

135; compares his functions to those of an engineer, 135; speech to the Mennonites, 141; and to Icelanders, 142; with American Geographical Society, 147; speech on Arctic exploration, 140; Greek speech at McGill College, 150; theatricals at Rideau Hall, 151; address of Parliament to Lord and Lady Dufferin, 154; farewell speeches, 156, 159; LL.D. conferred at Harvard, 156; his reign in Canada, 161; President R. Geographical Society, 162; ambassador at St. Petersburg, 163; at a Russian fair, 166; accidental meeting with Emperor, 168; narrative of attempts on Czar's life, 168-173; reception as ambassador by Sultan, 174; cruises on the Lady Hermione, 178; life at Therapia, 179; mission to Egypt, 181; report thereon, 184; summary of report and conclusions, 210, 211; proceeds to India, 213; praises Lord Ripon's attitude, 214; Afghan affairs, 217 et seq., 231; views as to quarrel between Amir and Ghilzais, 235; on the Indian frontier, 235; number of troops for India, 239; frontier policy, 242, 244, 245; Burma affairs, 246; incorporation of kingdom of Ava with British Empire, 254; visit to Burma, 255, 314; sends for additional troops, 257; views on Persia, 268; views and proceedings re Indian military matters, 272; minute on military forces in India, 276; financial aspect of his Indian viceroyalty, 284;

local self-government in India, 290; on the personnel of Commissions, 293; his co-operation in providing medical aid for Indian women, 299; learns Persian, 307; on native cookery, 316; visit to Madras, 316; visit to Black Hole, Calcutta, 317; receives Persian Consul General, 319; silver wedding, 319; visit to Sind and Quetta, 320; relieved by Lord Lansdowne, 322; ambassador at Rome, 324; his relations with the Italian nation, 326; portrait of King Humbert, 327; Durbar to Ras Makonnen, 328; interview with Crispi, 328; freedom of Corporation of London, 329; on responsibility of Indian Viceroy, 332; at Kirkcaldy, 334; ambassador at Paris, 337; Norton forgeries, 338; Paris Embassy buildings, 339; Lord Warden of Cinque Ports, 341; on diplomacy, 349; on Paris and armaments of Europe, 351; on Siam, 351; banquet at Belfast, 353; speech on England as contrasted with the Continent, 354; on Irish land legislation, 356; on India, 356; on Sheridan, 357; Bristol and the Cabots, 358; speech at Reform Club (1879), 365; speech at Ulster Hall, Belfast, 366; speech at London Chamber of Commerce, 366; Lord Dufferin as a writer, 367; his books, 367; rectorial address at St. Andrews University, 369; on teaching of Latin and Greek, 370; on metaphors, 371; public speaking, 372; Breakfast Club, 373; Book of Helen's Tower, 375; London