

Why Red-Headed Girls Are Popular is Now Explained

Finest of Complexion Often Found on Them—Are Usually Passionately Devoted to Their Friends and Loved Ones.

Some interesting facts concerning red-haired people have been given to the world recently by Monsieur Girard, a French scientist. It seems that for many hundreds of years no one has been able to explain why a girl who has red hair is so sure to be popular with her men friends, and almost sure of a seat at a dance, and almost sure of a seat in the car, or why men are so persistently gallant to a red-haired girl and find her on the whole so intensely alluring. M. Girard has explained this apparent enigma in several ways.

He claims that, first, red hair is generally accompanied by certain qualities which make a woman extremely attractive. She has soft, smooth skin, for instance, though this is sometimes freckled. Then the finest of complexions are often found on red-haired girls and these sun-kissed girls have blood that is warmer and flows more swiftly than that in the veins of their supposedly less favored sisters.

Always Affectionate.

This often makes them impulsive hot-tempered and jealous but it always makes them affectionate and they have a reputation for passionate devotion. A loyal friend but a reluctant enemy is the red-haired woman. When a red-haired woman has dark blue or violet eyes and dark lashes she is good to have for a friend and bad to have for an enemy. All red-haired women are jealous.

Helen of Troy had red hair. So did Queen Elizabeth. Some of the greatest men of the world had red hair.

Red hair is common among the ruling families of Europe. That is supposed to be so from the fact that so many of them descend from the Norsemen that great race of red-heads who conquered most of England, France, Sicily and Cyprus founded dynasties all over Europe in the Middle Ages and gave their auburn-haired daughters as wives to hundreds of kings and princes. Since those old days red hair has been a mark of aristocracy for the conquering races have been blondes.

Explaining the Freckles.

Conquest and iron go together and red hair is caused by a super-abundance of iron in the blood. The color of the hair is due to a pigment which has been called melanin which is secreted in the roots of the hair. Iron, when oxidized into the body as well as out of it, produces red. This explains the freckles that so often mark a red-haired woman's beauty. Red hair is hereditary. There can be little doubt, however, that a young person who has red hair has a strong antipathy to a red-haired person of the opposite sex. This is confirmed by the fact that, despite prolonged enquiry among thousands of families, scientists have been unsuccessful in obtaining only two cases where both parents had red hair.

Though the red was not a clear red in both parents, all of the eight children had red hair. If only one parent has red hair the offspring is so likely to have it. Red-haired offspring may come from two brown or from two glossy black-haired parents. In that case both dark-haired parents will probably have had ancestors with red hair. Glossy black hair in the parents is especially apt to produce red hair in children, because all glossiness is due to red hidden by black pigment.

M. Girard says red hair has been a mark of aristocracy and beauty since the red-haired persons are the first to descend from dominating conquering races like the Scots, Normans and Scandinavians.

Galworthy's Plea Against Giving Them Up to Vivisection

LONDON, Aug. 1.—John Galworthy, whose advocacy of humane methods of slaughtering animals for food is almost as well known as his plays, makes a strong plea on sentimental grounds for the protection of dogs against vivisection in connection with a bill framed for that object, which is now before parliament. "Even if it be granted," says Mr. Galworthy, "that a dog by reason of its intelligence and nervous organization, is more fit than other animals for certain vivisectional experiments, yet the basic consideration in making such a treatment on a dog is a scandalous betrayal."

"The dog is by far the nearest thing to man on the face of the earth. The one link we have spiritually with the animal creation. It is the one dumb creature into whose eyes we can look and tell pretty well for certain what the emotion is, when and what thought is at work within—the one dumb creature which, not as a rare exception but almost universally, knows the sentiments of love and trust."

Schoolboys On Tour

Many Students From American Institutions Enjoy Vacations.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A party of American school boys arrived in London recently from Andover, Lawrenceville and Western Reserve academies, the Chicago Latin school, Mercersburg academy, Springfield high school, Culver Military academy, and other preparatory schools. They are touring Europe for the purpose of a vacation and visiting English schools, and are in charge of 15 masters of the various schools. The boys are playing their own way, but only honor students were allowed to join the party.

