The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

The matter of fact lady and the girl with the heart that won't grow up, were talking about one of the girl's favorite projects—the purchase of a horse.

They had just seen a beautiful horse with a fine, broad chest and a little head and a star on his forehead and perked up ears, go prancing by and the girl had instantly made up her mind that it must be a chestnut horse instead of a black one after all.

"And now what shall we name him?" she pondered. "Let's decide that now."

"Better wait until you get him," warned the matter of fact lady after the fashion of her kind.

"Oh, dear, no!" laughed the girl. "Let's have the fun of naming him right now, and then we'll be sure of that."

"Do you think the lady guessed?"

"Half the wisdom she expressed!" I doubt it, for it seems to me there is a very gold mine of wisdom in that half jesting speech of hers.

We cannot always have the joys of realization. And when we do, all too often, "the worldly hope we set our hearts upon, turns ashes."

And anon, like snow upon the desert's dusty face, lighting a little hour or two, is gone."

But we can always have the joys of anticipation, pale to be sure, but sweet and unalloyed and unlimited, and it seems to me that the matter of fact folks who sternly deprive themselves of these from cowardly fear of disappointment are foolishly pushing away one of the best gifts of the gods to men.

I have actually known parents who tried to discourage their children's imaginative tendencies. That seems to me like uselessly shutting the little ones out from a beautiful playground especially prepared for them.

I have a little cousin seven years old who loves to have me come and see her because we have a beautiful game we play together.

It's called "Let's pretend."

We have chosen a beautiful mansion near her summer home and we pretend that when Jeanette is a little older we are going to live there together.

In the spacious stable we are going to have four milk white ponies for Jeanette and a pair of coal black chargers for me. We are going to have a lovely sailboat and a little steam yacht. We are going to invite lots of the poor little children down from the cities to visit us and take them out on the water—let them ride the ponies; pick the flowers in the fields and in our greenhouses, too, and give them ice cream three times a day.

In the big room on the left of the front door—we have never been in the house but we have walked past it so many times and looked at it so carefully that we are sure we know what it looks like inside—we are going to have a sort of combination ice cream parlor, soda fountain and candy shop. Any time we like we may go in there and they will give us anything we want and we will not have to pay anything for it.

The passport to the kingdom of "let's pretend" is part of every child's birthright.

Wise the parent who helps the child realize the full value of that passport, and happy the child who not only uses it through childhood but can grow up without wholly forgetting the passport into the land of "let's pretend" and "someday."

slowly and do not brown them too much.

A pleasing effect is obtained if mayonnaise for a fish salad is colored green. A little spinach juice will answer or soft, mashed green peas will give color as well as consistency.

If when using lemon for flavoring you need only half of one, put the other half on a plate and cover with a tumbler. This will exclude air and will prevent it withering or getting mouldy.

Frosted grapes are a most attractive garnish for many a dish. Take white grapes and brush them over with white of egg, and then sprinkle the bunches of fruit well with granulated sugar.

When using stale bread for puddings, always soak it in cold liquid. Bread that has been soaked in cold milk or water will be crumbly and light, whereas if soaked in hot liquid it will be heavy.

Items of Interest

Tolstoy's Russian estate of 750 acres in the wilds of Tula is valued at $1,500,000.

There are probably more foreigners at the University of Pennsylvania than at any other American college. The total of some 300 includes 21 from China and 18 from Australia.

The assessment of real estate for taxation in New York amounts this year to the prodigious total of nearly $8,000,000,000, the aggregate of taxable wealth, including personal and franchise assessments, reaching close to $10,000,000,000.

The audience at the last Edinburgh (G.B.) University concert was astounded when Professor Niecks, who has been professor of music in the university for nearly twenty years, addressed them in German. When he had finished a little speech, unfortunately to most of his hearers, someone told him what he had done, whereupon he laughed heartily and repeated his address in English. The explanation of his uncomprehending to his native tongue was that one of the performers at the concert had spoken to him in German a moment before.

An idea of the "wonderful growth" of the railroad business in the United States may be gained from the fact that the Harriman lines have placed an order for 196 locomotives, the cost of which will be in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. The concern which gets the order will deliver the last of the new engines in the early summer, but could, if haste were required, complete the contract in one month's time, having 20,000 men on its pay roll. It was not so many years ago when such an order would have taxed the resources of every locomotive manufacturing plant in that country, but at that time the railroads were not ordering engines in 200 lots.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—One of the best-known figures of the Methodist Church in Canada was removed by Saturday by the death of Rev. John Pickering, late pastor of Centennial Church. Owing to failing health Mr. Pickering was obliged to retire from active work last June, and gradually sank. He was 64 years of age. During his ministry he was chairman of his district, member of General conference and President of the Hamilton conference.

