CUP Briefs

Female candidates few and far between

by Deanne Fisher

VANCOUVER (CUP) — The University of British Columbia's student board of governor and senator-at-large elections are just around the corner and only one of the 14 candidates is a woman.

Wendy King is running for senator-at-large amongst 10 men. Four other men are vying for board of governors in this week's elections. The ratio in the race for council faculty representatives is slightly better, with five women out of 15 candidates.

Student council president Tim Bird said the inequities strike him as "a little bit odd".

"Especially at a university, of all places.

"I think there are a lot of issues that concern women in a different way than they do men," said Bird, citing pay equity and advancement, daycare, sexual harassment, campus safety and the possibility of a UBC abortion clinic as examples of women's issues dealt with at the board level.

As it stands, the board of governors is predominantly male, with 11 men and two women.

"How can a group of men sit around and make a decision on an issue like abortion?" said Bird, who is hoping to be elected to a spot on the board of governors.

Last year, seven men ran for board of governors and six for senator-at-large. There were no female candidates.

At Dalhousie, 16 of 52 members, or 30 per cent, of the Board of Governors are women, while 55 per cent of Dal student councillors are female.

Less booze, fewer bucks

MONTREAL (CUP) — A trend towards a "more healthy lifestyle" is being blamed for a projected $95,000 loss for the company which administers Concordia University's student-run bars.

Cusacorp, founded in 1983, runs beer bashes, food, beverage, and alcohol services and a used book store.

"Cusacorp is just not in touch with its market," said Concordia student council co-president Andrew Madsen. "They're not keeping people happy. The trend has changed to a more healthy lifestyle — Cusacorp has ignored this."

Madsen said the company shouldn't be concentrating its efforts on alcohol-related events.

Cusacorp was budgeted to accumulate a $50,000 deficit by the end of this year but may end up plunging $95,000 into the red. With the exception of 1985-86, the company has always lost money.

High maintenance and rental fees are also being blamed for the deficit. Council pays an outside contractor $65,000 a year to clean Cusacorp facilities.

Construction of the extension of the campus library is also being cited as a cause for the decrease in revenue.

"The Campus Centre has been in a shambles since construction started on the Vanier Library," Madsen said. "No one is using the games room and no one is interested in drinking there."

Cusacorp Manager Olga Gazdovic said the games room earned $15,000 last year. This year projected revenues are down by 40 per cent.

"They came and put a big hole in the games room wall. They've covered up the hole but it's still cold down there," said Gazdovic. "You can't expect students to play video games in a freezing room."
