hunter, my druggist, his opinion on the matter and he advised their use. I immediately procured several boxes and I am pleased to say that I now enjoy splendid health and could not possibly feel better. I can eat with every degree of satisfaction and sleep without an effort. I strongly advise anyone suffering from like complaints, to commence using "Fruit-a-tives". ALEX. McCARTER.
