THE RUGBY CHAMPIONSHIP.

Queen's Will Be at Rosedale To-Morrow To Tackle Ottawa College.

The Queen's manager signified his intention yesterday by wire to be on the Rosedale grounds to-morrow with his Ontario champions to meet Ottawa College for the Canadian championship. The Capital City kickers have made all arrangements to visit Toronto anyway to play Varsity. The local students were greatly elated over the prospect of a game with the Quebec champions, and their disappointment was correspondingly great when they learned that the Presbyterians were coming.

All arrangements have been made to start the game at 2.45 at Rosedale. A general admission of 25 cents will be charged, and a small fee for a reserved seat anywhere in the grand stand. Only Lacrosse Club tickets will admit to the club house.

A. W. Ballantyne will referee the game. The College fifteen leave Ottawa this evening, and will bring a big party over the C.P.R. on their $5 excursion. Every man is in prime form, while on the other hand, besides Webster, Cranston and Horsey are on the injured list. If they do not play strong substitutes can be supplied from their second team.

The Fossils to Play Old Style Rugby.

Duke Collins, manager of the Toronto fossils, has accepted all Mayor Stewart's propositions, and the mossback game between Toronto and Hamilton will take place at Rosedale Saturday, Nov. 24. It will be the old style of Rugby, with two full-backs, three quarters, two halves and eight forwards. The local men are all Toronto club fossils, and will be selected from the following fifteen, the figures indicating the last year in active play: Hume Blake '84, Dr. Gordon '87, Arthur Vankoughnet '85, Victor Armstrong '84, F. W. Harcourt '79, Harry Brock '83, H. J. Bethune '88, F. M. de la Fosse '88, S. S. Lyon '74, G. H. Higinbotham '85, A. N. Garrett '92, A. H. Collins '84, D. N. Robertson '86, C. N. Shanly '84, A. Elliott '86, E. Cobbold '91, H. F. Wright '85, E. Bayly '52, Walter Dick '80.

Football Kicks.

Warriner's College of Commerce football team play the Central Business College at Rosedale Saturday afternoon at 1.30.

The biggest score of the year was made by the University of Virginia team against the Army Reserves—104 to 0. There were 21 touch-downs and only 10 goals kicked.

According to promise the Hamilton rooters, including Mayor Stewart, will be looked for at Rosedale to-morrow. St. Michael's students will turn out in a body to cheer on the collegians.

Ed Bayly will referee the Osgoode Hall-Montreal game at Rosedale Saturday morning. Pope and Peterson will play for the legalites. The game will start at 11.30. The visitors will be dined at the Walker House in the evening.

A despatch from Montreal last night states that a man suspected of having stolen upwards of $200 from the Queen's Hotel there last Monday, belonging to the Toronto University Rugby Club, had been arrested and that the students would likely regain most of their lost pile. Ottawa College paid Secretary Barr their rain guarantee of $150, and this, together with additional sums belonging to the players, was handed over for safekeeping during the intercollegiate match with McGill. During their absence at the grounds the robbery took place.

CONSOLATION QUOITERS.

Like All the Heather Contests They Were Close For Another Game.

The quoiting tournament of the Heather Club was drawn to a very satisfactory and successful close yesterday, and the playing in the consolation series, like all the rest, was close and well contested. The following is the result: John Russell 1st, $6; B. Humphrey, 2nd, $5; D. Bles, 3rd, $4; J. Everest, 4th, $3; George Wilson, 5th, $2.

The officers and members of the club are well pleased with the grand success of their first tournament, which closed yesterday. The visiting players all went away with a good opinion of the Heather.

It was decided, weather permitting, to close the season by a friendly game on Thanksgiving day, the players to be chosen by two captains from all the players present who would like to take part in the game, the losing side to pay for an oyster supper for the party.

Suburban Notes.

About fifty invited couples attended a ball and supper at Perrin's Bay View Hotel, Danforth-road, last night. The supper was provided in Mr. Perrin's best style. All present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The Aberdeen Curling Club of East Toronto have commenced the building of an extensive addition to the rink, which will give increased space to both curlers and skaters. The new addition will be 25x70, on the east side of the present building.

Yesterday workmen commenced the erection of a new bridge over Chapman's creek, on the town line between York and Scarboro'. The bridge will be completed the early part of next week, and will cost about $200.

