

ization put on their records that these men "living or dead" proved not worthy comrades of the Veterans of later wars?

Soldiers and Sailors who have fought on land or sea to help build up the British Empire are "Second to None."

Their descendants, sons of worthy sires, have rallied in thousands around the flag of Freedom in the Great European War—The sons, proud of the spirit of their fathers that claimed no superiority or yielded none, will stand together "Shoulder to shoulder" for the union which is strength, and commands respect. This is established and confirmed by a full and complete membership with the A. & N. Veterans in Canada. April 16th, 1917, over sixteen hundred members answered the Roll Call.

This unity of the A. & N. V. is the source of infinite power, to soldiers and sailors of the British Empire in the death struggle against the enemies of Freedom now raging in all quarters of the globe.

The Returned Veterans, Soldier or Sailor can rely with unbounded confidence upon the Army and Navy Veterans Association to guard their rights and those of the men on active service in Canada or across the seas. Although not a charitable institution, monetary assistance is ready in cases of need. The aid so distributed belongs to the Veterans, and is not charity. The Veterans' motto is "Shoulder to Shoulder." For unity is strength.

Aims and Objects of the A. & N. V. Association

History records facts of severe hardships suffered by Veterans who served their best years in the wars of the Empire. Ready to do their duty and give their lives for the honour of the Flag, yet only too soon have their claims been overlooked and forgotten. Some who fought for King and Country were thrust aside. Men who
