SHE LOST HER WAGER

Their Grandmother Arrested Charged With

A Leadon cable says: A lovely story about the Emperor's visit has just leaked out. Miss Margo Tennan, the famous London horsewoman, made a -bet of £20 last week with a society man that sike would dance that night with the Emperor at the state ball. This cansed excitoment among society people who possible even for such a country last and a part of the execution of the four murderer of dance with the extraction of the four murderer
of dance with the extraction of the four murderer
of dance with the extraction of the four murderer of days last at $10 km grant of the same of the same that sike would about that and early Miss Tennan awa riding up Rotten How, Hyde Park, at a furious rate. She met the Emperor and fine the last of one house of the fire worms by the mightly leap in the air, the horse rushed towards the Emperor and came within a few inches of knocking him out of his saddle. It was a triff a serugionen turned to the Emperor, muttered apologies and blushed. The young monarch paid her some compliments, and and rode by her side for some time, then raised his hat and bade her good-bye, and said the hoped he would see her at the ballthat night.
Victory seemed secure. The swell who make When nightly came the attended the ball, so did the Emperor. Vanitas remitatum, he never even looked at her.

"I OWN TO IT."

"Bo the 5th Property and Flease Everybody"—A Burderer-Stallensaess.

A Lundon cable says: A terrible murder
was sommitted in Smith's Buildings, Brist for the yard and out he her was sommitted in Smith's Buildings, Brist him the would be be offered to compromise one-bail, Mass

"I OWN TO IT."

"Bo the 5th Property and Flease Everybody"—A Burderer-Stallensaess.

A Lundon cable says: A terrible murder
was sommitted in Smith's Buildings, Brist him has would be some compliments, and the buildings for some time. The man, the horse reashed the work of the crimes of the business of the surface of the business of the surface of the business of the surface of the surfa body"—A Murderer's Callossaess.

A London cable says: A terrible murder was committed in Smith's Buildings, Bermondsey. Robert Bradshaw, aged 54, and his wife Emma, aged 51, had resided at No. 24 in the buildings for some time. The man, it is said, has more than once assaulted his wife, and a day or two ago she obtained a summons against him at Southwark Police Court. On Saturday the warrant officer called and left the summons. After his departure Bradshaw said to his wife: "Well, you won't be able to appear at the court on Monday." Shortly afterwards he almost cut off his wife's head with a razor. He then left the house. — Meeting Police Constable Wm. Archer, he said: "I was just going to the police station to give myself up, for I have murdered my old woman. He was conveyed to Grange Road Police Station. On the way he said: "I own to it. Do the job properly, and please everybody." The on the way he said: "I own to it. Do the job properly, and please everybody." The police, on reaching the room, found Mrs. Bradshaw lying on her back, dead, with a gash in her throat. Blood bespattered the room in all directions, and the woman appeared to have had a struggle with her murderer. When charged at the station, he, said: "Quite right. I have done it."

AGAINST MRS. MAYBRICK. The Insurance Suit Results in a Verdict for

A London cable says: Judgment was given to-day in the action brought in the interest of Mrs. Maybrick against the Ininterest of Mrs. Mayorica against the in-surance association to recover the sum of $10,000 insurance upon her husband's life. The court decided that Mrs. Maybrick had murdered her husband, and that consehad murdered her hubband, and that consequently she could not recover the amount for which his life was insured, as, his death was caused by the person for whose benefit the action was brought.

Mrs. Maybrick is the woman who some time back was arrested on a charge of poisoning her husband, a Liverpool commission merchant. The trial developed many sensational features, and resulted in the conviction of the accused. Mrs. Maybrick was sentenced to be hanged, but the matter was laid before the Home Secretary. the conviction of the accused. Mrs. May-brick was sentenced to be hanged, but the matter was laid before the Home Secretary, ended the Queen to com her sentence to imprisonment for life.

ROOM FOR THE LEPER. A Genuine Case of Leprosy Discovered in a New York Laundry.

A New York despatch says : In A New York despatch says: Inspector Dillingham, of the Bureau of Contagious diseases, who was called upon to-day to diagnose the case of Chin Hop Sing, a Chinese laundryman on Fifth street, pronounced it a genuine case of leprosy of eight months' standing. The leper came here eighteen months ago from San Francisco, and went to live with his countrymen on Mott street. When the nature of his disease became apparent the other Chinamen ostracised Sing, who started business on Fitth street. He has had a good run of custom, but the reflections of his many paton fifth street. He has had a good ran or custom, but the reflections of his many pat-rons must be anything but pleasant just now. There are said to be three lepers in the city at present, but aside from keeping posted as to their whereabouts the health authorities take no special cognizance of the

STOLE THE SPARKLERS.

Sharp Pair Make Away With a $10,000 Tray of Diamonds.

A New York despatch says: Robert Howe, a young bookmaker's cierk, has been arrested on a charge of stealing a $10,000 case of diamonds from the jewelry establishment of Carl Warnicke, No. 12 West Twanty-eighth street. The robbery occurred and the police have Twenty-eighth street. The robbery occurred on February 6th last, and the police have been at work on the case constantly. On that date the prisoner, or a man who very-closely resembles him, called at the jewelry store with a handsomely dressed woman, who said she wanted to buy some diamonds. They examined some rings, but finally concluded not to purchase and left the place. A tray of diamonds valued at $10,000 was almost immediately missed, but the couple could not be found. On Friday night Howe, who answers the description of the thief, was arrested on Broadway. The police are now searching for the woman.

DROWNED IN THE PACIFIC.

