that of Mr. Reed, and it was received

One of the Liberal statiwarts caused a laugh when he arose and jocularly protested against the resolution being put in that way. "I wish, Mr. President," he said, "that you would substitute the word "carry" for "contest."

A Stirring Campaign Address.

The candidate was given a rousing reception as he mounted the platform to address the convention. "In accepting the nomination this time," as said, "I feel in a much better position to 12 present the electors of South Wentstein and the same present the electors of South Wentstein and the same present the electors of South Wentstein and the same present the electors of South Wentstein and the same present the electors of South Wentstein and the same present the

As Colonel VanWagner, the Chairman, remarked, carrying South Wentworth never looked so easy. The Beach bung-ling and the Saltfleet local option mudare sore points with the Conservatives, and Stoney Creek, a Tory stronghold, threatens to go overwhelmingly Liberal at the next election Mr. Reed's opponent is J. T. H. Regan, whom he easily defeated four years ago.

The large assembly hall in the Arcade was filled when Col. Van Wagner called the meeting to order. Hon, A. G. Mac-Kay, leader of the Opposition, and C. N. Smith, the member from the Soo, were scheduled to speak, but prevented from attending owing to it being the last day in the House. Mr. Mackay sent his regrets, and promised to address a meet-ing of the South Wentworth Liberais in the near future.

Predicts a Sweeping Victory.

Colonel VanWagner declared that the Liberals' chances of sweeping the coun-try were never better, and he predicted that South Wentworth would return a supporter to Hon. A. G. MacKay with a magnificent majority. Saitheet, a Tory scronghold, he had no doubt would Tory stronghold, he had no doubt would do its part. "I know that there strong Conservatives are disappointed in the Whitney Government," said the Colouel, Before and immediately after Whitney

"I thought at first," said the speaker, "that he was going to see to the en-forcement of the license laws and that we were going to have an improvement. Instead of taking the licenses out of polities he merely changed from the Grits to the Tories, with the result that all the Liberal license inspectors in the Prothe Liberal license inspectors in the Pro-vince, with the exception of three, were the Liberal license inspectors in the Province, with the exception of three, were diamissed."

Li was not necessary to go away from home for an illustration of the Whitney Government's method in license matters. The Colonel referred to two hotels in Hamilton, which the Citizens' League convinced the Commissioners' should be cut off. The Commissioners' promised an investigation, and then shuffled the responsibility on Toronto. One of these places got three months fo sell out and the other was placed on probation. "Then a certain influence got busy," the Colonel explained, "and the licenses were granted. It was merely political pull."

Dealing with Toronto, where a License Commissioner, also an insurance agent, was flooded with premiums, one hotel man having contributed $5,000 in a year, the colonel jocularly observed, "There is not a man on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the University of the Government on the Opposition side of the Introduces, when he had not the Opposition side of the Introduces, and the University of the Introduces, and the Introduces of the University of the Opposition side

Touching on the power question, he flayed the Government for its failure to keep its promises. The way Cataract power had built up East Hamilton demonstrated what cheef. Turns the Searchlight On.

The spread of the state of coal, and the power meant of the power had built up East Hamilton deep manner deared what cheap power de mant of the power had built up East Hamilton deep meant of the power had built up East Hamilton deep meant of the power had built up East Hamilton deep meant of the power de man the power was as cheap and free as the air and the people were to has et it. A lot of time had been devoted to the subject and much money spent, but not a single ermment for shutting the door on the present of the power severely criticised the Government of shutting the door on the line of the power and the power severely criticised the Government in the power of the powe and return the same verdict in the coming campaign.

George Awrey, of Barton, another stalwart, who has done nioneer service for the Liberal party in Wentworth, was the choice for Vice-President. He nominated William Martin, but Mr. Martin declined and the convention would not take "No" from Mr. Awrey.
George E. Corman, of Saltfleet; was re-elected Secretary and Watson Truesdale, of Barton, Treasurer. Both are capable and efficient officers, who served the association will in the past.

At the suggestion of W. O. Sealey, the candidate for Wentworth in the Dominson House, Colonel Van Wagner, was made Hon. President of the association, in recognition of the energy and zeal with which he has served the association.

The Executive Committee will consist! Mr. Reed made a slashing attack on the Government for its reckless expenditure on commissions, an easy way of turning soft money over to its legal friends. Much of this work should have been done under the heads of the departments, who should take the responsibility, instead of trying to shuffle it off on the commissions. Many men who wanted a little office were provided for in this way and that was the sole reason for most of the commissions.

The Government's educational policy and its flimsy claims for credit on this subject were also vigorously assailed. The Toronto University dispute, the model schools, school books and increased grants were the phases of the question Mr. Reed dealt with. He took some of the polish off the Government's boasting over the cheap school books when he waded into the details.