CROWDS AT THE HORSE SHOW.

High-Stepping Hackneys Attract the Knowing Ones—Canadians Capture Prizes.

New York, Nov. 15.—The first half of the carnival of fine horses and beautiful women has eclipsed all former records at Madison-Square Gardens, and the latter half of the show promises to be even more interesting and more largely attended. The secretary announced that the cash reports showed the attendance during the first half of the show to have been: Monday 9245, Tuesday 10,151, Wednesday 12,963. This does not include officials and exhibitors. The younger generation of the four hundred were on hand in considerable numbers when the ponies were judged this forenoon. The hackneys attracted the knowing ones. The remarkable knee action and stair-climbing gait of the winners aroused considerable enthusiasm. A remarkable thing about the show is the prime condition of the animals. Awards:

Hackney stallions, 3 years old, 14 hands and under 15 hands—1, Electricity, ch, 14 hands, H. W. Thaw, Pittsburg, Pa.; 2, Black Nobleman, bl, 14.1 hands, G. H. Hastings, Deer Park, Toronto.

Winter Racing Gossip.

New York, Nov. 15.—It was reported to-day that the Maspeth track at New Town and the Aqueduct track would open meetings on Jan. 1. The ground of the rumor is the belief of some racing men that the Ives pool bill becomes void on Jan. 1, when the new constitution goes into effect, including the anti-gambling clause. Racing under the old law would only be legal after May 15. The idea was put forward that the authorities could not interfere until Legislature had acted on the amendment. If the new meeting should be tried the authorities would undoubtedly interfere because the penal code has not been repealed by any means.

A despatch from Alexander Island, Va., in regard to the reopening of the Maspeth and Aqueduct tracks has it that Secretary Stillwell said this afternoon that he had received a message telling him to remain at Alexander for the present, but to be ready at a moment's notice to leave for New York. The managers of the two tracks will have a second meeting some night this week.

A despatch from Chicago this morning announces that the six hundred stalls are filled at the Roby race track, and that some of the best horses east of the Rockies and west of the Alleghenies are ready to race. Another despatch from Indianapolis announces that Gov. Matthews is giving much thought to the threatened opening of Roby track, and has said that racing there would be nothing more than cruelty to horses during the winter, and that the races were nothing more than an attraction for gamblers and thugs of Chicago.

TORONTO BOWLING LEAGUE

Winter Schedule For the 10-Pin Players of the Four City Clubs—Season Opens Next Week.

At the special meeting of the Toronto 10-Pin Bowling League, the schedule for the season was made out to the satisfaction of the delegates of the four clubs who were present at the Toronto Athletic Club. The opening game takes place one week from to-day, when the Victoria team meets the crack Athenaeum bowlers on the Huron-street alleys. Each club plays six contests, that is home and home games, with each of the other three, and the season will wind up Feb. 9. The schedule is as follows:

Nov. 23—Athenaeum at Victoria.
Nov. 30—Athletic at Victoria.
Dec. 7—Athenaeum at Athletic.
Dec. 8—Varsity at Victoria.
Dec. 14—Victoria at Athenaeum.
Dec. 15—Athletic at Varsity.
Dec. 21—Victoria at Athletic.
Jan. 11—Athletic at Athenaeum.
Jan. 19—Victoria at Varsity.
Jan. 26—Athenaeum at Varsity.
Feb. 2—Varsity at Athletic.
Feb. 9—Varsity at Athenaeum.

Athletic and General Notes.

There is a newly-organized ladies' anti-pugilist league in New Orleans. Some prominent women belong, and they are endeavoring to stop glove contests in the Crescent City.

The Elsmere Bicycle Club of Centre Island, with their friends, will dine at Webb's Saturday next at 7 p.m. A jolly evening may be expected from this progressive club. Tickets can be had from George Ince, secretary, of Perkins, Ince & Co.

Peter Jackson, in a speech at a banquet tendered him at the National Sporting Club, said: "Corbett does not stick to the truth, and I think less of his word than I do of this glass of wine which I hold in my hand." Peter gave vent to this statement with distinct emphasis, and repeated his words with an air of settled conviction.

President Powers said at the National baseball meeting on Wednesday that he has eight applications for the Allentown vacancy in the Eastern League, and that Toronto would probably get it. Either Jack Chapman or A. C. Buckenberg will get the Toronto franchise, he says. The annual meeting of the league will be held Dec. 5.

