

Splendid Livestock at Regina

The Last of the Series of Big Summer Shows. One of the Best of the Circuit

(1749) 13

Regina Summer Fair, 1918. Bred, owned and exhibited by S. Haggerty, White Plains, Sask.

Three-year-old Clydesdale, bred, owned and exhibited by S. Haggerty, White Plains, Sask. The animal is a fine specimen of the breed, with a powerful build and a well-proportioned head. It is shown in a standing position, facing the camera.

Regina Summer Fair, 1918. Bred, owned and exhibited by S. Haggerty, White Plains, Sask.

From left to right: "Lakewood Lady," "Lakewood Girl," and "Lakewood Girl." These are three-year-old Clydesdales, bred, owned and exhibited by S. Haggerty, White Plains, Sask. The animals are shown in a standing position, facing the camera.

Heavy Draft and Agricultural Classes. The animals shown in this class are of various breeds, including Clydesdales, Shetlands, and other heavy draft breeds. They are shown in a standing position, facing the camera.

A part of the line up of livestock at Regina Summer Fair, 1918. From right to left they are: "Lakewood Lady," "Lakewood Girl," and "Lakewood Girl." These are three-year-old Clydesdales, bred, owned and exhibited by S. Haggerty, White Plains, Sask.

The University Exhibits. The University of Saskatchewan has a large and interesting exhibit of livestock, including sheep, cattle, and horses. The animals are shown in a standing position, facing the camera.

Special mention should be made of the exhibit of livestock by the University of Saskatchewan. The animals are shown in a standing position, facing the camera.

There was a good exhibit of livestock at the Regina Summer Fair, 1918. The animals are shown in a standing position, facing the camera.