Two Parties Meet a Sad Fate off th British Columbia Coast.

A Vancouver despatch says: A man named D. Wards and his two sons, aged 11 and 12, together with two men named Morrison and McInnis, were drowned here last night by the upsetting of a sail boat. A man named Mutch, one of the party, was rescued by the crew of the United States warship Marion.

Four midshipmen belonging to the flagship Warspite left for a week's campaign and fishing, and their leave expired several days ago. Cances and other articles belonging to them have been found, and they have undoubtedly been drowned. Their names were DeMontmorency, Johnson, Brown and Caldwell.

Perished in a Cave-in.

An O'Brien, Fla., despatch says: Will Davis and Mac Sistrunk went out a short distance from here to-day to dig for phosphate. They dug a pit three feet wide, fifteen feet long and about fourteen feet deep, when a part of the sides caved in. Sistrunk got out of the pit and told Davis he had better come too. Davis would not do so, saying he did not think the banks would cave any more. Suddenly the entire side of the pit gave way, burying Davis completely. Sistrunk dug down to Davis' head but found him dead. The body was removed last night. Davis was an Englishman.

A New York despatch says: The Haytian revolutionists who were exiled to Kingston, Jamaica, met in general assembly of June 29th and elected Gen. Ansellen general-in-chief of their forces. The new commander has issued an address to the people of Hayti, in which he says: "I only want to attain one thing, that is to deliver the Haytian people once more.
When this great work is accomplished Hayti may confide the directions of her future destiny to him whom it thinks the most worthy."

The Dublin Choral Union has a woman conductor—Dr. Annie Petterson. The choir, which is a large one, is entirely under the training of this young woman, who gives concerts which are most delightful in their exquisite rendition. At the last concert an Irish cantaka, entitled "Finola," was sung. It was composed by Dr. Petterson, and was given with such delightful precision and attention to light and shade that the large and select audience which gathered to hear it went away charmed with the talents of the young doctor of music.

oung doctor of music,

Charles E. Locke is re-organizing the mma Juch opera company. If persistence

According to the London Entracte several English managers think of introducing music hall performances in the bill of the play. This may mean that variety fairce is reader to get a footing on the English stage.

THREE CHILDREN BUTCHERED

Josina olineers are sooting to the murderers.

A later despatch from Joshua, Texas, however says: Mrs. Newberry was arrested yesterday, charged with the murder of her three grandchildren Monday night. Facts have been developed, which barely leave a doubt as to her guilt.

ASSASSINS LYNCHED.

Frustration of a Plot to Murder the Police of Middlesboro, Ky. A Middlesboro, Ky., despatch says: A desperate attempt was made to assassinate

A Middlesboro, Ky., despatch says: A desperate attempt was made to assassinate the Middlesboro police force, yesterday afternoon. About 3 o'clock a lot of disreputable characters who frequent Gun Springs, a low drinking and gambling dive just outside the city limits, concocted the plan to murder the officers. They accordingly stationed about fifteen of their gang in ambush along the Louisville and Nashville road, and two of their number began firing their Winchesters. These two were Gillies Johnson and Frank Rossimins. Chief Maples, with a posse of officers, went in pursuit of the pair, and were led into an ambush. Over a hundred shots were exchanged. Special officer Dorsey Williams was shot through both thighs and Patrolman Tupper was shot in the leg. The police force was forced to retire. A posse of 100 citizens, armed with rifles, soon captured both desperadoes and lodged them in jail. About 4 o'clock this morning a crowd of masked men entered Jailer Doolittle's sleeping aparfments at the city jail, and with pistols to his head demanded the keys to the jail. The jailer was forced to give with pistols to his head demanded the keys to the jail. The jailer was forced to give up the keys. The crowd then went into the jail, took Rossimins out, and led him to the big bridge over Canal and Twentieth street, where he was shot several times. A rope was then fastened about his neck, and he was swung over the side of the bridge until 7 o'clock, when he was cut down. A card was tacked on the bridge rail, just above the body, bearing this inscription:

"Warning—This is the fate of all would-be murderers."

KICKED THE "LILY."

lealous Baird's Brutality Spoils Mr.

Jealous Baird's Brutality Spoils Mrs.

Langtry's Beauty.

A London cable says: Several stories are afloat with regard to Abingdon Baird's assault on Mrs. Langtry, about which there has been a good deal of gossip. The following story was told by some one who saw Mrs. Langtry just after the assault had been committed, with the blood streaming from her face: Some time ago Mr. Baird bought York House, Regent's Park, for Mrs. Langtry, and also paid off her debts in connection with the Princess Theatre, of which he is at present leaseholder. On a recent occasion Baird returned home unexpectedly and found a young gentleman dining with Mrs. Langtry. Without more ado he proceeded to turn him out, and then he went for "the Lily" and knocked her down. Then he kicked her in the face in such a way that it is said she is now disfigured for life. Mrs. Langtry had to be carried to bed and attended by a surgeon, who declares it is reached the will never he able to act again.

A San Antonio despatch says: S. P. Aswon, a prominent stockman of Deming N. M., has arrived here, and gives at account of the grasshopper ravages in the orthern and western counties of New account of the grassnopper ravages in the northern and western counties of New Mexico, where he says the hoppers are doing incalculable harm. Some farmers consider them the seventeen year locusts, which ravaged the west during the seventies. The locusts are moving east and north in two principal swarms. They have stripped vegetation and the leaves of the trees and lett nothing but the dry alkali earth where they have struck the ground. Where the land is cultivated they have ravaged the ground of everything in sight. They move in bunches four and five miles wide. One bunch has devastated Colfax and Moira in the northern part of the territory and is spreading into Colorado, Kansas and the Pan Handle of Texas, while another bunch will reach the Central Texas line by winter. They do not make much progress after flying, but the eggs they lay hatch, and a new batch flies eastward. They will keep moving in this way and lay billions of eggs in Texas and Kansas for next season's hatching.

