

Never before had such comprehensive advance testing been used. As early as the London test in 1967, it became clear that the great majority of Canadian householders could complete the census questionnaires without the assistance of enumerators.

Thus the scene was set for June 1, 1971.

RP/A

DOCS
CA1 EA9 R59 ENG
1972 Nov
The Census of Canada
53683751