They arrived on the Athena from Montreal, and were first entertained at Glasgow, by the provost of the university on their way to London they visited Rugby and saw a cricket match. Dr. David, the headmaster, gave a luncheon to them and said that his appreciation of American schoolboys was higher than ever before.

The boys also made a great hit with the Rugby students, who wanted them to prolong their visit.

Why Mrs. Dionne Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Fine Old Quebec Lady Was Washing Away When She Turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills and Found a New Lease of Life.
ST. MATHIEU, Rimouski Co. Que., July 28.—(Special.) "Publish it to all the world that Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me." Those are the words of Mrs. Dionne, an old and respected resident of this place. "And surely that cure was a wonderful one. Mrs. Dionne had reached the advanced age of sixty-nine years when ill-health overtook her. From 184 lbs. she wasted away till she weighed only 120 lbs., and she was a very sick woman, indeed. Speaking of her case she says:

"My back and head ached, my heart troubled me, my sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and I perspired freely at night. I also had a pressure or sharp pain on the top of my head, and I found it difficult to collect my thoughts."

It was at this stage that Mrs. Dionne concluded that her trouble came from her kidneys, and she turned to Dodd's Kidney Pills. The first box helped her. She took twelve boxes and is cured.

Dodd's Kidney Pills always help old people, because when the human body starts to wear out, the kidneys are the first to go. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure the kidneys.

KAISER'S WARSHIPS WORRY THE BRITISH

Building of New Fleet Causes England to Strengthen Mediterranean Force.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A statement of extreme gravity, from its bearing on the naval position of this country, is made in the Times by its Vienna correspondent—that the first unit of the second Austro-Hungarian dreadnought division was laid down at Trieste during the spring, and that its construction, though unauthorized by the delegations which have to vote the money, is being pushed forward rapidly.

The ship in question is of 25,000 tons and will mount eight fifteen-inch guns, and probably twenty six-inch weapons. Two other vessels of the same type are shortly to be begun. If they are constructed rapidly, the Austrians admiralty intends, Austria will have in 1916 no fewer than seven dreadnoughts and super-dreadnoughts. At the same date Italy will have ten, all of extremely formidable type.

The only British dreadnought at present stationed in the Mediterranean is the battle-cruiser, Invincible, and it is inadvisable to join her. By that date Italy will have four dreadnoughts of superior force complete and Austria two.

MODERN VAN WINKLE DIES

Englishman Known to Have Slept for a Month.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—A man whose long periods of sleep caused him to be known as Rip Van Winkle, died in mysterious circumstances in Bakewell in Derbyshire.

His name was Arthur Mann, 114 was 58 years of age and a son of the late Dr. Julius Mann, a Dedshire magistrate. He was found lying unconscious near the little river at Lathkill. His clothing was saturated and at his side was a bottle containing a white mixture of a nature at present unknown.

Mr. Mann, who was well educated and had travelled extensively, was subjected to attacks of catalepsy, after which he had been known to sleep a month. Once, when in America, he was given up as dead.

Murderer Pleads Lost Temper
"I really lost my temper and fired at the girl three times on 'Frank Greening's' instigation," said the man who was sentenced to death at Birmingham Assizes on Tuesday for the murder of Elizabeth Ellen Hearn.

Dog's War Record.
"Bob," the pet dog of the Royal Horse Guards (Blues) died at Windsor Cavalry Barracks. "Bob" sailed with the composite regiment of Horse Guards Cavalry from Southampton for South Africa in 1899, and was present at most of the engagements they took part in, including Diamond Hill, Paardeberg, the battle of Kimberley, and Pretoria. Twice he was captured by the Boers, but rejoined his comrades on one occasion being absent for some weeks. He was a motor car a few months ago, but he was afterwards successfully operated upon at Windsor, but when convalescent picked up some poison from the effect of which he died. He is to be buried and kept with his collar and medal ribbons.