Took a 50-Volt Current.

A New York despatch says: Patrick itzsimmons, a 16-year-old employee of yons' restaurant, received a severe electric shock this morning while turning off ic shock this morning while turning on so of the small incandescent burners in the lace. He was rendered unconscious for minutes, and groaned and frothed at the touth. He was taken to the hospital and amined. No signs of burns were found, he power of the shock was only 50 volts.

According to an eminent German tatistician the world has had 2,550 kings statistician the world has had 2,000 kings or emperors who have reigned over 74 peoples. Of these 300 were overthrown, 64 were forced to abdicate, 28 committed suicide, 23 became mad or imbecile, 100 were killed in battle, 123 were captured by the enemy, 25 were tortured to death, 134 were assassinated and 108 were executed.

cuted.

Anni Lewis, the "touhg" girl in Harrigan's play, has been inundated with offers, and Harrigan has been compelled to give her a salary bordering close upon a hunlred dollars a week in order to retain her dred dollars a week in order to retain her for next season.

A newspaper in the Gypsy jargon, the Romany tongue, is soon to be published in England with the expectation of making it the organ of the wandering people. It will be edited by George Smith, the "king" of the English gypsies, who counts upon getting 20,000 subscribers to it.

20,000 subscribers to it.

A new play by John A. Stevens, called Christmas Bells," will be managed next season by J. D. Levy.

Dr. Dowd, of New York, has found that each cubic inch of soil contains from 60,000 to 2,500,000 minute organisms. Evidently the proverbial "peck of dirt" is as dangerous as the water we drink.

Gen. Rulker is writing a book. Whether one as the weter we drink.

Gen. Butler is writing a book. Whether he will deal with the charges of appropriating goods which obtained for him the sobriquet of "Spoons," and the much more serious chargee made by Southern women during the war, the announcements do not say; but the main object of the writer is clearly set forth. It is to be a defence of Ben. Butler. Gen. Grant's report of the conduct of Butler in Virginia called for defenced on Butler's pare, from a merely military point of view. But Ben. has delayed the defence till Grant is beyond remilitary point of view. But Ben, has de-layed the defence till Grant is beyond re-joinder, so that whateyer may be the merits of his book it will always suffer from the der's mind reverting to the story jackass kicking the dead lion.

THE SING SING SLAUGHTER.

The Death-Bealing Cyclone Swoops Down Upon West Superior.

The Death-Bealing Cyclone Swoops Down Upon West Superior.

A West Superior, Wis., despatch says: In an instant this afternoon, by the giant play of a cyclone, half a hundred human beings were caged in a death trap. A number of buildings were ravaged throughout the city, but the extraordinary climax of the storm was enacted in the hotel being constructed at the intersection of Lamborn and Third streets. Over two score unfortunate workmen were the victims. Scarcely five minutes clapsed from the moment when the men, full of energy, were progressing with their tasks till the frightful whirl was miles distant in its path of destruction and the remains of the debris. It was with the utmost difficulty that the undertaking of getting at the real extent of the disaster was prosecuted. Two corpses dragged from the ruins formed the basis of about the first genuine information, and dispelled the faint hope that no life had been sacrificed outright. The rescuers were hindered and the misery of the wounded doubly intensified by water-soaked garments, the result of the downpour of rain that accompanied the atmospheric eddy. While the dead and wounded were being conveyed from the hotel, vague reports began conving in of the werek wrought in other the dead and wounded were being conveyed from the hotel, vague reports began coming in of the wreck wrought in other localities. The indications were that the damage in the country district would be almost unprecedented in this section.

PROPAGATING CANCER.

The Charges Against Bergmann and Hahn the German Specialists. A Berlin cable says : An official report of cancer-grafting operations of Drs. Berg in and Hahn has been issued. The re mann and Hahn has been issued. The report denies that the treatment was experimental. After the patients were operated on for cancer, pieces of sound skin were grafted on the parts operated on, and pieces from the tainted places were sewn in the wounds caused by the removal of the sound skin. The operation was performed with the consent of the patient, and was done at a period when the profession was still ignorant whether cancer was contagious or not.
The treatment resorted to proves the contagionaries of cancer, as was recorded in a The treatment resorted to proves the contagiousness of cancer, as was recorded in a paper read at the Medical Congress in 1889. The report adds that Dr. Leidig is incompetent to pronounce on the subject, and that he erred in asserting that the treatment was

arry Away Bridges and Wreck Houses

Pennsylvania. A Pittsburg despatch asys: The temporary treatle of a new Panhandle Railway bridge across Cork's Run, six miles below this city, was washed away by a sudder flood yesterday and three workmen were drowned. The body of one was recovered and identified as that of Thomas Coleman. The other two were foreigners, and their names have not yet been learned. About the same time an immans lavelide came. the same time an immense landslide came down the hill below Dequesne heights and fell on a Chartiers street car. The roof was down the hill below Dequesse leights and fell on a Chartiers street car. The roof was crushed in, but none of the passengers were injured. It has been raining hard since II o'clock on Friday night, and considerable damage by washouts and landslides is reported along the lines of the railroads. All the small streams are running bank full.

Plantation Hands Fight.