Fishery Overseer Clark of Orillia has prosecuted several men who have been taking brook trout in the close season out of Lake Simcoe. Two North Orillia farmers have paid $15 and costs each for the offence. Trout are spawning this month and are, therefore, not fit for food, and every fish killed means the destruction of hundreds of the young. Vigorous measures are needed to protect this most delicious fish during the close season, from Sept. 15 to May 1.

The annual meeting of the Caledonia Curling Club will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Mutual-street Rink.

A hockey club has been formed in Guelph, to be known as the Royal City Hockey Club. The following gentlemen were elected officers: Patrons, William T. Bell, jr., B. Ross McConkey, George Sleeman, James Innes, M.P.; honorary president, T. B. Powell; president, A. Pepler; first vice-president, C. Nellis; second vice-president, H. McCutcheon; secretary-treasurer, A. B. Petrie, jr.; captain, Von Iffian; committee, A. Burgess, Ed Sleeman, L. Rowen, B. Saunders and P. Kennedy, O.A.C.

Do Things Better in Montreal.

Commenting on the Boodle investigation The Montreal Witness says:

"We can also imagine immense contempt on the part of Montreal aldermen for blunderers who could not cover up their tracks better than to get caught like that."

Jersey Red Hogs.

The Duroc Jersey is a comparatively new breed of hogs not so well known as some others. A Pacific slope paper says: "Duroc Jerseys were first introduced to the Western pork packers 13 or 15 years ago by a few breeders who got their selections from New Jersey and New York and commenced to breed them in purity, and later on formed an association and adopted a standard. Since that time, I don't think there was ever a breed of hogs that has grown more in popularity in the same length of time. I know large feeders to-day to whom I sell Duroc-Jersey boars, to cross upon black sows, and who are very enthusiastic in their praise of this cross, that a few years ago laughed at the sight of a red hog, and one Nebraska man especially said to me a year ago, a red boar on black sows is the most profitable cross I have ever seen in a hog. Duroc Jerseys vary in color from light to dark cherry red, a solid color. They are hardy and very prolific, raising more pigs to the litter than any breed I ever handled. They are good, careful mothers, and generally very quiet in disposition. They are fast growers, and easily fatted. Some years ago the objection to them was "they are too coarse," but as most breeders have them now, they are not coarse but a medium large, heavy-boned, heavy-fleshed, easily-fattened hog. They have made quite a record at some of our state experimental stations for early maturity as well as for heavy weights. For the general farmer and stock-feeder they are one of the most profitable kind, and are surely the hardiest breed of hogs.

Quality of Wool.

Wool is so cheap that it is not profitable to devote much time or feed to it. If it is to be grown, then only the choicest quality should be put into market. Success with sheep is, as all successful sheep-growers know, dependent quite as much on the quality of wool as on its amount. There is nothing more educating in carefulness and forethought than is the keeping of sheep by those who realize that every impairment of condition injures the quality as well as decreases the weight of the fleece. A perfect even growth cannot be made on a sheep that is alternately starved and stuffed, or that is exposed to cold storms. If any fever arises, either from overfeeding or from stoppage of the circulation by colds, that fact is marked by a cessation of growth and a consequently weak place in the wool. With a perfectly healthy sheep the wool is always moistened with an oily substance coming from the skin which is called yolk. All this yolk has to be got rid of when the fleece is prepared for making into yarn and cloth; but the wool-buyer always closely examines the wool to see that the yolk permeates it throughout. If it does not, the dry places shows where there will be weakness in the yarn when finished. It by skilful feeding and management perfect wool is produced, the manufacturer and buyer can well afford to pay considerably higher prices than is possible for wool as it averages now. There is always the waste from scouring to be considered, and the buyer by long practice can estimate more closely than can the farmer what will be the weight of the scoured fleece. If he cannot he is sure to give himself the advantage in his offers. There are very few wool growers who can guess very closely as to the weight and quality which their scoured fleeces will show. There ought to be scouring establishments wherever any considerable amount of wool is grown, and sheep farmers should have their wool scoured before selling it. In this way it will be possible for them to judge pretty nearly what they ought to get for their fleeces.

WILL STAY ANOTHER WEEK.

