Convicted of eleven charges of forgery, William H. Rosenbusch, 42, prominent Kitchener real estate dealer, was sentenced to seven years at Portsmouth penitentiary by Magistrate Weir in police court last Thursday. The prisoner collapsed when sentence was imposed upon him and recovered only to lapse into a state of intense hysteria. He slumped across the witness box after pronouncement of sentence and sobbed hysterically while he was led from the court room by Chief O'Neill and other officers.

ARREST YOUTHS FOR CAR THEFTS

David Hill of Saugeen Twp. and Elmer Rankin of Paisley were arrested in Owen Sound about midnight on Wednesday last by Constable Denton of that city and later taken in charge by officers Bone and Widmeyer of Walkerton and lodged in the Southampton lockup and the next day were taken to the Walkerton jail to await trial on the charge of a series of auto thefts and alleged burglaries.

The series of thefts alleged to have been perpetrated by the youths commenced with the stealing of Gordon Ribbey's car from in front of the Evangelical Church here on Sunday, Sept. 20th. This car was driven to Paisley where it was abandoned and later found on the North street hill leading to the town. During the early hours of Monday morning the hardware store of L. O. Charlesworth at Paisley was broken into and flashlights, safety razors, jack knives and other small articles taken. The general store of D. C. McGregor was also entered by smashing the glass panel in the front door and lifting the latch where candy and chewing gum were stolen. It appears the thieves were contemplating entering other stores in Paisley but were scared off and were seen to jump into a Ford car which it was later discovered belonged to Thos. Monk of the Balmoral Hotel, and which had been stolen from his garage. A search made in a vacant house on north street, Paisley, by some residents was rewarded by the finding of a quantity of the goods stolen from Charlesworth's hardware.

From Paisley the thieves travelled to Teeswater where they left the Ford car in front of Brown's garage and commandeered a Chevrolet car. Doubling back from Teeswater they motored to Saugeen Twp. where they spent practically all day Tuesday in a tent which is also said to have been ten, along the Saugeen river across from W. J. Pierson. Here the car was run into a gulley and being unable to get it out again the boys left it in the gulley. Wednesday evening they came to Port Elgin where they played a few games of pool, and later stole Eric McGillivray's Ford coupe from alongside the South End store. They apparently returned to their camp along the Saugeen river, for when turning out the cows about ten o'clock at night Mr. Pierson noticed a car drive over through the fields to the river bank. Here the markers were taken off McGillivray's car, thrown into the river and replaced by those from the abandoned Chevrolet. The youthful thieves then struck out to Owen Sound where Constable Denton, who had been apprised of the robbery, effected their arrest about midnight. When arrested they gave their names as Hill and Rankin, the former being apprehended sitting in the car in front of a restaurant while the latter was inside the cafe having lunch.

Officers Bone and Widmeyer who were in Southampton at the time searching for the thieves were notified of their arrest in Owen Sound and in company with Eric McGillivray motored to Owen Sound where the youths were taken in charge by the County officers and brought back to Southampton. McGillivray recovered his car, but his coat which had been in the bus when stolen was missing while another belonging to some one else was in its place.

The youths will come up for trial before Magistrate Macartney in the town Hall here on Friday afternoon next at 2 o'clock.—Port Elgin Times

THE IDLE YOUNG

It's not the idle rich but the idle young that is raising the devil with the country. On every hand you see young people shying from work and trying to get by without it. It scarcely ever wins. Too much pampering and too little enforcement of discipline by parents is largely to blame for the present overflowing of jails, reformatories and penitentiaries. Any child not brought up to work and obey his parents will sneer at the law when he gets out into the world for himself. If you have a child and would make him a good citizen, teach him to work and make him obey.

One way to be happily married is to realize how little you deserve. If some folks tried to swallow their pride they'd choke to death.