A West Point, Miss., despatch says:
There was a riot among the colored population on, the Captain Fred. Broll plantation on Friday night. Two young bucks had a difficulty about a girl, and proceeded to cut each other to pieces with hoes. Some fifteen or twenty men, women aid children then took a hand in the fray, and an inventhen took a hand in the fray, and an inven-tory showed one woman with her brains oozing out of a frightful hole in the back of her head made by a hee, one boy in the same condition, and two bucks frightfully cut and bruised. Everyone engaged in the affair was more or less hurt, and at least two deaths, perhaps more, will result.

The Advantages of Education. The Advantages of Education.

Buffalo News: "I tell you, Bill," said Smoky Mike, the burglar, "we hardworkin' thieves don't make half as much money out o' the business as them dude bank presidents and Pennsylvania officials."

"That's so, Smoke," returned Bill. "An that just shows the value of eddication which I has frequently remarked."

Simoky Mike, the burglar, "we hard workin' thieves don't make half as much money out o'the business as them dude bank presidents and Pennsylvania officials."

"That's so, Smoke," returned Bill. "An' that just shows the value of eddication, which I has frequently remarked."

New Jersey is experimenting with the convict parole law or ticket-of-leave system, and already there is an outcry against its working. It is charged that political favoritism is at work and that convicts whose friends have a "pull" are profiting by it. Doubtless there is a danger of this. The indeterminate sentence scheme agitated for in this country is equally open to that objection, and in addition, places the working of the law in its most important function in the hands of prison officials and guards. These men are only human and are liable, however, honest-intentioned, to bias and prejudice. The chances are more than even that the system would inure to the benefit of the cunning hypocrite, while the really reformed prisoner might be subjected to added penalities. The sentences of judges and magistrates are monsirous enough, sometimes a court in which the prisoner is without witnesses and unrepresented by counsel.

Annie Myers, so long the round and rosy the first of the round and rosy in the same day his wife that the same day his wife the same and have a man advertisary underlings. The system makes them a court in which the prisoner is without witnesses and unrepresented by counsel.

Annie Myers, so long the round and rosy in the same day his wife the same day his wife the same and and the same days his wife the same and and the same days his wife the same and and the same days his wife the same d

We do not want to revive the star chamber.

Annie Myers, so long the round and rosy soubrette of the McCaull Opera Company, will join Aronson's New York Casino Company next October, when Marie Tempest will become prima donns soprano.

Gen. Booth, the Salvation Army leader, proposes, during his tour of the world, to buy land in the western part of the United States to found a colony similar to that which he has established in England, where he has about 129 men at work.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

during the recess since last session for the carrying on of the public service. He said that a reference to that statement showed the gross amount of the warrants to be $1,310,876.38, and it appeared from this statement that there was only expended $750,646.00. In addition to the precautions at present provided for, before the Governor-General's warrant could issue, he proposed that the report of the Minister and the grant is asked, should set forth on the face of it the facts and circumstances which warranted him in asking for this special grant, that that report shall be referred to the Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation, after which it shall go to the Minister of Minister of Finance for his endorsation of Finance for his ime:

To amend an Act to incorporate the Montreal Bridge Co.

Respecting the Saskatchewan Railway and Mining Co.

To incorporate the Chatsworth, Georgian Bay, and Lake Huron Railway Co.

Mr. McMullen said that the Government in pretending before the last election to be anxious to secure reciprocity on the lines of the treaty of 1854 had been guilty of practising a gross fraud upon the people of Canada. The supporters of the Government were now arguing that reciprocity in natural products would be injurious to the interests of the farmers.

natural products would be injurious to the interests of the farmers.

Mr. McMullen said the iron duties bore heavily upon the farmer. The member for Haldingand did not use iron except what was in his médical instruments.

Mr. Montague—And in the tinctures too.

Laughter.)
Mr. McMullen said the investigation now taking place showed how loosely the affairs of the country had been administered, and how highly desirable it was that there should be a change.

Mr. Ives moved the adjournment of the debate.

debate.
Mr. Girouard presented the report of the Privileges and Elections Committee, asking for a reduction of a quorum, from 21 to 11, in order that the committee may meet while the House is in session. The report was evaluated.

ber face: Some time ago Mr. Baird bought York House, Regent's Park, for Mrs. Langtry, and also paid off her debts in connection with the Princess Theatre, of which for the princes Theatre, of which for the princess Theatre, of which for the princes Theatre, of which for the prince was to the house in season. The report was adopted.

A Nashville, Tenn., despatch says: Governor Buchanan has ordered the entires governor Buchanan has ordered the entires that the form of the police, who promptly ejected him.

A Nashville, Tenn., despatch says: Governor Buchanan has ordered the entire Sievernor Buchanan has or venience.

Sir John Thompson, in introducing a bill to amend the Dominion Election Act, said it proposed that deposits should be made in legal tender or in the bills of any chartered bank doing business in Canada. It was proposed to restrict the transfer of voters by way of agents to two in each polling booth. Provision was made in the case of the loss of a ballot box for the taking of evidence by the returning officer, and the necessary machinery was provided for getting an order from a Superior Court judge compelling the County Court judge to make a recount where the aggrieved party is entitled to it. The returning officer shall report the candidates who have the highest number of votes to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, who shall gazette them in the order in which they come in.

Sir John Thompson moved the first reading of 'the bill to amend the Controverted Elections Act.

Mr. Mulock moved that the evidence taken as to the Langevin block before the Public Accounts Committee be printed.

Sir John Thompson objected. The request should come from the committee.