Household Notes.

Sugar or shortening retards the rising of dough, and rolls made with them will not be so high and puffy as of dough made with yeast.

Mix borax with sugar, let it dry, and scatter where ants are most troublesome. They will soon disappear. Tarter omelet is also a good remedy.

For frying or covering the top of crusts, use breadcrumbs instead of cracker crumbs, as they have less of a flat taste and do not get so soggy.

Take a round piece of cloth, run a rubber in it and keep it over the top of the meat chopper. No dust can get in it and it will always be ready for use.

When pie dough is left over, cut in thin strips, about an inch wide, sprinkle with butter, sugar and cinnamon, roll up like jelly roll and bake a light brown.

If a generous amount of horseradish is added to mayonnaise it will be found an acceptable dressing for a fish salad. It is also delicious served with cold meats.

To prepare breadcrumbs most quickly, dry the bread in the oven after the crust has been removed then run through the meat chopper, sift and put away in glass jars.

When the head of a cabbage comes off, if it is of glass, porcelain or wood, melt a bit of resin, stick the pin into the resin, insert it in the ornament, and it will hold well.

If a quick dessert is wanted, use popovers. As the batter is poured into the tins, add a piece of fruit to each, served with a simple syrup, these popovers are delicious.

If afraid to wash windows in cold weather, try rubbing them off with tissue paper which has been moistened in ammonia or alcohol. Polish with a fresh piece of paper.

Do not use wood alcohol for the chaffing dish, as the fumes are poisonous. As grain alcohol is quite costly the best fuel is denatured alcohol which is cheapest of all.

Never use a wooden spoon for stirring anything containing onion, as the wood will absorb the flavor and will impart it to other foodstuffs, even after a lapse of many weeks.

Pumice soap and ammonia will cure the worst case of tarnished brass. Just moisten the cloth with ammonia and rub it briskly over the soap and apply to the article to be cleansed.

When cooking spareribs, first boil them, remove the scum and, when practically done, place in a baking pan and add salt and pepper. Bake Afraid? Afraid to use hair preparations? Certainly not, if your doctor approves. Let him decide about your using Ayer's Hair Vigor for falling hair or dandruff. It will not color the hair, neither will it harm or injure.

Upper Gullies Notes.

A very pretty wedding was witnessed here on Tuesday when Mr. R. Taylor was joined in wedlock to Miss M. Morgan. Mr. Taylor is a native of Topsail and Miss Morgan of Indian Pond. Mr. Taylor drove from Topsail to Indian Pond in his elated mood, proceeding to the house of his aunt where the ceremony was conducted by the Rev. E. K. H. Caldwell. Afterwards the wedding party with their guests entered the sleighs and were driven to Topsail, where they were welcomed by their friends who wished them much joy and every prosperity. In their new and wedded life.

A very sad incident occurred here last week, when Mr. Stephen Daw passed away into the Great Beyond. He left his home in the evening to go in cutting wood and not returning, party went in search of him. They found him in the woods paralyzed and unable to move. He was brought home by willing hands and passed peacefully away at 10 o'clock next morning. Mr. Daw was a member of the Orange Society, but owing to being so frosty on the day of interment, few members were able to attend. Deceased leaves a wife, three sons and two daughters to mourn his loss.

New British Policy.

Of National Defense—Announced in London—Invasion of United Kingdom Practically Impossible.

New York, Jan. 23.—A London cable to the Tribune says: An authoritative statement of the new British policy of national defense, supplementing and explaining Sir Arthur Wilson's recent declaration on the question of invasion, is published by the Telegraph this morning. The first sea-lord's pronouncement that an invasion of the United Kingdom, on even the moderate scale of seventy thousand men, was practically impossible, was read with the liveliest interest throughout the country.

Sir Arthur's notes, it is now said, were not intended for the instruction of the general public, but for the use of the experts of the War Office, who would necessarily read them in the light of special knowledge.

The responsible authorities of the navy and army have elaborated in close co-operation and with a lucidity and completeness never before attempted, a new policy of defense, which provides alike for imperial responsibilities and national peril.

Claims Self-Defence.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Joseph Cassatto, an Italian, has voluntarily surrendered to the police and admitted that he had stabbed Ludwigo Longo on Friday night, but claimed that it was in self-defence. Cassatto will be held to await the outcome of Longo's wound. Longo, the wounded Italian, whose condition is still critical, yesterday told the detectives a new story of the stabbing. He said that he and Cassatto were out together on Friday night and that they quarrelled. They decided to fight the matter out in a shady spot back of the Parliament buildings, but that two other Italians suddenly appeared and one held him while he was stabbed.