The New York Herald contends that "nothing holds the boy or girl on the farm like an interest in live stock." Hereabouts on the contrary parents are only able to hold their young people on the farm by giving them an automobile in which to get away from it.

Mrs. Eric Hutchinson was stung by a bee on Monday evening and the poison immediately affected her in a very serious manner. Though stung on the lower limb, in less than five minutes her face swelled up so that she could not see and later her eyes were completely closed up. Her heart was seriously affected and she was nearly choked. Under medical care she has been gradually recovering.—Mt. Forest Representative.

THE FALL FAIRS

It is a curious fact that those agricultural societies which hold their annual exhibition in villages are more prosperous, and have better shows than the societies which have headquarters at the larger towns.

The tendency for the exhibition held in a large town to run to horse racing and other amusement features appears irresistible. The exhibition becomes a sort of out-door entertainment while its original purpose is largely forgotten. Town folk are not interested in agricultural exhibits and an effort is made to draw them by introducing amusement features. These are expensive and as they cannot be of a high order, they result in disappointment.

The automobile has had a curious effect upon town and village fall fairs. While spectators now come from much greater distances than they did when the horse and buggy were the best means of travel, the gas wagon works against getting out of exhibits—especially live stock. It's much easier to run to the fair and back home again in an automobile than to be bothered taking out even a few head of cattle, a few sheep, calves or hogs. There's a whole lot of work in fitting stock for exhibition and the man or boy who shows horses, cattle or other live animals instead of having a free and easy day at the fair, has a busy, hard day of it. The result is that many drop out of the show business altogether, leaving it to a few experienced, and almost professional exhibitors to carry off the prizes.

Considering the similarity there is between the exhibitions of one year and another, it is astonishing how the interest is kept up and how the crowds keep coming.

TIT FOR TAT

Private Jones was summoned to appear before his captain.

"Jones," said the officer, frowning darkly, "This gentleman, complains that you have killed his dog."

"A dastardly trick," interrupted the owner of the dog, "to kill a defenseless animal that would harm no one!"

"Not much defenseless about him" chimed in the private heatedly. "He bit pretty freely into my leg, so I ran my bayonet into him."

"Nonsense!" answered the owner angrily. "He was a docile creature. Why did you not defend yourself with the butt of your rifle?"

"Why didn't he bite me with his tail?" asked Private Jones with spirit.

GETTING AFTER THE GUNMEN

The United States enjoys a bad pre-eminence among civilized nations in the matter of crimes of violence. There is some reason to fear that Canada is following in the footsteps of her big neighbor. It is certain that robbery at the revolver point has increased alarmingly of late. Various proposals are made as to the best means of dealing with this menace, the commonest being the imposition of severe penalties, preferably the lash. It is said that in localities where sporadic outbreaks of robbery with armed violence have occurred they have been quickly checked when sentences of flogging were imposed.

But the question is not simply one of punishment or even of the best deterrent. What is the cause of these crimes? How is it that the minds of young men are turned to them? One answer to this question can be given with confidence. They are, in part at least, a result of the revolver habit.

There are laws in Canada against carrying weapons, but it is evident that they are not thoroughly enforced. It has been suggested that the American and Canadian Governments might get together with a view to putting the gunman out of business, possibly by making the ordinary sale of revolvers illegal and carefully regulating their manufacture for police and army purposes.

Meanwhile something might be done to curb the educational influence of the movies. There is no commoner figure on the screen than the hero who produces his gun at the critical moment and vindicates the cause of justice and virtue. What boy seeing these pictures would not think it a glorious thing to own a revolver and possibly play a similarly heroic part? Once the revolver is acquired its possession is a temptation to a use that may be far from heroic.

EAST BRUCE TEACHERS' CONVENTION

The annual convention of the East Bruce Teachers' Institute was held in the Town Hall, Walkerton, on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 1st and 2nd with an attendance of one hundred and fifty teachers. In the opinion of Inspector McCool this was one of the most successful conventions that this Institute had ever held and he commended the teachers for the excellent attendance, particularly those from the peninsula, some of whom had come over one hundred miles to be present.