EVANGELIST MOODY WAS IN VIGOROUS FORM YESTERDAY.

Did Strong Drink Cause the Deluge?—Christians and Theatres—Hypocrites in the Church—Thousands Shout, "God is Not a Hard Master"—Crowds of Inquirers—Many More Conversions.

The thousands of parents in Massey Hall yesterday afternoon was a great tribute to Mr Moody's power of attraction. The choir was in increased force, and the earnestness and devotion were unsurpassed by any previous meeting. On the platform were a score of ministers of pulpits outside of Toronto.

There was a shorter song service than is usual. Amongst the favorite pieces sung were "Nearer the Cross," "Blessed Assurance, Jesus is Mine," and "Whiter Than the Snow."

Prentiss' prayerful hymn, which has been greatly blessed in the Moody meetings, was devoutly sung:

More love to thee, O Christ!
More love to Thee!
Hear Thou the prayer I make
On bended knee;
This is my earnest plea—
More love, O Christ, to Thee!
More love to Thee!

Rev. W. F. Wilson's Prayer.

On being called on by Mr. Moody the popular pastor of Trinity Methodist Church fervently prayed. He thanked God for the streams of good influence that had spread over Ontario through the press reports of the Moody meetings. By this means farmers and their laborers and residents in the towns and villages had been reached; whilst in the city hospital patients and nurses, policemen and firemen, hotelkeepers and barmen, who could not attend the meetings had heard the glad sound. For conversions of young and old by day and night Mr. Wilson thanked God, and all the Christians said "Amen."

Revelled in Song.

Faber's angelic hymn, "Hark, hark, My Soul," then sweetly broke on the solemn silence, thousands joining in the chorus:

Angels, sing on! your faithful watches keeping;
Sing us sweet fragments of the songs above,
Till morning's joys shall end the night of weeping,
And night's long shadows break in cloudless love.

"Jesus, Lover of My Soul," still further fed devotion's flame; but it was not till Conductor Harry Blight sang Rev R. Lowry's tender hymn, "There is My Boy To-night," that affection's tears o'erflowed. The second verse touched many a mother's heart—

Once he was pure as morning dew,
As he knelt at his mother's knee;
No face was so bright, no heart more true,
And none was so sweet as he.

The vast assembly came in on the chorus, and the volume of sound was enough to reach "the wandering boy." Rev. Dr. Jackson of Galt in thanksgiving and prayer so manifestly expressed the feelings of the Christians present that there came forth choruses of "Amens."

"I Shall Be Satisfied," was sung in softened tone; then, with a glorious burst of praise, one of the most triumphant hymns in any collection, Keith's "How Firm a Foundation, Ye Saints of the Lord." The climax was reached in the concluding verse:

The soul that on Jesus hath leaned for repose,
I will not—I will not desert to his foes;
That soul—though all hell should endeavor to shake,
I'll never—no, never—no, never forsake!

Make a Note Of.

Mr. Moody then announced an address on the Bible at 10.30 this (Friday) morning and an afternoon meeting at 4 o'clock. There will be no evening meeting to-day as the hall is engaged for a concert. On Sunday there will be afternoon and evening meetings.

Yesterday at the noon prayer meeting in Knox Church there were forty requests for prayer, and many thanksgivings for conversions in Toronto and elsewhere through Mr. Moody's spoken and reported addresses. There were special requests for prayer from Washington and other places in the United States, and from Brockville, Simcoe, Hamilton and other places in Ontario.

Noah and His Folly.

Mr. Moody founded his address to parents on God's command to Noah, "Come thou and all thy house into the ark." It may be, said the evangelist, some sceptic has dropped in and is saying, "I hope Moody is not going to preach about that worn-out old story." I believe it just as much as anything else in the Bible, added Mr. Moody. My Master believed in the story of the flood; when I get wiser than my Master I will give up preaching.

A Free Paraphrase.

The story of Noah's preaching for 120 years while the ark was being built, was told with many modern adornments; in fact, transported from Arabia to modern England. Everyone seemed to relish these anachronisms, which were as great as in the Miracle Plays of the Middle Ages, where Noah is made to speak in Irish.

If wicked men nowadays lived a thousand years there would be pandemonium on earth. But God's order now is—the wicked shall not live out half his days. And even with the righteous the average of human life is only 33 years, and the great majority of those in this hall have passed that.