Mr. Ives, upon resuming the budget-debate, said that Mr. McMullen had said that the Conservatives were opposed to any kind of reciprocity with the United States. Sir John Thompson, in introducing a bil ate, said that Mr. McMullen had said that ne Conservatives were opposed to any kind f reciprocity with the United States. Mr. Girouard moved that messages be ont to the Senate asking them to give leave to Senator Robitaille to attend as a witness to Senator Robitalile to attend as a witness before, the Privileges and Elections Com-mittee and requesting that they allow the committee the use of one of their committee ommittee the age of other their controller of the Public Accounts Committee to inquire into the payment of $600 to G. A. Burgeois, late Post-office Inspector of Three Rivers district.

Americans.
Young Prince George of Wales is covered with tattooings of mermaids and such.
Indianapolis Journal: "Hum!" said Mr. Wickwire, "here's a 'great story in this paper. It appears that a man advertised for a boy, and the same day his wife presented him with twin sons. If that does not show the value of advertising, what does it show!"
"It shows that if he had confided his business affairs to his wife, as a man ought to, he might have saved the expense of the advertisement," answered Mrs. Wickwire. The theatres and music halls of London, according to Mr. Irving, represent a capital of $15,000,000.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The premium on gold closed at 266 in Suenos Ayres yesterday. Sarah Davis, said to be 133 years of age, ras buried at Indianapolis yesterday.

onnu, and then after obtaining more of her money, ran away with another woman.

On Sunday evening a disgraceful scene was enacted between the French and English guests of a hotel in Vaudreuit, a summer resort on the Ottawa river, about twenty-five miles from Montreal. The French insisted upon music and dancing, contrary to the wishes of the proprietor and the English guests, and a row ensued, which was quelled, with difficulty without calling in the polyte.

A paper in Paris is publishing a series of articles making some horrible revelations in regard to the prevalence of immorality in England. Great Britain is described as the female slave mart of Europe. The interesting statement is made that every country mansion in England has its padded room, where girls who have been lured to their destruction are kept in a slavery worse than death, and finally secretly put out of the way.

death, and finally secretly put out of the way.

In the British House of Commons yesterday a man who had obtained admittance to the strangers' gallery suddenly sprung to his feet and wildly flourished above his head a bundle of documents referring to some real or fancied grievance, which he attempted to explain to the members of Parliament. The police started towards the stranger, when the man threw his bundle of papers down to the floor of the House. By this time the wild visitor was in the hands of the police, who promptly ejected him.

The Speaker of the British House of

A ngnt took place, lasting four hours, in which one fetichman and many natives were killed, and a large number wounded. The natives retreated. Two Frenchmen were killed and twelve were wounded.

AROUND THE HOUSE. ome of the Mere Trifles That Help Brighten Home Life.

Pieces of licorice laid around where ants Pieces of licorice laid around where ants run is recommended.

Meringues should be put on puddings after they are slightly cool, as, if the pudding be hot, the egg will liquefy.

In cooking vegetables, always remember that boiling water evaporates rapidly on the approach of a storm or when it is raining.

Old newspapers torn in small pieces and wet in water softened by the addition of a little ammonia are excellent to wash lamp chimneys.

To remove scratches and bruises from furniture, rub them gently with a fresh walnut, butternut or hickorynut kernel, and they will disappear as if by magic.

hey will disappear as if by magic.

A little memorandum book, or slate, the kitchen is a great convenience for busy housekeepers in which to write a list of things needed for the kitchen and table.— Ladies' Home Journal.

slays a Man Whom the Czar Had Acciden Slays a Man Whom the Czar Had Accidentally Wounded.

A St. Petersburg despatch says: The latest rumor regarding attempts upon the life of the Czar, which rumor caused a momentary terror in St. Petersburg, was that an officer had tried to murder the Czar with an axe. The report arose from the fact that the Czar was amusing himself in a forest chopping a tree, when the head of the axe flew off and struck an attendant in the face, wounding him. The Czar went to the assistance of the wounded man and got some blood on his hands and clothes. An officer of the guard approached them and thought the Czar was in danger. He called upon some soldiers to rescue His Majesty, and before an explanation could be made the wounded attendant was cut down by the over-zealous soldiery. The Czar caused the officer to be punished for his action. tally Wounded.

Finished His Story. On January 15th last two laborers were at work on a railroad running into Indianapolis from Alton. One was telling a story, and as he was bending over he was accidentally hit on the head with a hammer by his companion, and his skull was fractured. He was rendered unconscious and remained in a comatose condition until last Friday night, when Dr. G. D. Sturtevant, of Indianapolis, tropanned his skull, and immediately upon removing the pieces of skull from against the brain the man continued the story which was starte differ months before and had lain latent in his brain during all this time.—Globe-Democrat.

The number of English words which have no rhyme in the language is very large. Amoung them are mouth, silver, liquid, spirit, chimney, warmth, gulf, sylph, music, breadth, width, depth, honor, iron echo.

There is an absolute potato famine in some parta of Maine, and the people have eaten no potatoes for several weeks, the old crops having been exhausted and no new ones imported.

One of the gardeners of Bayou Sara, in Louisiana, has produced a tomato that weighs twenty-seven pounds, and he now proposes to rest on his laurels until his competitors ketchup with that.

PERISHED AT SEA.

Iwo Women and Five Children Lost in the Pubnico Belle Wreck.

A COWARDLY CREW. the gross amount of the warrants to be significant that there was only acquained significant that the content of the

She is an Interesting Creature and You

Like Her Ways.