Mr. Hamilton Ballagh, Principal of the Mildmay Public School, the President of the Institute, presided at all the sessions.

The Thursday morning session opened at ten o'clock. After the transaction of business and the appointment of the different committees, Miss Pearl Buckley of Chesley Public School gave a talk on "Primary Work." Miss Buckley held up some very high ideals to the teachers of little children.

The afternoon session opened with the President's address. Mr. Ballagh took as his subject "The Personality of the Teacher." He pointed out the outstanding qualities of a successful teacher, which every teacher should strive to develop.

Mayor Robert Goode welcomed the teachers to Walkerton and expressed the hope that they would have a pleasant time while here.

The report of the Ontario Educational Association which met in Toronto last April was given by the Institute's delegate, Miss L. Esplen of Allenford. Miss Esplen spoke of the outstanding addresses which she had heard.

Mr. Wm. Prendergrast, Principal of the London Normal School, the representative sent by the Department of Education gave a very interesting and practical address on "Composition." He said it is not expected that teachers should produce literary writers, but they should train their pupils to express their ideas in a clear, concise manner.

Miss Marie Schwindt sang two solos which delighted the teachers, and was a pleasant variation in the programme.

A discussion on the Public School Course in History was introduced by Miss M. McGregor, of the Walkerton High School. Miss McGregor showed that History was one of the most difficult subjects of the curriculum to teach in a proper manner and at the same time to get good examination results.

On Friday morning Rev. Charles W. King conducted the opening exercises, after which he gave a splendid address on "The Great Divide." He showed the great influence that the teacher had on the pupils at the most formative period in their lives.

The Convention was again privileged to hear Mr. Prendergrast. His subject was "Geography, What to Emphasize." Mr. Prendergrast said that in no subject of the curriculum had there been such a change in method of teaching, in the past decades, as in Geography. The new method is to make the subject real to the pupils and related to their experience, and Mr. Prendergrast showed how several topics of the course might be dealt with, by this method.

Miss Marion Hogg of the Walkerton Public School gave a talk on "Fifth Classes in Rural Schools." The Adolescent School Attendance Act had been responsible for a great increase in the number of Fifth Classes in rural schools. The advantages and disadvantages were taken up by Miss Hogg.

The next speaker was Mr. E. J. Gatis of Wiarton. He took as his subject "Rural School Problems." Mr. Gatis touched on several of these problems, and showed how some of these might be solved. One of the greatest difficulties was the unsuitability of some of the textbooks. Many of these were very well suited to the graded school, but it was difficult to adapt them to rural school conditions.

Mr. Lorne A. Eedy, until recently the Editor of the Walkerton Telescope gave an excellent address on "The Community Newspaper." He showed how the character of the local paper had greatly changed in the last twenty years, formerly printing much world news, but with the advent of the rural mail delivery most homes had received a daily paper, and the local paper devoted most of its space to community news. Mr. Eedy strongly urged teachers to make greater use of their local paper, to write letters for publication, to send in school reports, and where opportunity afforded itself to act as the local correspondent of the paper. Many prominent newspapermen of Canada had begun their journalistic careers by acting as correspondents for local papers while teaching school.

In the afternoon a brief session was held. It was decided to hold the convention next year in Wiarton. The reports of the auditors and the various committees were received after which the following officers for 1925-26 were elected:

President—Miss M. Gordon, Hepworth.
Vice-Pres.—Mr. J. C. Hetherington, Chesley.
Sec.-Treas.—Harry W. Alton of Walkerton.
Delegates to O.E.A.—Mr. W. A. Kincaid, Paisley, and Miss S. Lattimer, Wiarton.
Representatives for Northern Ontario trip—Mr. H. Ballagh, Mildmay, and Miss A. Tryson, Wiarton.
