The Silver King.

There was a full house at the Grand last night to welcome the return of Haverly's Silver King company. The company is exactly the same as was here before. It is unnecessary, therefore, to say that they gave an admirable performance. The audience were enthusiastically delighted. They gave their sympathies full sway and during the more pathetic passages many an eye glistened and many a sneaking tear coursed down cheeks to which it was anything but familiar. The judicious distribution of the applause showed that the beauties of the play were thoroughly appreciated. After each striking situation or special piece of declamation the enthusiasm found vent and after each act the leading characters were summoned before the curtain. A deputation from the industrial exhibition association, composed of J. J. Withrow president, Capt. McMaster, W. B. Hamilton and the manager, Mr. Hill, presented a petition asking for a grant from the council of $14,000, the amount expended by the association on buildings belonging to the city at the exhibition grounds. The petition set forth that the association had expended $40,000 on the erection of permanent buildings and other adjuncts of the fair, the whole of which would become the property of the city when the juncts of the fair, the whole of which would become the property of the city when the lease to the association expired. Mr. Withrow addressed the council in turtherance of the petition. He hoped the council would induce the street car company to extend their tracks along Strachan avenue to the gates, which he claimed would prove remunerative to the company. Later in the evening Ald.
