LETTER FROM
MRS. WAKELIN

Tells Remarkable Story of Sickness and Recovery.

Toronto, Ont.—"I suffered greatly from weakness, seemed to be tired all the time, and had no ambition to do anything or go anyplace. My nerves were in bad shape, I could not sleep at night, and then came a breakdown. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and several of my friends advised me to use it, and it surely put new life into me. Now I am quite able to do all my own work, and I would strongly advise every suffering woman to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."—Mrs. CHARLES WAKELIN, 272 Christie St., Toronto, Ont.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for more than forty years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

"The Courage of Marge O'Doone" Is Truly one Picture in a Thousand

It is seldom that a motion picture leaves the impression that James Oliver Curwood's "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" will leave with the patrons of the Happy Hour theatre Wednesday. It is truly a picture in a thousand and one that will long be remembered. The scenic beauty of the landscapes, the cleverness of the players, the intenseness of the story, the faithfulness of the director and the introduction of animals in strong roles are some of the things that make "The Courage of Marge O'Doone" different from the average picture.

Every member of the cast, which includes Niles Welch, Pauline Starko, George Stanley, Jack Curtis, William Dyer, Boris Karloff, Billie Bennett and James O'Neill, is indeed an all-star organization. Each player is an artist in his or her line and works in harmony with others. The production moves like clock work and even Tara, the trained bear, and Bares, the outlaw dog, seem to know what is expected of them. These dumb animals feel the importance of their roles and attack each piece of difficult business with all the cunning known to animal kingdom.

If Director Smith went after realism, he certainly got it and got the atmosphere of the north as well. The picture was taken a few miles out from Truckee in the Rockies during a severe blizzard. The players are without all of the hardships of a life far away from civilization in order to produce genuine color and the result is a picture that is worthy of all the sacrifices made. The picture is a big production, handled in a big way and presented with all of the splendor and majesty of a motion picture. It is a masterpiece, as well as one of the most thrilling and interesting stories ever filmed.

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine cured me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."