Here was another chance for a gospel appeal; in fact, no story, no incident, however trivial, but served as a peg on which to hang some exhortation or warning.

Strong Drink in Those Olden Times.

Mr. Moody took this as a fact and a prevalent evil because Noah and Lot fell thereby. "It will destroy us if we do not destroy it. How this was to be done he did not clearly see, so long as governments licensed it and Christians countenanced it. Perhaps it was the drink that caused the flood!

There were expansive smiles as Mr. Moody gave a free sketch of the people's treatment of poor Noah. They called him an old fool, told him that he was crazy and a first-class lunatic.

A Chance For a Splendid Scoop.

If they had a press in those days, said Mr. Moody, an enterprising reporter would have gone down to write up the ark. (Laughter.) And the newspaper would have come out with a descriptive column, with some such heading as, "Noah and His Folly." (Renewed laughter.) If they had an Associated Press the people in the town around would have had a despatch now and then telling of the progress of the ark. Yes, and there would have been excursions to the spot. Thus wise did the famous evangelist make free with the Biblical account of Noah and his Ark, the Flood and its Victims.

As It Was, So Shall It Be.

These are Christ's words, and Mr. Moody proceeded to show the analogy between then and now. There was no preliminary sign, yet judgment came; Noah was in a minority, so was Christ, so are Christians.

The speaker then replied in pious sarcasm to the sceptics who say that the combination of force and matter produced the universe, and to those who say that God is too merciful to condemn murderers and harlots, thieves and drunkards. That argument leads to the conclusion that God drowned all the wicked people and took them to heaven, whilst He left Noah to wade through the deluge!

Had a Rap at the Stage.

If there were theatres in those days, "Noah and the Ark, a stupendous piece of folly," would be acted on the stage. It is astonishing to-day that the most sacred things are held up to ridicule. You know it is so; why don't you own up to it? I know why—it is because you go to the theatre. (Laughter.) Where serious things are ridiculed is no proper place for the sons and daughters of God Almighty. (Cries of "Hear, hear.")

"I am often asked if it is right to go to the theatre? My answer is whatever you do, do all to the glory of God."

Noah's Children Trusted Him.

Specially for parents was it pointed out that if Noah had been living a double life his children would not have followed him to the ark. Seven days' grace was given after God shut Noah and his house in before the flood came. "I believe if the people had in these seven days repented as they did in Nineveh that mercy would have triumphed over judgment."

"Are your children in the ark?" was the pointed and personal question Mr. Moody urged on each one's conscience. The safety inside and the doom outside were contrasted in most vivid style.

And then came tales of bliss on the one hand and of eternal ruin on the other, all apparently dependent on the faithfulness or faithlessness of the parents.

The pathetic stories, whether of bliss or woe, affected visibly the many mothers present and at times hundreds of faces were bestrewed with tears.

A Mighty Crowd at Night.

Massey Hall was filled to its utmost capacity with 6000 people, for the most part working men, last evening. The musical service was very effective. These hymns were sung: "We'll Work Till Jesus Comes," "Ye Must be Born Again," "When the Mists Have Rolled Away," "Arise and Shine," "Awake, Awake" and "Crown Him, Lord of All."

The choir sang a beautiful hymn, which is little known, J. Johnson's "Gather the Reapers Home." This is the first verse and chorus:

Have ye heard the song from the golden land?
Have ye heard the glad new song?
Let us bind our sheaves with a willing hand,
For the time will not be long.

The Lord of the harvest will soon appear,
His smile, His voice we shall see and hear,
The Lord of the harvest will soon appear,
And gather the reapers home.

Miss Agnes Forbes sang very sweetly, "Oh, What Shall You Do With Jesus?" and the vast audience came in grandly in the refrain, "What Shall the Answer be?"

Prayer was offered by Rev. T. Goldsmith and Rev. John Leroyd, Windsor.

Next Week's Arrangements.

Mr. Moody, before giving his address, said: I like you so well in Toronto that I am afraid I may stay till you turn me out of your city. I came for two weeks, I am going to stay three. (Hear, hear.) I should like to take this hall away with me. It is the finest for this purpose I have seen. I do not think you appreciate it. (Dr. Potts: O, yes we do.) I would rather preach in this hall than any other building I was ever in. (Applause.)

