BIG ADVANCE IN WHEAT ON ADVERSE CROP NEWS

Reports of Damage to Growing Crop Induce Frantic Short Covering Movement—Corn at Sharp Advance—New Records for This Year.

CHICAGO, April 4.—Corn bounced higher to-day than at any previous time since 1908. Excitement in the trade ran up to a corresponding pitch, with closing prices strong at the topmost level reached, 1-2c to 1-4c above last night. Wheat made a net gain of 1-4c to 1-2c, and oats 1-4c to 5-8c to 1-4c. In hog products the outcome varied from 10c decline to a nickel advance.

New investors bought corn freely despite the tall figures at which alone the cereal was to be had. Frigidity short sellers, too, competed for the scanty offerings, and saw in dismay the cash prices race ahead of the market for future delivery. The secret was that industries depending on corn as raw material had bid in Iowa over night at what was thought to be remarkably generous limits, but in most cases had received no better response than a blank stare. Before the situation was clear the feeling in the pit seemed rather easy on account of the fine weather and because of a theory that recent buying, due to prolonged winter feedings, had been overdone.

Fall Wheat Damaged.

In wheat, scattered crop damage reports supplemented by the strength in corn and by the fact that quotations had declined continuously for five days, brought about a decided improvement. The assertions of injury to fall wheat came chiefly from northern Kansas and from southern Illinois. Better demand at Liverpool, including cargoes from the Pacific coast, the U. S. counted in favor of the bull side. July ranged from 95-5c to 96-7-8c; closing firm at 96-5-8c to 96-3-4c, a rise of 1-4c to 1-2c.

Hope that seeding was near at hand eased oats at the outset, but the corn craze and the increasing call for cash grades bolstered the market as well as the wheat. Upper and lower cost for May proved to be 55-1-2c and 54-1-2c, with the close 5-8c to 5-4-1-2c.

Northwest Receipts.

Receipts of wheat in cars at primary centres were as follows:

Week	Year
Chicago	20, 12, 14
Duluth	20, 12, 14
Minneapolis	20, 12, 14
Winnipeg	20, 12, 14

European Markets.

Liverpool wheat was bid higher to 1-4c lower than yesterday, and corn unchanged to 1-4c lower. Berlin wheat closed 5-8c higher. Antwerp unchanged. Buenos Aires higher to 1-4c lower and Buda-Pest, 1-4c lower.

Argentine Shipments.

The weekly Argentine grain shipments, with usual complications, follow:

Foreign Shipments.

Australia—Wheat shipments 3,224,000 bushels, against 1,175,000 last week and 2,800,000 last year.

India—Broomhull cables that shippers predict that the exports of wheat during the months of April and May will average 20,000 bushels weekly. The amount of wheat exported during June will depend greatly upon the weather conditions for harvesting at that time. The weather conditions unsettled.

Crash Coming to Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, April 4.—A very uneasy situation prevailed in the local grain exchange. Local interests have worked up a bull movement since Jan. 1. They are carrying two million bushels of wheat. It is rumored that the manager of a big local bank has resigned as a result of revelations of the magnitude of the financing of the bull movement. Every broker was on the floor when the market opened to-day, and it is no wonder that a crash must come before Tuesday.

CHICAGO GOSSIP.

J. P. Bickell & Co. from Logan & Bryan at the close:

Wheat—Surprising strength developed in wheat for all months to date. Primer opening helped by rather strong tone in Liverpool cable was followed by renewal of the bullish operations of the market. A decidedly strong turn in corn, something of a bullish demonstration in May wheat and a few reports claiming injury to the plant, both east and west, this buying advanced prices. All the local shorts had to cover, and the market was left with an unfavorable crop report and a lack of confidence in the corn and the influence it has on the wheat trade.

DOME EXTENSION SOARS OTHER STOCKS HANG BACK

Porcupine Market Shows Generally Firm Tone in Closing Session of Week—Price Changes Negligible in the Main—Cobalts Move in Narrow Range.

World Office.

Thursday, Evening, April 4.

With a four days' holiday in prospect and an apprehensive short interest in evidence, the mining market naturally suffered to a certain extent to-day, and on the whole displayed a flurried responsible undertone. Dome Extension was the only remarkably buoyant feature, that share scoring a new high record for the present movement. The bulge was not in evidence elsewhere in the list, however, and not the close quotations beyond showing a remarkable firmness, did not indicate any perceptible change from last night.

It was highly probable that there was considerable short covering of the part of traders who had adopted that side of the market, and who, disappointed in the idea that the present refusal to stay there over the week-end recess, on the other hand, it was quite evident that the public buying movement had been considerably augmented, doubtless in the idea that the situation had turned the corner, and that in view of the recent inception of stocks were stood to hold at around present values.

General List Share Firms.

As indicated above, Dome Extension got up to a new high record for the present rise, the shares touching 1-1-1/2. The net advance for the week was six points and this was maintained in a measure right up to the close, when 60-1-2c bid, against 55 last night.

In the early session Crown Chartered showed a buoyant tone, which rivalled that of the leader, the stock advancing on a sustained buying demand to 34-1/2. The rise failed to materialize, the shares reacting to 32-1/2, the exact figure where they opened.

A general list was quiet with no material fluctuations. Hollinger held at $11.90, an advance of five cents from the previous close.

There was nothing of interest worth trading in the Cobalt department, trading continuing on a par with its recent apathetic nature. The market will be closed over the week-end until Tuesday next.

ACTIVITY IN OGDEN TOWNSHIP.

DISCOVERED COAL VEIN IN THE DOME WORKINGS.

But Old Gentleman Was Asray in His Geology—Humorous Incidents of 'Visitors' Day.'

PORCUPINE, April 2.—(From Our Man Up North.)—Jack, old boy, I have made a discovery, said the elderly gentleman, as he stroked the roof of the main drift at the Dome. The old man, gazed admiringly at the black mass that stretched directly upward. This last Saturday night the Dome workings were crowded with curious visitors.

"See, this bloomin' diggin's isn't a gold mine at all. It's a coal mine. And I've found a coal vein," he held the tip of his cane against the black mass in the schist, and he was excited over their find. Had the Supt. Henrotten had caused all the paystreaks in the drift to be painted with his cane, he would have shown the naked eye, and the elderly gentleman surely had discovered one spot where the artist had done a good job. Fully two feet in length, had the discovery of the "coal vein" looked in other places in the drifts he would have "discovered" "coal veins."

The coal vein discovered, however, was not the only incident of the forenoon, as crowds passed and re-passed. "Oh, what a lovely opal," said a voice. And a feminine finger pointed to a cube of iron, one of those really nice-looking pieces of mineralization that shows in the schist.

But, the young man of the industrial nature who was prepared to mine gold, using a bent spike as a pick, capped the climax of all the incidents of the day. The workmen who watched him in the distance merely laughed at his futile efforts. "In mining parlance, we call that a ghoul gold digger," said the foreman.
