

VARIETIES.

THE REALITIES OF GOLD DIGGING.

To most people at a distance there appears some romance in gold-digging; they are excited with the idea that they may kick up a stone and find twenty pounds of gold under it, and cannot imagine how people can refrain from seizing a pick and breaking every piece of quartz they pass, to see if there is another monster nugget in it. But this is all a delusion; gold-digging is a real downright matter-of-fact; so many hours of common labourers' work, so much gold; so many buckets of earth, so many ounces; and once a man is amongst the diggers, he feels no more inclination to take a pick in his hand for the chance of what he might turn up, than he would to enter upon the labour of English navies, whose allowance is three cubic yards per day. The labour is almost as great, and sometimes exceedingly so; a great many flah and the dirty work, mud, and slush in water, the wretched cooking, and uncomfortable beds, if such as the great mass can be called beds, the discomfort of sitting in the open air between sun-down and bedtime, and rising cold and damp in the morning, besides the pain of training the body to a severe and incessant labour, are so contrary to the habits of the many that few can stand the training. No one, therefore, should think of attempting such work unless he feels himself equal to any exertion, mentally and bodily, and prepared to rough it in the extreme sense of the term. It is very easy to distinguish those who have been any length of time at work from the new arrivals by their worn and dirty dress, their beards, and their thin lack faces; for even the most healthy of them have a haggard appearance. A few were complaining of dysentery, and some of them had bad eyes—the latter occasioned by the flies, which are terribly annoying; and the former generally goes its round amongst the new comers, though most of the men are remarkably healthy at this time of the year; but the water in many places was very bad, and its ill effects were much felt.—Mossmann's Australia Visited and Revisited.

FARMERS' CREED.

We believe in small farms and thorough cultivation.

We believe that the soil loves to eat, as its owner, and ought to be manured.

We believe in large crops which leave the land better than they found it, making both the farmer and the farm rich at once.

We believe in going to the bottom of things—and therefore in deep ploughing and enough of it. All the better with a sub-soil plough.

We believe the best fertilizer of any soil is a spirit of industry, enterprise and intelligence—without this, lime and gypsum, bones and green manure, marl and guano, will be of little use.

We believe in good fences, good barns, good farm-houses, good stock, good orchards and children enough to gather the fruit.

We believe in a clean kitchen, a neat wife in it, a spinning piano, a clean cupboard, a clear conscience.

We believe in farmers who will not improve—in farmers that grow poorer every year—farmers' boys turning into clerks and merchants—in farmers a-hamed of their vocation.

The good Farmer wears russet clothes, but makes golden payments, having tin in his buttons, and silver in his pockets. In his house he is bountiful both to strangers and poor people. He seldom goes far abroad, and his credit stretches farther than his travel. He improveth his land to a double value by his good husbandry. In time of famine he is the Joseph of the country, and keeps the poor from starving.

HAPPINESS THROUGH EXERCISE.—"I have lived long enough," said Dr. Adam Clark, "to know that the great secret of happiness consists in never suffering the energies to stagnate." How much truer and wiser is this than the maxim of the effeminate Hindoos—"It is more happy," say they, "to be seated than to walk; it is more to sleep than to be awake; but the happiest of all is death."

DR. FRANKLIN'S ADVICE TO PARENTS.—When Faine had written an infidel book, which was submitted to Dr. Franklin in manuscript, he returned it to the author, with a letter, from which the following is extracted:—"I would advise you not to attempt to smother the tiger, but to burn this piece before it is seen by any other person. If men are so wicked with religion, what would they be without it?"

A farmer attempted to put a yoke on a pig. He had covered the grinder in a room having a glazed window, when the animal, believing that his freedom was about to be intruded upon, went with a single bound through the window. "Drat it," said the old man, looking after him for a moment, "I've got your dimensions—7 by 9 exactly."

DOWLING, and after the conclusion of the present volume, it will be published at ROXBOROUGH, and Edited by E. BARLEY, assisted by many of the best Horticulturists of the country, whose communications will necessarily add to the value. THE ARCHITECTURAL DEPARTMENT will be conducted by gentlemen of ability and reputation.

Each number will contain a full page engraving of some new, rare, and valuable fruit or flower, drawn from nature, and engraved in a style not excelled. Still further to add to the value of the work, and meet the improving taste and increasing wants of the horticultural community, we shall also publish in addition with COLORED PLATES, each number containing a full page engraving of some new, rare, and valuable fruit or flower, carefully colored from the best living artists in this line. This will be a new and important feature, in this country, and must command the attention and patronage of both professional and amateur Horticulturists. As the number of colored plates we can furnish will be limited, from the care and time required in their preparation, those who wish the Colored Edition of the Horticulturist for 1853, will do well to order immediately. Price with colored plates, FOUR DOLLARS, in advance.

All who cultivate fruit or flowers, should read the Horticulturist, as it is devoted entirely to Horticulture, and its kindred arts, Landscape Gardening and Rural Architecture, and will keep its readers advised of everything new on the subject, either in Europe or America.

It will be our aim not only to make the Horticulturist superior both in style and matter to any work of the character in this country, but equal to any of the Horticultural Journals of Europe; and we confidently ask the aid and co-operation of the Horticulturists of this country. The work is published monthly, and contains forty-eight large pages, without advertisements, stitched in a beautiful and appropriate cover.

WONDER OF THE WORLD.

GRAND CURED of five years standing. CURTIS & PERKINS, Druggists, Bangor, Me.

Gentlemen,—I have been entirely cured of the Gravel, by the use of your Cramp and Pain Killer. I had been suffering for five years with this complaint, and had tried every medicine I could get, but found very little relief until I obtained your Cramp and Pain Killer. In one month after I commenced using it, I began to grow better. I continued to use it for a year, and in the time improving until I was entirely cured. I have since used several bottles of your medicine, and have never been troubled with the Gravel since. I am, Sir, very respectfully, Yours, CHARLES CLIFFORD, STANTON CLIFFORD, Doctor Toly, a regular practicing Physician, of East Meches, writes us under date of March 20, 1847:—"Please send me half a gallon of your Cramp and Pain Killer, as the best medicine to cure what it is represented to be. I have used it for several years, and the Doctor first made use of it in his own case, for a severe sprain in the shoulder, caused by the upsetting of a stage, and found immediate relief, and has since used it for several years, and has never been troubled with the Gravel since. It speaks for itself. RHEUMATISM CURED. I certify, that I was afflicted with a violent Rheumatism in the small of my back, which entirely disabled me, so that I could not get up without the greatest pain and effort; nor could I walk without a cane, and but very little relief. I applied Doctor Johnson's Anodyne Linctus, or Liquid Opium, and several other remedies, without any relief. After suffering in this way about a week, I purchased a bottle of your Cramp and Pain Killer, prepared by CURTIS & PERKINS, Bangor, and after three applications was entirely relieved and free from pain, and am now entirely well. I should care a friend of mine, who had been suffering for a long time with a lame side, with the same trouble. I believe it the best medicine in the world, and am happy to add my testimony in its favor. OLIVER TOWN, Group Pain Killer. All others bearing the name are false imitations. ALL THIS IS GUARANTEED. Price 25 cents per bottle. For Sale by Wm. R. WATSON, CHARLOTTETOWN, JUNE 14, 1853.