The Government appealed for credit because it increased the Public School grant. Mr. Reed failed to see any reasons why it should not have increased the grant and increased it much more than it had done. Half of the succession duty money went to Toronto University. With an expenditure of over seven million dollars, why shouldn't the Government give more to education than a government with four million dollars? They were increasing the expenditure in every department, and why should they not give more to education, one of the most important departments? not give more to education, one of the most important departments?

The Power Fiasco.
The Government was taking great redit for what it done for the Province in the way of cheap power. It had spent $70,000 in investigation. The only practical thing it had done was to settle a little dispute between two rival compan ies at Ottawa. The Government had ies at Ottawa. The Government had been talking for three years, but had never delivered a single horse power. When Mr. Smith, the member from the When Mr. Smith, the member from the Soo, speaking at Hamilton recently, had taken exception to the Government's promises to deliver power in a short time, Hon. Adam Beck arose in the House the next day and said that by the end of the week he would have signed contracts with fifteen municipalities. Two weeks after that, at Dundas, Mr. Smith pointed out that not a single municipality had signed. It was a month since Mr. Beck had made his promise, and yet not a single contract had been signed.

Mr. Reed explained the reason Hon. A.

to be present and conveyed their regretser
It was the last day of the Legislature and as many important matters were coming up it was impossible for them to leave. Mr. MacKay desired him to say that as soon as the campaign opened or whenever the association desired
Mr. MacKay would be pleased to address the Liberals.

The Government supporters were making frantic efforts to show that the Liberals were not a unit on Mr. MacKay as leader. "There is not a man on the Opposition side of the House," declared Mr. Reed "but who is in full ment would guarantee nothing and that the municipalities would have to pay every cent. "But I don't think you will pay much for what you get from this commission." added Mr. Reed.

The murder, which was committed at Lemburg, where the Stadtholder was giving an audience to a delegation of students, caused an enormous sensation, and is likely to greatly influence. Austrian political conditions. Between the Poles and Ruthenians in the Province of Gaticia there is a traditional antagonism. The Poles, though their majority is inconsiderable, have assumed the entire administration, and likewise have an overwhelming majogity in Parliament. The Ruthenians consider themselves enslaved, and their irritation is often manifested by violent irritation is often manifested by violent outoursts in Parliament and in street riots and students demonstrations. Vienna, April 11.-Count Andreas lives are known to have been lost and at a late hour to-night it was reported that two other persons had perished, one a woman, having shot herself in a frenzy over her inability to save her property. From fifty to seventy five persons were injured.

In the confusion attending the situation accurate estimates of the loss were impossible. The city police estimated it at nearly $10,000,000. The fire was the worst greater Boston has known in many years. It raged before a forty-five-mile an hour gale for more than six hours, defying the combined fire departments of Chelsea and several nearby cities and a large detachment of Boston irremen and apparatus. The fire area, which was of the form of an ellipse, a mile and a half long and half a mile wide at its broadest part, extended diagonally across the city from a point near the boundary between Everett and Chelsea to the waters of Chelsea Creek. It was useless for the firemen to attempt to checkthe on-rush of the flames before the gale, and their main efforts were to prevent a spread of the blaze upon either side. Their last stand was taken at Chelsea square late in the afternoon and for hours a doubtful battle was waged. At 9 o/clock word was passed that the firemen were winning, and with renewed energy the contest was pressed. At 10.50 official announcement was made by Fire Chief Spencer that the fire was under control. In the confusion attending the situed by violent irritation is often manifested by violent outbursts in Parliament and in street riots and students' demonstrations. A year ago the Ruthenian students demolished several lecture halls at Lemberg University because the use of their mother tongue was forbidden them there. The murderer participated in these riots.

Sziczynski is 32 years old, and the son of an ecclesiastic, who is also a member of Parliament. On being arrested he exclaimed, "I am no criminal. I have acted on behalf of my oppressed people." Montreal, April 11.—At a largely attended meeting to endorse the result ly-organized Children's Aid Society. Sir Chas. For a time it looked as if the magnificent City Hall might be saved. The ficent City Hall might be saved. The hope was but momentary, however, for about 3 o'clock a tiny flickering flame was seen gaining headway under the coping of the cupola. Gathering force in the mighty wind, the flame licked the cupola, exposed the great bell in the tower and crept down into the main structure. Soon the entire structure was swept away, and a dozen new buildings in the vicinity had become ignited from the sparks and heat.

Oil Tanks Exploded

Suddenly there was a terrific explosion and the oil tanks of the Tidewater Oil Company on the water front in the vicinity of Marginal and Highland streets burst into flames. Thousands of gallons of oil soon were burning, and gigantic clouds of black smoke curled skyward, making as night all the east end of the city. The smoke was seen as far away as Portsmouth, N. H. It was a terrifying sight to those already overcome by the loss of all they possessed. But in a measure the black smoke was a blessing, for enveloping as it did the showers of burning embers, from the main conflagration to the north and became a protecting mantle which laid low over Chelsea for a mile or more to the cast, keeping off the fire and Asmes from many homes, which doubtiess otherwise would have been swept away.