Mr. Moody then announced two meetings on Sunday, at 2 o'clock for women, and at 4 o'clock for men; also next week's meetings. The hall is engaged for other purposes Monday and Thursday nights.

Parable of the Great Supper.

This was Mr. Moody's subject, which he characteristically treated. He was more vigorous than usual, and secured alike applause and laughter. The three men bidden to the feast who made excuses were liars; they had not the honesty to refuse the invitation, so they politely lied. It was an invitation not to hear a dry, stupid sermon, but to a royal banquet.

The man who said he had married a wife and therefore could not come was a contemptible fellow. Why didn't he take his wife with him? (Laughter.) He's a mighty mean man who'll hide behind his wife. (Renewed laughter.) "You needn't laugh, you do it yourself." (Applause and laughter.) Have you a better excuse for rejecting Christ's invitation?

Excuses Manifold.

With unction Mr. Moody analysed excuses for neglecting salvation. One man wanted a new Bible. Another would not believe what he could not see. "Did you ever see your brains?" "No." "Perhaps you haven't got any." (Laughter.)

"I'm sorry I took passage on this ship, captain; you have too many parsons on board." Quoth the captain: "If you will show me a place where 5000 are and no parson or church or Bible, I will show you a place next door to hell."

It will be a dark day for a nation when it gives up its Bible;" won't it, Dr. Potts? The Doctor said "It will" most emphatically.

Nothing To Do With Election.

The evangelist sturdily brushed aside the predestination excuse. He told them if out of Christ they had no more to do with election than they had with the government of China. "Whosoever" was the inscription on the invitation.

Other excuses were—no pleasure in religion, which Mr. Moody emphatically denied. Then he painted a picture of the seducer, libertine and drunkard in such doleful colors as to send a thrill through the audience.

They Answered His Question.

If a man were to stand forth and say he had served the devil 10 years and was satisfied with the wages, one thousand men here would shout "It's a lie!"

"Is God a hard master?" "No!" rang out in every quarter of the hall. The question was put a second time and a mighty shout of "No" resounded.

The "too-much excitement" excuse Mr. Moody speedily demolished. "Go to a grave yard and get converted there if you object to excitement." Procrastination was an excuse on which the preacher said some awfully solemn words.

Hypocrisy in the Church.

This was a popular excuse. There were hypocrites and always would be. Were there no hypocrites in the lodges, amongst the Liberals, amongst the Conservatives, amongst the prohibitionists? Cries of "Yes," answered him. "Then, why don't you get out of all these associations?" "Are there no hypocrites amongst the lawyers?"—(loud laughter)—the doctors?—the shopkeepers?"

"If you hear a man talking much about hypocrites be sure he is living not far from one himself." (Laughter.)

Need of Moral Courage.

Other excuses having been dealt with the need of moral courage was ably enforced. He pictured the man listening to him that night when chaffed by his mates to-morrow, turning round and saying, "Moody is a big humbug." A drunkard starving and abusing his family was "a jolly good fellow," but let a man say, "I will follow Christ" and all the hounds of hell would be after him.

A Good Motto.

In conclusion Mr. Moody enforced the Scotch motto: "They say; what do they say; let them say"—in relation to spiritual matters.

He asked those who would accept God's invitation to the marriage feast of the Lamb to say, "I will."

Then arose the sound, "I will" from male and female voices all over the hall.

A thousand inquirers went into the lower room and a great many conversions were reported.

Guelph, Ont., Nov. 15.—At the Liberal convention held here this afternoon Mr. James Innes, M.P., received the unanimous nomination of the convention for the south riding of Wellington.

We Take Hood's

Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills, and we cannot praise them too highly. First, Hood's Sarsaparilla cured a swelling or bunch on my right breast, which was called a cancerous tumor. This winter we all had The Grip, but resorted to Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills and were soon well again. We all take Hood's Sarsaparilla when we feel bad or our blood is poor and it always makes us well. Mrs. J. FALLOWFIELD, Brampton, Ontario.

When you want shoes go to a shoe store, dry goods go to a dry-goods store, they are two separate and distinct businesses. One man in the dry goods trade comes out and tells you he can sell shoes cheaper than an old head at the shoe business can buy. Do you believe him? We don't. This man requires every surplus dollar he has for his dry goods or some enterprising exclusive dry goods house will have his customers, while he is telling you about his little corner of shoes.