These are the days when the escorted girl s prevalent. You can tell her at a glance. The girl whose brothers are accustomed to take her about has an air of good fellowship which is unmistakable. She is an't the escorted girl. Oh, no!
The escorted girl has the conscious air of a having just discovered that she is desirable, but not having yet learned for a certainty that she is worth while. She has the consciousness of suspecting that man is her an atrial prey, but of not being certain that him. She enjoys the sensations of being desired without the full knowledge that the desire will grow by what it feeds on. She feels her power, but does not quite know how to use it. She tries it, but with a slightly timid manner. She has not yet gained confidence. There is usually an open attempt to please in her manner, which draws marked attention to her. It is while she is in this state that she gives away more of her real nafure than she ever does later. And it is while she is in this frame of mind that she comes under the head of the sort of girl I have been noting lately, and for lack of a better classification have dubbed "the escorted girl."

There are women, I find, who never get beyond this stage. There are girls of suggestive possibilities who never realize all that they promise, for some undefinable reason. They never grow sure of their rights, never wear them with authority.
This class of women is not uncommon. I regolect them in my youth. One often made greateflortatobe made acquainted with them, and never got any further. They are often prettier than less attractive girls, but lacking reality they are only inspiring to the imagination. Femininity is hard to classify, however, and there is as much difference of opinion about it as about religion.

Botton Home Journal.

A TALE OF CRUELTY. hipwrecked Sailors Shamefully Treate

A London Cable says: Forty of the crew of the wrecked British ship New York have arrived at Liverpool. They were landed at Plymouth last night in a shocking plight. The New York sailed from Swansea on Feb. 6th last, coal-laden, for San Francisco. She was wrecked at New Year's Island in the was wrecked at New Year's Island in the Pacific on April 20th, when one of the crew was drowned. The Governor of Itooroon or Staten Island, to whom the shipwrecked men went for assistance, was unmerciful. He refused to give them clothes and compelled them while barefooted to drag lumber over the snow. They escaped after five weeks, during which they fared shamefully, to Oshoos, whence they escaped in five days to Sandy Point. The men are in a miserable condition. The British Consul sent them home.

A Four-Footed Centleman. A Four-Footed Gentleman.

To be well-educated, to have good manners, and to be used to good society, are certainly strong claims to being considered a gentleman, and if a gentleman may sometimes be called a donkey, why may not a donkey sometimes be called a gentleman Something like this may have been the reasoning of the man who framed a novel advertisement which appeared in a London paper:

paper:

"For sale, a donkey, well-educated, of gentle manners, good-looking and a good goer. Has been driven and cared for by gentlewomen, and is a gentleman. Only parted with because no further use for him. Price, 50s. No more, no less."

The largest gold coin now in circulation is said to be the gold ingot, or "loof," of Anam, a French colony in Eastern Asia. It is a flat, round gold piece, and on it is awritten in Indian Ink its value, which is about $220. The next sized coin to this valuable but extremely awkward one is the "obang" of Japan, which is worth about $55; and the next comes the "benda" of Ashantee, which represents a value of about $49.° The Californis $50 gold piece is worth about the same as the "benda." The heaviest silver coin in the world also belongs to Anam, where the silver ingot is worth about $15. Large Coins.

about $15.

In the Same Boat.

Printers' Album: A preacher recently said that a newspaper that told the truth, and the whole truth, couldn't be a pecuniary success. The minister who will at all times and under any circumstances tell the whole truth about his members, alive or dead, might not occupy the pulpit more than one Sunday, and in some cases might find it convenient to leave town. The press and the pulpit go hand in hand with the whitewash brush and pleasant words, magnifying little virtues into big ones. The pulpit, the press and the gravestone are the great saint-making triumvirate.

Kanas in a layer state in some respects.

Kansas is a large state in some respects.
It has been discovered by a statistican that she could take in seven countries the size of Belgium and still have 400,000 acres to dispose of.

Belgium and still have 400,000 acres to dispose of.
The credit of having manufactured the largest gun in existence is claimed by the Krupp Company. The gun, which is the property of the Russian Government, is made of cast steel, weighs 235 tons, and has a caliber of 13½ inches, and a barrel 40 feet in length. It fires two shots per minute and each charge costs $300.

A new pianoforte keyboard having six rows of keys his recently been enhibited in Manchester, England. An octave is formed by six keys in two contiguous rows. All the keys are on the same level, and each note is separated from the next by an interval of we semi-tones.

"First nights" are congrally set in Lon-separated from the next by an interval of two semi-tones.

"First nights" are generally set in Lon-don for a Saturday evening, and, there being no issue of papers on the following morning, the critics have fully 36 hours in which to leisurely incubate their articles, which are usually exhaustive and worthy of dramatic scrapbooks.

AN OBVIOUS DIS

value of everything else. All property is a monopoly as well as land. All increase of values, resulting from an increased demand, must be given up, and the great notive to all the control of the contro be advantaged in proportion to their wealth. (8) The scheme would be mischlerous and impracticable.

The argument turns upon section 3. Cannot the editor of the Guardian, with his logical mind, discern a difference between land and the products of labor, which makes the former a monopoly in the sense in which the latter are not? Land becomes valuable by reason of scarcity and the increased demand for it. Can any man increase the supply of land, and thus case the monopoly? No, because land is a fixed quantity, the creation of God and not the product of human labor. Boots, or houses, or jackknives, or sheep may be scarce and therefore their value is increased, but by the act of man the supply can be augmented and the equilibrium between supply and demand restored. This essential difference has been overlooked by the writer who contends that the taking of the unearned increment of land value by the community for public use would justify the taking of the increased value of labor products and thus destroy the motive to active industry.