Fails on High Note.

Tenor Beats Chest and Pin Enters Breastbone.

Detroit, Jan. 19.—Inability to reach a high note in a song, brought Richard Lara, of Vinewood Avenue, to a hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

Lara, a tenor, found difficulty in reaching a high note and, lost his chest heavily to clear the tracheal passage. His scarf pin was driven deep into his chest and part of it remaining in the breastbone when the pin was broken in withdrawing it.

One operation proved unsuccessful and the physicians will try again to dislodge the pin.

Five Met Their Death.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—Five persons met their death, and another was taken to Western Hospital badly burned, as the result of a fire which destroyed the residence of Perry Brooks, manager of the Fairbanks Scale Co., of Toronto, early this morning. While the cause of the fire is a matter of uncertainty, it is believed to have been due to a defective furnace. The fire was first discovered by a neighbor, Mr. McTavish, who lives across the road and to the south. He was returning from a party, and noticed the blaze and tried in vain to extinguish it.

The victims were Mrs. Percy Brooks and three children. Percy, aged 5; George, aged 3; and Woodie, aged 2, and a Scotch servant, who had been with the family since January 1st. Another servant, a nurse girl, Maggie McAliden, was taken to the hospital badly burned about the head and arms. No one seems to know how she managed to escape from the burning building.

The first body was found in the bathroom, being rescued by firemen while the fire was still at its height. Shortly after they had got it the stairs collapsed. The second body, believed to be that of the eldest boy, fell with the stairs and was discovered just inside the front door. On the north side of the attic were found the bodies of the mother and the remaining child. The woman was burned so as to be unrecognizable, her identity being established by the wedding ring and diamond ring found on her finger.

Although little can be planned regarding the tragedy, it is believed that Mrs. Brooks and her two children were sleeping at the rear of the house on the second floor, and the two servants on the upper story. It was evident that she made an effort to save her life and that of her children, for when the blaze was finally extinguished in the drawing-room, having evidently fallen from the second story when the floor gave way, in her arms was her youngest son.

When the flames burst out an alarm was promptly turned in and in a few minutes the firemen arrived and were proceeding to couple up the hose when a domestic next door rushed out barefooted and in her night robes, screaming: "For God's sake get the people out!"

Dear Sirs—Nearly one year ago I had my first order of "Matthew's Syrup" from you. It was not known in this country, and I gave samples to several families whom I knew would use it. After a few weeks I began to have a call for it, and trade has increased wonderfully and I have not the least doubt but that it will soon be the best selling remedy for colds, coughs, etc., on the market. In my store here sales are good and our personal interest in this country now keep it in stock and report sales increasing. Patriotism

The stomach is a larger factor in "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" than most people are aware of. Patriotism can withstand hunger but not dyspepsia. The confirmed dyspeptic "is fit for treason, stratagems and spoils." The man who goes to the front for his country with a weak stomach will be a weak soldier and a faint leader.

Mysterious Death.

Of Passenger on Winnipeg Flyer From Strangulation.

Thief River Falls, Mich., Jan. 23.—Soon after the north bound Winnipeg 700 Line flyer left Erskine the conductor found a man dying in one of the coaches. Doctors were called at Thief River Falls, who pronounced the man dead as a result of strangulation although no marks of violence were visible on the body. The man was travelling on a ticket made in favor of L. R. Lowes, Cunningham, Ont. Upon the arrival of Glen Lowes, of Morris, Sack, brother of L. R. Lowes, he declared the body not that of his brother and wholly unknown to him.

The case is complicated, as Lowes

State Will Take Charge of Consumptives.

LONDON, Jan. 22.—In letter to Hall Caine who has been advocating Government measures with the object of stamping out consumption principally through the State taking charge of all consumptives, David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, makes the interesting announcement that he has already been considering the practicability of dealing with this problem in connection with his forthcoming scheme of invaliding insurance.

The Chancellor says that the chief difficulty is financial, and that it will be especially hard to estimate the maximum contribution which can be left Chicago more than a week ago, homeward bound to Regina. A large sum of money and other papers in addition to the ticket which were identified as belonging to Lowes, and found on the body, and the further fact that young Lowes cannot be found, leads his brother to believe that he was made away with and his tickets and money taken from him. Members of the train crew state that a small dark man who boarded the train at Minneapolis, and was apparently much interested in the doings of the supposed Lowes, was not on the train when the body was found.
