

Quebec is pursuing a spirited dialogue with France in various scientific and technological fields. While respecting the special relationship between Quebec and France, it goes without saying that all of Canada's bilateral programs with France are also open to Quebec researchers.

Paul Beaulieu
May 1988