John Stuart Mill dealt with this point as follows: "Land, it is said, is not the only article of property which rises in value from the mere effect of the advance of national wealth, independently of anything done by the proprietor. Pictures by the old masters, ancient sculptures, rare curiosities of all sorts, have the same tendency. If it is not unjust to deprive the landlord of the uncarred increase of the value of his land, by the same rule the increase of Raphaels and Titians might be taken from their fortunate possessors and appropriated by the state.

"Were this true in principle, it would lead to one consequences in veractics since the same rule, the increase of Raphaels and difficians might be taken from their fortunate possessors and appropriated by the state.

"Were this true in principle, it would lead to no consequences in practice, since the revenue which could be obtained by even a very high tax on these rare and soutered possessions would not be worth consideration to a prosperous country. But it is not true, even in principle.

"Objects of art, however rare or incomparable, differ from land and its contents in this essential particular, that they are products of labor. Objects of high art are products of labor. Objects of high art are products not only of labor but of sacrifice. The prospective rise in price of works of art is yo no means an unearned increase; the best productions of genius and skill obtain that honor while the increasing value of land is indiscriminate."

There is neither force nor keenness in generalizing from an exception. While some things which have cost intel labor are worth much, the general rule is that the value of a commodity is proportionate to the labor bestowed upon its production. A man may find a big nugget of gold.

We quote further from Mill to emphasize the distinction between land and other property, by ignoring which Mr. Dawson has supplied himself with the foundation for his argument: "When the "sacredness of property," is talked of, it should always be remembered that any such sacredness does not belong in the same degree to landed property. No man made the land. It is the original inheritance of the whole is species. Its appropriation is wholly a question of general expediency. When private property in land is not expedient it is unjust. It is no hardship to any one to be been not been always be remembered that any such sacredness does not belong in the same degree to landed property. No man made the land. It is the original inheritance of the whole is species. Its appropriation is wholly a question of general expediency. When private property in land is not expedient it is unjust. It is no case of land, no exclusive right should be permitted in any individual which cannot others would result from it; but in the case of land, no exclusive right should be permitted in any individual which cannot be shown to be productive of positive good. No quantity of movable goods which a person can acquire by his labor prevents others from acquiring the like by the same means; but from the very nature of the case, whoever owns land keeps others out of the enjoyment of it. The pretension of two Dukes to shut up a part of the Highlands, to prevent disturbance to wild animals, its an abuse; it exceeds the legitimate bounds of the right of landed property. The land is not of man's creation; and for a person to appropriate to himself a mere gift of nature, not made to him in particular, but which belonged as much to all others until he took possession of it, is prima facic an injustice to all the rest."

Rev. William Thackeray, in his book on "The Land and the Community," presents the historical proof that the land belongs to the people. The logical free trader arrives at the same end by tracing the effect of the gradual repeal of duties and taxes on goods. The editor of the Guardian might get there by considering that "the earth is the Lord's," and by studying the meaning and intention of the year of jubile. There is little value in an argument which ignores an important part of the premises, namely, the essential difference detween a gift of God and a product of human labor, one of which is fixed in quantity while the other can be increased at will by human exertion. On the recognition of that distinction, the great political problem of the day, in all civilized countries, hinges. When the community takes for public use only the value produced by the community, leaving for individual, population will be no longer differentiated into the too rich and the very poor. And when men do not have to spend their whole time and effort ministering to their bellies, the preschers will be able to awaken their interest regarding their souls. Let the editor of the Guardian think of this, pray over it, study it,

Why She Was Angry Boston Herald: He put his arm around her waist for the first time, but, realizing his boldness, quickly withdrew it. "Are you angry with me, Katie?" he asked, timidly.

"Of course I am," Georgie," she answered. "What business had you to take away your arm?"

No Danger. New York Jury: "He sat on my joke."
"That was safe."
"Safe?"
"Yes. There wasn't any point to it."

Stanley is reported to have made $181,000 from his American tour. One-half of this sum came from his book, and the other half from his lectures.

Mrs. Thomas A. Edison's eldest daughter is a brilliant performer on the pi is a brilliant performer on the piano. She is now in Germany under rare musical tuition. The property left by the late Sir Richard Sutton, owner of the Genesta, is estimated at over £7,000,000. The heir to the estate is a posthumus child only just born, and by the time he becomes of age the fortune will be among the very greatest.

A Pittsburg centenarian recently attempted suicide and when asked for an explanation he said he had lost all hope of dying in a natural way.

A goodly share of laziness, A vague, esthetic air Combine to make a poet if You throw in lots of hair.

when my heart was as light-as the blossoms it bore;
Where my old maiden aunt by the parson was

On this rude oaken bench, 'neath ben boughs eated, While the wild bee was humming its so the tree. Therefore of times by our elders treated. To share with their gossip, some cakes weak tea.

of dear parents and kindred long gone to the tomb;
The old apple tree like a true friend is heapting.
The old oak bench they sat on with beauty and bloom. In the glad days of spring, when the spirit re

Joloss, When the old apple tree looks as gay as a bride,
I could dream that I heard every one of the voices
Of the friends that sat here on the bench by my side, Every rudely-carved name has a store

And that true lever's knot, I remember it well; well;
It was carved on the day when my first grief
befell me,
The day of my parting from sweet Isabel. Oh! the old apple tree, where in boyhood I sported,
And the rude oaken bonch, they are still in their place;
But the dear household faces whose welcome I
I courted,
They have vanished and left me the last in the race.
—H. Coyle, in Vick's Magazine.

BUNCO STEERERS IN PARIS. They Rob and Maltreat a Couple of Trusting Yankees.

A Paris cable says: A couple of bunco steerers found their way over here last week. Two Americans suffered severely at their hands. The first was Charles Dresbach. The American lawyer met a fellow-citizen on the Boulevard. The steerer asked for a light. The pair got into conversation, walked down Avenue de l'Opera together to the Hotel du Louvre, where they had a drink. There they were joined by another American, with a pronounced Irish accent, who introduced himself. At 3 c'olock they returned to the Boulevard, ordered dinner American, with a pronounced Irish accent, who introduced himself. At 3 o'clock they returned to the Boulevard, ordered dinner in a private room in the Maison d'Ore, the well-known restaurant. When the champane began to flow the Irish-American stated he had just inherited from an uncle in New York a colossal fortune, amounting to from thirty to forty million dollars. He only needed money sufficient to enable him to cross the atlantic. Mr. Dresbach promptly took out his purse and offered to pay his passage. The warm-hearted Irishman refused the offer, but was so touched by Mr. Dresbach's generosity that he threw his arms around his dear friend's neck and embraced him heartly. When he left a few minutes lawar Mr. Dresbach was minus his pocket-book, which contained a $500 bill, two $20 bills and twenty-five sovereigns. The same evening an American resident here, Mr. Charles Burnside, after leaving his friends at a restaurant noticed a gang of four men following him. When he reached the Rue de Provence one of them jumped on his back and another kicked him violently on the shins. Mr. Burnside is a burly man, full of courage, and he resisted to the utmost; but he was finally knocked senseless by the united blows of his antagonists, who robbed him of 1,700f. and left him covered with wounds from their cowardly attack.

TEA TABLE GOSSIP. -Do not imagine that every man who says nothing approves of your conduct. —Success in life is very apt to make us forget the time when we weren't much. -The heart must be beaten and bruised, and then the sweet scent will come out. —All of us complain of the shortness of life, yet we all waste more time than we use.

THE JUNCTION. Rzzzkwng Jnkshn! Chjkrzzz frrr Wixzzzbry, Brinkta and Yngzzzbg! Brinktn and Yngzzzbg! On, no; 'tis not Chinese, or Welsh, Nor Hebrew, Sanscrit, Russian, These rasping syllables I belch Are a U. S. institution.

I'll tell you all what they're all about;
It is the brakeman's function
These wild, delirious words to shout
When coming to the junction,
—There are 6,250,000 Roman Catholics in the United States. —Many a girl who "takes the cake" wouldn't if she had to bake it herself.

In my travels I have noticed that the man who wants the earth,
And who pulls and hauls and elbows in to get And who pulls and name are the form the lower borth,
Is the same who always tells you, with his overflowing love,
That the atmosphere is better in the other berth above.

—Considerable British indignation has been aroused by a fancy-dress ball in India —Considerable British indignation has been aroused by a fancy-dress ball in India in which officers dressed as fiends, with horns and tails, danced a quadrille with eight ladies costumed as "reluctant angels." —Operations have been commenced in the onstruction of the much-talked of C. P. R. bridge over the Niagara, above the whirl-pool. It is supposed the structure will be finished before the snow flies.

The Prisoner was Missing, but that Didn't Matter.

They are not very rigid as to cormalities down on the Rattlesnak on Arizona, says the San Francisco in Arizona, says the San Francisco News-Letter.

"I don't see the prisoner," said the County Judge, as he walked up preparatory to sentencing a culprit. "Where is he?"

"Tm blessed if I know," said the Sheriff, looking under the benches. "Just lent him my paper of fine cut, too."

"Was he a big red-headed man with a sear on his cheek?" asked the foreman, who was playing poker with the rest of the jury.

was playing poker with the rest of the jury.

"That's the cuss," said the clerk, who had been betting on a horse race with the prosecuting attorney.

"Why, then," said the foreman, "he asked me to go out and take a drink about an hour ago, but I showed him I had three sixes, and he said, 'Well, next time, then,' and walked out."

"The thunder you say?" roared His Honor. "However, he's sure to be in town next week to see the dog fight, and some of you must remind the sheriff to shoot him on sight. The docket is just jammed full of horse stealing cases, and there is no time to waste over a measly homicider. Next case."

Dr. Konrad Brunner of the University of Zurich has proved by a series of experiments that micro-organisms are discharged through the perspiration as well as through the blood. The bacteria can be seen in the drops of perspiration by means of a misscope.

drops of perspiration by means of a microscope.

A bare-footed girl of Big Stone, Tenn., recently killed 63 rattlesnakes and escaped without being bitten. Her feet were probably developed in Chicago.

The Texas cattleman says the outlook at present is that the supply of cattle from that state will fall short 1,000,000 head as compared with the number last year.

The most remarkable Waterloo survivor the London World believes to be Monsieur Philip George d'Epinois, who was born in 1794, and still discharges the duties of burgomaster in his native village of Epinoisles The Chevalier d'Epinois was one of the civic guards who welcomed Leopold L to Belgium 60 years ago.

The memorial cross has been prepared at the expense of the national leprosy fund in England, to be erected over the grave of Fr. Damien at Molokai, is now finished, and will be sent soon to its destination. It is of red granite, polished and unpolished, and cost $1,000.

Madame Modjeska will return from Madame Modjeska will return Madame Modjeska will rectif from Europe early in August. The following month her tour will begin in Canada. Her repertoire will include, besides several standard plays, "Marie Antoinetgio," The Rose of Tyburn" and "The Tarte"